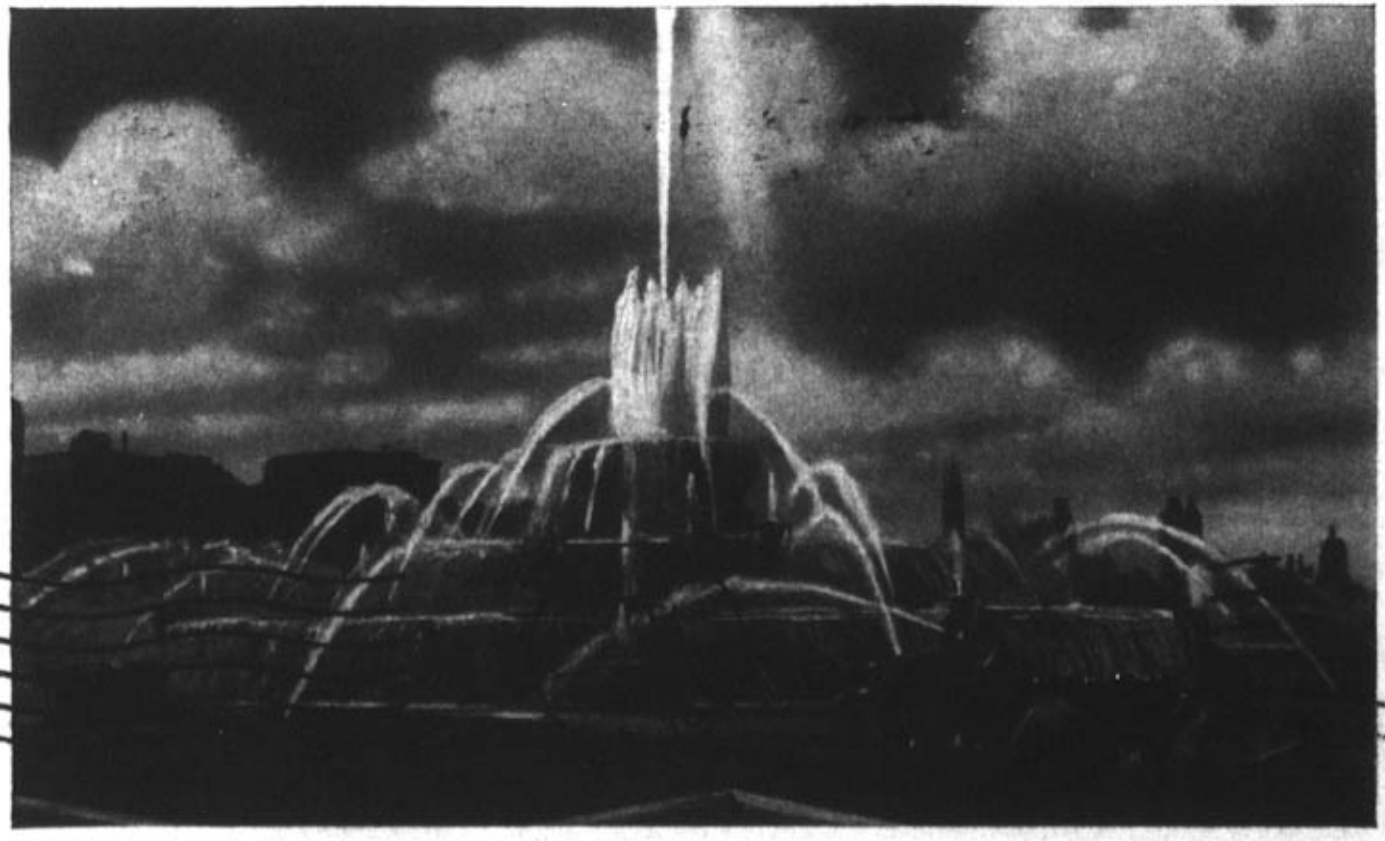
BUCKINGHAM FOUNTAIN, GRANT PARK, CHICAGO



BUCKINGHAM FOUNTAIN, GRANT PARK
The world's largest fountain of its type. A gift of Miss Kate Buckingham in memory of her brother Clarence Buckingham. Patterned to some extent after the Latona Fountain in the garden of Versailles, France, but more than twice as large. Embellished with aquatic motifs, and in the center are eight colossal sea horses.

Accept this simple greeting on FDR's 2nd anniversary wanted to comemorate same ~~[illegible]~~ more fittingly, listening to memorial exercises but was en route for work. Next year I hope to ~~see~~ Hyde Pk that day. Meanwhile personal greetings & God sped to the handful of standard bearers of that immortal tradition - Wallace Pepper - Murray Marcantonio etc.

Dear Eleanor -

I am so perfectly delighted that you will come to lunch on May 20th a Sunday. We will make lunch at 1.30 which will give you time to arrive & even if you are late you must come for it will be such a great pleasure to have you.

My house is on the rue St Guillaume which is between the Rue des St Peres & the Rue du Bac, & the part of the Street where the house is is to the left of the Boulevard St Germain as you come from the Concorde. My apartment is on the ground floor, but we will be expecting you.

Affectionately yours

Emily de la GRANGE

Dear Eleanor - I am so glad you enjoyed your week for we so loved having you. And I know that our young Journalist: Servan-Schreiber has been much influenced by what you told him.

You sent me a letter from a Mme Labbé who asks for help. I have written her & will see her, and I think she could get a scholarship for her son which would help. One of my American friends is also working at Radio Diffusion francaise. & knows her & says she is well thought of & has a good position at the Radio.

We hope to see you in early autumn in America & here in November.

Affectionately yours

Emily.
