Dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

Many thanks for your letter of May 29.

It may interest you to hear that on June 12 we sent 38 large boxes of clothes, chocolate, and crayon and paint books to the "Invalides Prévoyants" in Brussels, Belgium.

The boxes contained many lovely things, and we are waiting impatiently to hear of their arrival, and the excitement and joy they are sure to bring to the children to whom they will be distributed.

Sincerely yours,
Glen H. Katz

Belgian Ceremony For Newark Gifts

Vets at Brussels to Show Gratitude for Jewish Women's Help

Gifts from Newark Section of the National Council of Jewish Women to 200 Belgian war orphans will be distributed at a ceremony in Brussels at which the United States' Ambassador to Belgium will preside, Mrs. Alfred Katz of Maplewood, chairman of the overseas service department of the council, made that announcement at a luncheon yesterday at the YMYWHA for her unit.

The project started six weeks ago after a reference by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to the work of Les Invalides Prevoyants, who have been struggling with only private funds to draw on to provide for orphans of men and women killed in resisting the Nazis. Mrs. Katz and her co-chairman, Mrs. Harry Gaines of Maplewood, wrote to the organization to learn its needs and told of the Newark Council's desire to send help.

Belgians Send List

The Belgian veterans responded with a list of boys and girls "worthy of your greatest interest," and who are in serious need of shoes, clothing and underwear. In token of their gratitude, they wrote, they had arranged to have the Ambassador attend the distribution and receive their expression of thanks to has already sent a note of thanks the Americans. Mrs. Roosevelt has already sent a note of thanks to the council for its response to her appeal.

Included in the gifts brought to the meeting yesterday for the Belgian orphans were many new garments, both woolen and Summer weight; overshoes, chocolates and 100 individually wrapped oilskin rain kerchiefs for the girls. The kerchiefs were the gift of Harry Gaines, husband of the co-chairman. Newark Section of the Council of Jewish Juniors contributed 36 boxes of water colors and a large quantity of other drawing materials.

Other Contributions

The Newark Council has sent 694 large boxes of clothing and foodstuffs to overseas orphanages and individual survivors of concentration camps during the last year, it was announced during the annual reports of the department. Mrs. Daniel Shiman, chairman of layettes, reported that her unit has sent 33 layettes during the last three months to the Joint Distribution Committee. Mrs. Joseph Berger, president of Newark Section, paid tribute to the work of the overseas service department. Mrs. Louis Seidman is in charge of transportation for the project and Mrs. Harry Katzin is treasurer. Mrs. Herbert J. Rusinow and Mrs. Harry Radin are the department secretaries.

Mrs. Berger announced that the council expects to open its recreation center for the elderly July 1 in quarters over the Hawthorne theater. She appealed for gifts of furnishings and for volunteers to assist at the center.

Must Pay Income Tax Deficiency

Special to Newark News.

WASHINGTON—Louis Drill of Newark has to pay an income tax deficiency of $54.67 which resulted because he took a deduction in 1943 for the cost of clothing used in his job and the cost of evening meals when he worked overtime.

Judge C. Rogers Arundell of the Tax Court of the United States has upheld Commissioner of Internal Revenue Nunan that Drill was not entitled to claim deductions of $75 clothing expenses and $150 for the cost of meals. The Revenue Bureau disallowed them on the ground that meals consumed by Drill in restau- lector of Internal Revenue Manning in Newark for 1943. During that year and prior, Drill was employed as outside superintendent and general utility man for his brother, Max Drill, a general building contractor. Max Drill was operating about eight jobs in and about Newark, one as far away as Asbury Park. Louis Drill's duties consisted of seeing that his brother's employees were at work, assigning them their duties, picking up and delivering material from job to job, driving a half-ton truck, transporting men from one job to another and filling in for absentees.

Clothing Soiled

In his claim, Louis Drill maintained that as a result of his work his clothing was often soiled with plaster, cement, mud and grease and was sometimes torn or snagged. Judge Arundell pointed out the months in 1943 when there was a manpower shortage. In overruling the claims, Judge Arundell said that Louis Drill was paid a bonus of $1,000 for the overtime and held, "Expenses for food and clothing are about as personal as any expenses can be; and personal expenses are expressly made non-deductible" under the law.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

I am a student in the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. I am writing a story on the Ives-Quinn anti-discrimination law, seeking to evaluate it from the standpoint of its operation over the period of the year and a half it has been in effect.

I wonder if you have an opinion you might be willing to express on the subject? Do you think the law has worked out as well as expected? Has it had any measureable effect to your knowledge on the employment of minority groups. Has it lessened discrimination in other fields, or is it too limited in scope? Do you favor passage of the Austin-Mahoney bill to prohibit quota systems in New York State schools and colleges?

No I think it has what I hear from it has

Yes

I should be grateful for any information you might give me. I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your reply.

Sincerely yours,
Robert A. Ireland, Jr.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

Each year the Ulster-Irish Society of New York singles out the citizen of the United States who has made an outstanding contribution to the welfare of this nation. This year we have the honor to make you our choice.

We hold an annual dinner in March of each year at which time our honored guest is awarded a medal commemorating the event and also a gift of Ulster linen.

We consider your untiring efforts in behalf of the American people a shining example of selfless American patriotism. We know how busy you are but if you could find the time to honor us with your presence at this dinner we shall appreciate your acceptance that much more.

Sincerely yours,

William J. McKinley
