Dear Lady Elinore,

Here is a little poem I composed in memory of our dear president.

I have been unable to get it published. Will you please help me?

Yours truly
Mrs Dorothy Jones.

over

To F. D. R.

In this battle there are heroes, great and small,
Whose deeds shall live forever
In the hearts of all,
But there is a hero that has passed away.
Not on the fields of battle
Nor on a ship of grey.
He gave his life in duty
to you and me.
His life to work and toil for liberty.
In every nation a great loss was felt,
At the passing of Franklin D Roosevelt.
The place his honor, high
upon a thron,
For he was a leader brave
kind and strong.
We know that he will find peace and rest up there For everything he did was kind and fair.
We are thankful that we knew him for awhile,
And felt the sunshine of his

radiant smile
So in thanks, we bow
our heads and pray,
That will meet him
in heaven some day.
