Dear Mr Roosevelt.

We are so very pleased that you can dine with us here next week. My husband has just left a message for you at Claridge's, which this note confirms, fixing the 23rd, Wednesday, as the Lord Privy Seal has an engagement on the 25th.

The other guests are being invited at 7.30 pm for 8.0, and I expect we shall try to dine fairly punctually in case other friends come in after dinner, which you were kind enough to say we could arrange. We do so much appreciate your courtesy in sparing us this time.

Yours sincerely Vera Brittain (Mrs George Catlin)

Dear Mrs Roosevelt

I look forward to writing more at length from Britain. May I hope immediately thank you for your note of introduction to the President about which he told me? This enabled me to have a quarter of an hour's good talk with him, and to get his permission to write to him direct did any occasion of sufficient importance arise. I can scarcely thank you enough.

With most sincere thanks & most cordial regards

Yours sincerely

George Catlin
