Dear Mrs Roosevelt.

Thank you so much for your letter, quoting to me the context of Mr Gromyko's reply to you. Although such harsh words come as a bitter and stinging blow, I just refuse to let them 'get me down'.

Somehow, some way, I am determined to see Mr Stalin, and at least get a look at him; if not a sitting.

I have'nt the faintest idea of where to turn next, but somehow a way will be found.

It is impossible to thank you enough for all you have done on my behalf, and for the great measure ~~that~~ in which you have helped me to embark on this undertaking, which I know will end in something truly worth while.

I will keep you posted with any progress I make.

Meanwhile,

I am

Yrs gratefully

Douglas Chandor.
