My dear Mr. Barros:

I am sorry that it was not possible for me to send you these answers to your questions in time for Christmas Eve, and I hope they will reach you in time for New Year's Eve. I have only just returned from Geneva where I was attending a meeting of the Human Rights Commission.

In answer to your questions:

1. I think the election of one of Brazil's citizens as President of the General Assembly of the UN is a prominent event in the life of Brazil during 1947.
2. In some ways the world perspective for 1948 seems optimistic. It is better in that the western world is striving itself to rehabilitate itself. The shadows are the relations with Eastern Europe but one hopes for improvement.

Very sincerely yours,

Paris, 9 December 1947.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

As in February 1946, I am back in Europe, now. My newspapers put me in charge of an "end-of-the-year" international enquire, with a view to let the Brazilian public know to what extent the national life of my Country may be followed abroad. Personalities like Mr. Churchill, Monsieur Auriol (the French president) and others have already been kind enough to answer. This feature, containing -with no comments- the exact replies will be, also, broadcast from Paris by the Radiodiffusion Nationale Française, at 8.30 p.m. on the 24th. inst., if all the answers arrive here in time; or -if they are a little late- on the New Year's eve.

So -and relying on your proverbial generosity, I am asking you, too, to answer the two following questions (the second one concerning not just Brazil, but the whole world) :

First.-Which, to you, seems to be the prominent event in the life of Brazil during 1947 ?

Second.-To you, does the world perspective for 1948 seem optimistic?

I renew my thanks, in advance, for your eagerly expected reply and remain

Yours very faithfully,

Mariz e Barros

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

He Thought of Roosevelt

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As Franklin D. Roosevelt's birthday drew near, I realized more and more how much we owe him.

I stood in line at the teller's window as an old man cashed his social security retirement check, happy in the knowledge that one just like it would be sent him every remaining month of his life . . . and I thought of Franklin Roosevelt.

I talked with a young widow with a brood of five small children, thankful as she received assurance of a monthly income until each child reached the age of 18 . . . and I thought of Franklin Roosevelt.

I watched a foreign-born woman of 55 going back to work as a pecan sheller after a seasonal lay-off of three months, grateful for the unemployment compensation checks she had received when another job for a woman of her age and qualifications was practically non-existent . . . and I thought of Franklin Roosevelt.

I saw a newreel showing the United Nations in session. I heard the deliberations of a world of nations discarding the old theory of isolationism and national self-sufficiency and accepting the responsibility to work together . . . and I gave thanks for Franklin Roosevelt.

I heard the stirring rendition of the national anthem, and as tears pricked at my eyes I turned instinctively to salute the picture of Franklin Roosevelt; for as surely as George Washington was the father of his country, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was its finished product.

THANKFUL.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

The children from Barton Hill Elementary School in San Pedro, California were so glad they got to see you. They were visiting Olvera Street at the same time that you were there.

They wanted to send you some letters. I hope you enjoy reading them. They would enjoy getting a small little letter from you at sometime. I'm sure they would be very excited and thrilled.

Sincerely,

Mrs. J. L. Carothers

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

We are the 94 class from Barton Hill School that saw you at Olvera street on March 17, 1947. Some of us were already on the bus but most of us got to see you.

We might have gotten to talk to you but a Mexican man stepped in front of us. We were all very much disappointed because we wanted you to talk to us.

We hope you will visit us soon in San Pedro.

My dear Mrs Roosevelt:

I have long wanted to send you this enclosure, written by a young college student to a colleague of mine. She was a student after I retired.

I have hesitated to send it to you. To-day I have decided to join the millions of others who would pay tribute to President Roosevelt on this day of remembrance. His death which brought national and international tragedy, to me was also a personal sorrow second only to the passing of my only and beloved brother.

Dear Madam:

I was happy to hear of your

to hear that you were well and happy. I hope you will find the country as pleasant as
I remember it to be.

I am sure you will find the country as pleasant as
I remember it to be.

I just couldn't see what I was doing.

After I went to bed an awful thunder storm came up; it was as though the very heavens were crying out in anguish at the disaster that had befallen the whole world.

I kept thinking over and over ^{again} of a line in our Lincoln record album that applies so well to President Roosevelt: 'They were his people, he was their man; you couldn't quite tell where the people left off and Abe Lincoln began. That's the kind of man Roosevelt was; he was a symbol of all the American people rolled up into one great man. Let's hope that his death will bring about the one thing he strove for - a great national unity, transcending racial, religious, and political differences, and may his soul rest in peace. Like the stars, by day he cannot be seen by mortal eyes, but he will shine on in the untroubled firmament of endless time."
