Dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

May I express my appreciation for your kindness in posing with our little poster girl, Nancy Brury at Hyde Park and for all the wonderful assistance you have given during the 1947 March of Dimes?

Enclosed are prints of the photographs which I thought you might wish for your files.

Again, a thousand thanks for your help.

Very sincerely,

Elizabeth D. Catlin

Dear Mr. Roosevelt:

I am coming over to deliver some lectures to the Empire Club, Toronto, for the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, and in the States. I have an interview to pay with the Governor of Jamaica. Really I am coming over to meet again old friends and to make new ones. I should get in about the 6th.

I do not leave for Toronto on the 21st, but must remain in New York.

2. If he leave, Providence on the 21st.

Love to you. I trust you have had a sight of N. Y.
I do much hope that while I am over I shall have the great pleasure of seeing you.

Yours very truly,
George Catlin

I have been over to Newark to meet the Colonial Secretary (whom I think you saw the other day in London). Perhaps you will be in town there. Probably I shall try to get there on the 7th or 8th.

Mrs. Franklyn D. Roosevelt,
Hyde Park,
New York.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

Thank you for your note of January 14th.
We shall warmly look forward to seeing you when you come over in April. Alas, I expect to be in India where I have been invited to deliver some lectures at Calcutta University by the Vice-Chancellor there, ultimately on Congress initiative. My wife, however, will be about and will, I am sure, try to get into touch with you.

Sir Campbell Stuart lunched with me the other day and I told him that while we would cordially welcome statues of the President and, indeed, of General Eisenhower in London, I thought that the time had fully come for a national present of a statue to be made by the British Government to the American people similar to the present of the statue of Lincoln, which stands outside Westminster Abbey. I suggested provisionally that a statue of Chatham with four small statues of Burke, Rockingham, Shelbourne and Grafton, with brief quotations from their speeches at the time of the Revolutionary War, should be put up in Lafayette Square. Campbell Stuart thought the idea good and suggested that it might be mentioned to the PM. I have, therefore, dropped Mr. Attlee a note. It occurs to me that you may care to mention it to him and Campbell Stuart when you happen to be seeing them.

With all respects and regards,

Yours sincerely,
