My dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

As you know, our spring meeting of the Rosenwald Fund takes place the weekend of April 21st. I sincerely trust you will not consider me presumptuous in tendering to you and your secretary the hospitality of my home should you be here for this meeting and care to live privately.

My wife is in California, where she is doing house work for our Marine son-in-law's wife who just had a new baby, and I am alone with two maids. I can offer you two adjoining rooms, each with bath, for yourself and secretary, and home cooking. The location is right on the lake away from the noise of the Loop, but only about ten minutes distance.

This invitation has been extended to you because I really believe, Mrs. Roosevelt, you might be more comfortable at our place than at a Loop hotel, and I sincerely trust you will not consider me overly bold.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Frank
