His wife's little boy.

My young cousin whose husband died in the war was here
with her 2 small children. So we had a real day of fun.

Frederick, junior, planned to come with his wife and two sons, but we had a blizzard which kept us in for 2 or 3 days.

I hope 1948 will be an easier year for all of you & we'll see us meet on the road to better with understanding

Dear Eleanor: I wonder if I will be home in time to accompany you.

This comes to bring me the thought of our last easeful visit, and to remind me of the family. I will be there to remember me. father to make sure I have a special one to John.

No wonder my poor stuff was frayed this week. They have seen to it that your message from Geneva on the BBC! Just dear Eleanor, in all these patches in the fabric of ideas, no violence attacked them.

I trust you definitely hear about the embargo, and its consequences. I feel that freedom fails fast it is not something that we should be able to appreciate. I can find no way to end it. No one can help us.

The struggle between the two worlds - the free and the unfree - has already come nearer to us. What are the steps we are taking?
