Dear Mrs Roosevelt

Thought you would like to see the enclosed clipping.
I think this expresses the feeling of a great majority of the people.

Yours very sincerely

Two Long Years

IT'S been so long since you went away. You were there when we needed you most. Then, you were gone.

The Victory you fashioned came to be. But the world you dreamed of is still to be.

Your courage, your vision, your smile are sacred heritages. But, we miss your counsel.

In the ancient days, Moses led his people to Mount Sinai. He too was called before he could enter the Promised Land.

Two years ago you led the legions of free men to the threshold of a new Dawn.

Then the earth cried out in anguish that April 12 when you departed on the eve of your great triumph.

Rest well then, enshrined forever in the hearts of your countrymen.

Your legions will still march on!

Saturday, April 12-
1947.

Dear Mother Roozevelt,

I can not keep from sending this humble note to you today, as my heart goes out in mourning our great loss of two years ago. If I should cover a thousand, full sized pages, I could not tell you how hardly I was stricken on that unforgetful day. Tears still come to my eyes, every time I look at his pictures, which hang in our room of our home LEVAN

Please, dear Mother of ours, accept my heartiest condolence

I used to wonder, how it feels, to be the wife of a great a man? Now, I wonder, how it feels to have lost him. Yours with deepest affection, Yours, Anna Levine

As a devout admirer of your person, I would like to visit "The Roosevelt Mansion" on a day, when I could also have the pleasure of meeting you there.

So, if it isn't asking too much, could you let me know, when you'll be there?

Thanking You in advance, Anna L.
