My dear Mrs Roosevelt, please except this little poem of which I was inspired to write after visiting you much Beloved Husbands grave on June 28. of this year. Thank you

gone But Not Forgotten.

Sleep on Christen Soldier Sleep on and take your Rest.
The World has known many great men But I place you above the Best.
I was sad when I heard that you had passed away and I wished that you could have spared for there is a many Broken Wagon Wheels today.
that would have been repaired.
But although you have passed away, your kindness will always be felt.
for there is not a man that lives today like our late president Roosevelt.
