BRITISH EMBASSY,
WASHINGTON 8, D.C.

27th June 1945.

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

Once again, I am indebted to you for a delightful weekend. I enjoyed it immensely. I came back very rested and full of vigor. It is indeed a pity that sleep cannot be stored up otherwise I could remain awake for about a week on the accumulation of the weekend.

Enclosed you will find a few general notes on racing and eating. As could be expected, they are really rather dull but you may find them of some help. It is such a pity if the essential
