My dear Mrs. Roosevelt,

I have much pleasure in enclosing instalments three and four the final one of the series of articles entitled "U. S. A. at War". These two instalments together with the previous two parts sent provide the complete series.

The objects of these contributions was to pay homage, humble homage to a very great man Franklin D. Roosevelt, as well as to pay tribute to the gallant <sup>forces</sup> of the U. S. armed and at the same time hope to help forward the spirit of goodfellowship between the peoples of the great United States of America and Britain. With deepest respects <sup>and</sup> all good wishes.

Yours most sincerely
J. H. Linnay.
