"Berlin--'IIB' is now able to report the successful operation of the German cruiser ADMIRAL SCHEER in the west SIBERIAN SEA in August 1942.

This operation, which could not be reported previously for security reasons, aimed at preventing an Arctic convoy coming from the BERING STRAITS from proceeding on its course before the waters became ice-bound. The Soviets, who had established the presence of the German warship, were compelled to stop the convoy. This delay of a few days at the critical time when those waters became ice-bound was sufficient to make the ice close in on the entire 'shipping caravan'--the Soviet terms for their convoys in this area. As a result, the methodical transport of important war material was prevented for an indefinite time.

The ADMIRAL SCHEER thereupon continued her operations un molested and intercepted and sank a big Soviet ice breaker, the ALEXANDER SIBIRYAKOV in the west SIBERIAN SEA. The armed enemy ship put up useless resistance. The few survivors stated that the ship had orders to land personnel to set up new meteorological and radio posts.

Captain Meinhold-Bohiken, the Captain of the SCHEER then decided to attack the Soviet base of PORT DICKSON. On August 27, 1942, the ADMIRAL SCHEER entered the harbor of PORT DICKSON and was met by fierce Soviet fire without suffering any damage. The harbor was set on fire by a number of salvos. Sheds, cranes, oil tanks, coal dumps and other stored material were burned. It must have been difficult for the Soviets to rebuild this important base by replacing the destroyed equipment with new material which they would have to bring up under great difficulties.

"In the course of this operation the Soviet tanker KUZNETSCOV fell victim to the gunners of the ADMIRAL SCHEER.

The assistance which the British were to render by cutting off the SCHEER's retreat in the BARENTS SEA did not materialize, thanks to the SHILLING handling of the cruiser. After a protracted cruise in waters with which the crew was unacquainted, presenting as it did many ice-barriers and frequent Arctic fogs, the ADMIRAL SCHEER reached her base port undamaged."

BERLIN (DNB) IN GERMAN AT 9:19 AM TO EUROPE
(VIA FCC) Nov 27.

"Berlin (unofficial)—The success of German U/Boats in sinking six freighters, totalling 33,500 GRT, and three destroyers in attacks on convoys in various waters, coming as it does after a long interval, has caused competent Berlin circles to observe that these nine units were sunk at periods of the war in which the enemy had protected himself almost hermetically against sea and air (attacks?).

"This success could be regarded as a first step toward making up the enemy's start in naval warfare. These individual successes were in any case likely to force the enemy to keep his escort units and escort air formations on convoy work and even to reinforce them."
