Franklin D. Roosevelt — “The Great Communicator”
The Master Speech Files, 1898, 1910-1945
Series 1: Franklin D. Roosevelt’s Political Ascension

File No. 29

1914 April 11

Los Angeles, CA
Los Angeles Harbor, Where the Increasing Traffic Is Stirring Every Minute.

Dedicated to the world's commerce yesterday.

Los Angeles First to See

(Continued from First Page)

The mast of each ship is crack or crackling, the sound of the dropping siren is heard. The stars blaze above, the moon looks down, and the night is perfect. The harbor is alive with ships, schooners, small and large, coming in from all parts of the world. The tents of canvas are set up along the shore, and the men stand about, watching the sun rise in the east. The sound of the engines can be heard, and the lights of the boats flash in the distance. The harbor is a hive of activity, and the traffic is increasing every minute. The scene is one of excitement and adventure, as the world's commerce is being conducted in this great harbor.