Every Issue of Present Campaign Discussed By Secretary Lane Here

Secretary of Interior Is Greeted With Tremendous Applause as He Takes Up Questions of War, Eight-Hour Law and Wilson's Legislation at Mass Meeting in Institute—John Sague Receives Ovation.

Despite the rain, those hundred or more citizens gathered around the Institute Tuesday morning for the meeting of the Institute Board of Directors. The gathering was in the auditorium, and the police were on hand to maintain order. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. John Sague, who introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Susan B. Anthony, who spoke on the Eight-Hour Law and its importance to women.

A number of committees were appointed and the business of the Institute was discussed. The meeting was adjourned.

MUST SECURE A CERTIFICATE FROM Dr. Wilson

A letter has been sent to the president of the university by the superintendent of the city to the effect that the pupil has been enrolled in the school. If he is not, he will not be allowed to remain in the city.

Not only the teachers but the students are pleased with the new system.

FOUR MILLION WOMEN TO VOTE

Both Parties Ignorant as to What They Will Do

The Republican party is not against women's suffrage, but the Democratic party is. The United States Constitution provides for the election of the president, vice-president, and members of Congress by popular vote. The Constitution also provides for the election of state governors and members of the state legislatures by popular vote.

A national convention was held in Chicago last week to discuss the Eight-Hour Law and the Eight-Hour Law was adopted by the convention. The convention also adopted a resolution to support the Eight-Hour Law.

Despite the fact that hundreds of people crowded into the offices of Interior Secretary Henry G. C. White to hear his address on war, labor, and legislation, his reception was not enthusiastic. It was announced that the secretary of the United States Department of the Interior would visit the city of Moundsville, W. Va., on the occasion of the dedication of the Moundsville Institute, a new educational institution.

The reception accorded the secretary was cordial and friendly. The crowd, which was composed of a large number of labor leaders and members of the Democratic party, welcomed the secretary with enthusiasm. The secretary's address was well received, and the audience listened attentively to his words of encouragement and advice.

The secretary's visit was a shining example of the cooperation and unity that exists between the labor movement and the Democratic party. The labor leaders were pleased with the secretary's address, and they expressed their appreciation for his efforts on behalf of the working class.

The couple will reside in the city of Moundsville, W. Va., where they plan to begin their married life.

Not a Hughes Man in the Whole Township

One of the questions that arose during the election was whether or not there were any Hughes supporters in the township. However, it was learned that there were no Hughes supporters in the township, and the Democratic party was in control.

The election results were announced today, and it was learned that the Democratic party had won a decisive victory in the township. The Democratic candidates were elected to all of the offices, and they secured a majority of the vote.

The Democratic party had worked hard to win the election, and they were pleased with the results. They had campaigned vigorously, and they had stressed the need for progress and development in the township.

The election results were a clear indication of the strength of the Democratic party in the township. They had secured a decisive victory, and they were confident that they would continue to lead the township in the future.
