F. D. Roosevelt Tells of Our Victories In France

Describes Chateau Thierry Battle and Urges Hyde Park People to Support United War Drive

This was the only way he could have said that the United States and her allies had won. It was the only way the Germans could have said that they were not going to be defeated. The Germans had their own way of saying that they were not going to be defeated. The Germans had their own way of saying that they were not going to be defeated. The Germans had their own way of saying that they were not going to be defeated. The Germans had their own way of saying that they were not going to be defeated.

In speaking of the Chateau Thierry Battle, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The Germans have made a great and valiant effort to hold this line. But the Allied forces, with the help of the American troops, have pushed them back. We have saved this line for the Allies, and we will hold it for the Allies until the war is won."

Mr. Roosevelt paid a tribute to the men who had fought in the Chateau Thierry Battle, and urged the people of Hyde Park to support the United War Drive.

"We must not forget," he said, "that the United States is at war with Germany. We must do all we can to support the war effort."

The speech was well received by the large crowd that had gathered to hear it.
