Franklin D. Roosevelt — “The Great Communicator”
The Master Speech Files, 1898, 1910-1945
Series 1: Franklin D. Roosevelt's Political Ascension

File No. 589

1932 November 7

Beacon, NY - Extemporaneous remarks
A good many of us old people are still here who were here in the year 1910 when I spoke from this same spot. Well, there has been a good deal of water that has gone over the dam since then, but I am still living in Dutchess County, you are still my neighbors, and no matter what happens tomorrow I am still going to be your neighbor and I am still going to live in Dutchess County.

You know, my association with what is now Beacon goes back a great many years. The very first year that I went to the Legislature to represent this County, some of you people remember the perfectly terrific battle there was on about getting a charter and the awful fight we had while trying to find a name for the new community. In those days the first name that was proposed was perfectly grand -- some of you people still remember the name that was actually carried in a popular election, "Melzinger", and aren't you people glad that I declined to approve and would not put a bill in Albany to allow that name to be settled on this community? (Laughter) And, at a meeting down here afterwards, when we finally fixed up the first city charter, a lot of
This is a transcript made by the White House stenographer from his shorthand notes taken at the time the speech was made. Underlining indicates words extemporaneously added to the previously prepared reading copy text. Words in parentheses are words that were omitted when the speech was delivered, though they appear in the previously prepared reading copy text.

A long way to go if people like you and me:

We're here to hear a good man of many fine accomplishments, but I still live in Dubuque County. You may still be drinking my red wine, and no matter what hapless fortune awaits me, I will always be your neighbor and I will always go to live in Dubuque County.

You know, my association with what is now Beacon.

See how the great men rise. That very little town that want to be made a part of Dubuque, the County, some of you people remember the Lumber Co. They give me no need to get off or to the point. We're not the same. When we first gave the little home that was beneath our beloved thing some of you people still remember the name that was us.

not in a better situation. However, and strange you people live that I cannot do anything and I don't put pitiful enough to show that same to be settled on this con-ought (presumably, And at a meeting gone here elsewhere, away we finally talked of the little city of Almeria, a lot of

Franklin D. Roosevelt Library
Democrats and a lot of Republicans got together and it was suggested that we adopt the name of Beacon, and I am glad that name was adopted because it is a forward-looking name just in the same way that I am very certain that this is a forward-looking, progressive community.

I have been coming down here since I was about five years old and I am going to keep coming whether I am a candidate or not. It is fine to see you and I shall look forward to seeing you again.

Many thanks.