
Franklin D. Roosevelt — “The Great Communicator”

The Master Speech Files, 1898, 1910-1945

Series 1: Franklin D. Roosevelt’s Political Ascension

File No. 594a

1932 November 9

Radio Address of President-Elect Roosevelt from New York

Radio. Election night, Nov.9

NYT 11.10

"My friends, I am glad of this opportunity to extend my deep appreciation to the electorate of this country which has given me this great vote of confidence.

It is a vote that has more than mere party significance; it transcends party lines. It became a national expression of liberal thought. It means, I am sure, that the masses of the people of this nation firmly believe that there is great and actual possibility in an orderly recovery through a well conceived and actively directed plan of action. Such a plan has been presented to you and you have expressed approval of it. This, my friends, is most reassuring to me. It shows that there is in the nation unbounded confidence in the future of sound agriculture and honorable industry.

This clear mandate shall not be forgotten. I pledge you this and I invite your help, the help of all of you in the happy task of restoration."

RADIO ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT-ELECT ROOSEVELT

New York City, Wednesday, November 9, 1932

My friends, I am glad of this opportunity to extend my deep appreciation to the electorate of this country which has given me this great vote of confidence.

It is a vote that has more than mere party significance. It transcends party lines. It became a national expression of liberal thought. It means, I am sure, that the masses of the people of this nation firmly believe that there is great and actual possibility in an orderly recovery, through a well-conceived and actively directed plan of action.

Such a plan has been presented to you, and you have expressed approval of it. This, my friends, is most reassuring to me. It shows that there is in the nation unbounded confidence in the future of sound agriculture and honorable industry.

This clear mandate shall not be forgotten. I pledge you this, and I invite your help, the help of all of you, in the happy task of restoration.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Library

This is a transcript made by the White House stenographer from his shorthand notes taken at the time the speech was made. Underlining indicates words extemporaneously added to the previously prepared reading copy text. Words in parentheses are words that were omitted when the speech was delivered, though they appear in the previously prepared reading copy text.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Library

This is a transcript made by the White House stenographer from his shorthand notes taken at the time the speech was made. Underlining indicates words extemporaneously added to the previously prepared reading copy text. Words in parentheses are words that were omitted when the speech was delivered, though they appear in the previously prepared reading copy text.

... of confidence.
... I believe that there is great and actual possibility in our country, through a well-conceived and actively directed plan of action.
Such a plan has been presented to you, and you have expressed approval of it. This, my friends, is most reassuring to me. It shows that there is in the nation widespread confidence in the future of our agriculture and domestic industry.
This cheer certainly shall not be forgotten. I pledge you this and I invite your help, the help of all of you, in the happy task of reconstruction.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Library
This is a transcript made by the White House stenographer from his shorthand notes taken at the time the speech was made. Underlining indicates words extemporaneously added to the previously prepared reading copy text. Words in parentheses are words that were omitted when the speech was delivered, though they appear in the previously prepared reading copy text.