NOTE:
The President never signed this Reading Copy.
COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

DECEMBER 24, 1942

This year I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our American Armed Forces and also to those who wear the uniforms of the other United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas" -- for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world -- but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence in the success of their evil ways.
To you who toil in industry for the common cause of helping to win the war, I send a message of cheer -- that you can well continue to sacrifice without recrimination and with a look of Christmas cheer -- a kindly spirit toward your fellow men.

To you who serve in uniform I also send a message of cheer -- that you are in the thoughts of your families and friends at home, and that Christmas prayers follow you wherever you may be.

To all Americans I say that loving our neighbor as we love ourselves is not enough -- that we as a Nation and as individuals will please God best by showing regard for the laws of God. There is no better way of fostering good-will toward man than by first fostering good-will toward God. If we love Him we will keep His Commandments.
In sending Christmas Greetings to the Armed Forces and merchant sailors of the United Nations we include therein our pride in their bravery on the fighting fronts and on all the seas. But we remember in our greetings and in our pride those other men who guard remote islands and bases and will, in all probability, never come into active combat with the common enemy. They are stationed in distant places far from home. They have few contacts with the outside world, and I want them to know that their work is essential to the conduct of the war -- essential to the ultimate victory -- and that we have not forgotten them.

It is significant that tomorrow -- Christmas Day -- our plants and factories will be stilled. That is not true of the other holidays we have long been accustomed to celebrate. On all other holidays work goes on -- gladly -- for the winning of the war.
So Christmas becomes the only holiday in all the year.

I like to think that this is so because Christmas is a holy day. May all it stands for live and grow throughout the years.
THE PRESIDENT'S
CHRISTMAS GREETING TO THE NATION
FROM THE SOUTH PORTICO OF THE WHITE HOUSE
UPON THE OCCASION
OF THE
NATIONAL COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE
CEREMONIES
DECEMBER 24, 1942, 4.00 P.M., E.W.T.
RADIO BROADCAST

This year, my friends, I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only, but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our American Armed Forces, and also to those who wear the uniforms of the other United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas," for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world; but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year -- happier in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence in the success of their evil ways.

To you who toil in industry and in office -- toil for the common cause of helping to win the war, I send a message of cheer -- that you can well continue to sacrifice without recrimination and with a look of Christmas cheer -- a kindly spirit toward your fellow men.

To you who serve in uniform I also send a message of cheer -- that you are in the thoughts of your families, (and) your friends at home, and that Christmas prayers follow you wherever you may be.

To all Americans I say that loving our neighbor as we love ourselves is not enough -- that we as a Nation and as individuals will please God best by showing regard for the laws of God. There is no better way, at this Christmas time or any other time, of fostering good-will toward man than by first fostering good-will toward God. If we love Him we will keep His Commandments,
This is a transcript made by the White House stenographer from his shorthand notes taken at the time the speech was made. Underlining indicates words extemporaneously added to the previously prepared reading copy text. Words in parentheses are words that were omitted when the speech was delivered, though they appear in the previously prepared reading copy text.
In sending Christmas Greetings to the Armed Forces and the merchant sailors of the United Nations, we include therein our pride in their bravery -- their bravery on the fighting fronts and on all the seas. But we remember in our greetings and in our pride those other men who guard remote islands and bases and will, in all probability, never come into active combat with the common enemy. They are stationed in distant places far from home. They have few contacts with the outside world, and I want them to know that their work is essential to the conduct of (the) this war -- essential to the ultimate victory -- and that we have not forgotten them.

It is significant that tomorrow -- Christmas Day -- our plants and factories will be stilled. That is not true of the other holidays that we have long been accustomed to celebrate. On all other holidays work goes on -- gladly -- for the winning of the war.

So Christmas becomes the only holiday in all the years.

I like to think that this is so because Christmas is a holy day. May all that it stands for live and grow (throughout) through all the years.
HOLD FOR RELEASE

December 24, 1942

CAUTION: The following Christmas Greeting to the Nation to be delivered by the President MUST BE HELD IN CONFIDENCE until released.

NOTE: Release is for editions of all newspapers appearing on the streets not earlier than 4:00 P.M., E.W.T. today. The same release also applies to radio announcers and news commentators.

CARE MUST BE EXERCISED TO PREVENT PREMATURE PUBLICATION.

STEPHEN EARLY
Secretary to the President
COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE
DECEMBER 24, 1942

This year I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our American Armed Forces and also to those who wear the uniforms of the other United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas" -- for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world -- but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence in the success of their evil ways.
COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

DECEMBER 24, 1942

This year I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our American Armed Forces and also to those who wear the uniforms of the other United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas" -- for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world -- but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence in the success of their evil ways.
To you who toil in industry for the common cause of helping to win the war, I send a message of cheer — that you can well continue to sacrifice without recrimination and with a look of Christmas cheer — a kindly spirit toward your fellow men.

To you who serve in uniform I also send a message of cheer — that you are in the thoughts of your families and friends at home, and that Christmas prayers follow you wherever you may be.

To all Americans I say that loving our neighbor as we love ourselves is not enough — that we as a Nation and as individuals will please God best by showing regard for the laws of God. There is no better way of fostering good-will toward man than by first fostering good-will toward God. If we love Him we will keep His Commandments.
In sending Christmas Greetings to the Armed Forces and merchant sailors of the United Nations we include therein our pride in their bravery on the fighting fronts and on all the seas. But we remember in our greetings and in our pride those other men who guard remote islands and bases and will, in all probability, never come into active combat with the common enemy. They are stationed in distant places far from home. They have few contacts with the outside world, and I want them to know that their work is essential to the conduct of the war -- essential to the ultimate victory -- and that we have not forgotten them.

It is significant that tomorrow -- Christmas Day -- our plants and factories will be stilled. That is not true of the other holidays we have long been accustomed to celebrate. On all other holidays work goes on -- gladly -- for the winning of the war.
So Christmas becomes the only holiday in all the year.

I like to think that this is so because Christmas is a holy day. May all it stands for live and grow throughout the years.
December 24, 1942

This year I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our American Armed Forces and also to those who wear the uniforms of the other United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas" for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world -- but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence in the success of their evil ways.

To you who toil in industry for the common cause of helping to win the war, I send a message of cheer -- that you can well continue to sacrifice without recrimination and with a look of Christmas cheer -- a kindly spirit toward your fellow men.

To you who serve in uniform I also send a message of cheer -- that you are in the thoughts of your families and friends at home, and that Christmas prayers follow you wherever you may be.

To all Americans I say that loving our neighbor as we love ourselves is not enough -- that we as a Nation and as individuals will please God best by showing regard for the laws of God. There is no better way of fostering good-will toward men than by first fostering good-will toward God. If we love Him we will keep His Commandments.

In sending Christmas Greetings to the Armed Forces and merchant sailors of the United Nations we include therein our pride in their bravery on the fighting fronts and on all the seas. But we remember in our greetings and in our pride those other men who guard remote islands and bases and will, in all probability, never come into active combat with the common enemy. They are stationed in distant places far from home. They have few contacts with the outside world, and I want them to know that their work is essential to the conduct of the war -- essential to the ultimate victory -- and that we have not forgotten them.

It is significant that tomorrow -- Christmas Day -- our plants and factories will be stilled. That is not true of the other holidays we have long been accustomed to celebrate. On all other holidays work goes on -- gladly -- for the winning of the war.

So Christmas becomes the only holiday in all the year.

I like to think that this is so because Christmas is a holy day. May all it stands for live and grow throughout the years.
COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE
DECEMBER 24, 1942

This year I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our Armed Forces and also to those who wear the uniforms of the United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas"—for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world— but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence.

To you who toil in industry for the common cause of helping to win the war, I send a message of cheer—that you can well continue to sacrifice without recrimination and with a look of Christmas cheer—a kindly spirit toward your fellow men.

Also to you who serve in uniform I send a message of cheer—that you are in the thoughts of your families and friends at home, and that Christmas prayers follow you wherever you may be.
FIRST DRAFT

To all Americans I say that loving our neighbor as we love ourselves is not enough -- that we as a Nation and as individuals will please God best by showing regard for the laws of God. There is no better way of fostering good-will toward man than by first fostering good-will toward God. If we love Him we will keep His Commandments.

In sending Christmas Greetings to the Armed Forces of the United Nations we include therein our pride in their bravery on the fighting fronts and on all the seas. But we remember in our greetings and in our pride those other men who guard remote islands and bases and will, in all probability, never come into combat with the common enemy. They are in distant places far from home. They have few contacts with the outside world, and I want them to know that their work is essential to the conduct of the war -- essential to the ultimate victory -- and that we have not forgotten them.

It is significant that tomorrow -- Christmas Day -- our plants and factories will be stilled. That is not true of the other holidays we have long been accustomed to celebrate. On all other holidays work goes on -- gladly -- for the winning of the war.
So Christmas becomes only holiday because Christmas is a holy day. May all it stands for live and grow throughout the years.
The President's
Christmas Greeting to the Nation

Upon the Occasion
Of the
National Community Christmas Tree
Ceremonies

December 24, 1942, 4:00 P.M. EST

Radio Broadcast

0 From the south Portico of the White House
This year, I am speaking on Christmas Eve not to this gathering at the White House only, but to all of the citizens of our Nation, to the men and women serving in our American Armed Forces, and also to those who wear the uniforms of the other United Nations.

I give you a message of cheer. I cannot say "Merry Christmas" for I think constantly of those thousands of soldiers and sailors who are in actual combat throughout the world, but I can express to you my thought that this is a happier Christmas than last year, in the sense that the forces of darkness stand against us with less confidence in the success of their evil ways.

To you who toil in industry, for the common cause of helping to win the war, I send a message of cheer -- that you can well continue to sacrifice without recrimination and with a look of Christmas cheer -- a kindly spirit toward your fellow men.

To you who serve in uniform I also send a message of cheer -- that you are in the thoughts of your families and friends at home, and that Christmas prayers follow you wherever you may be.

To all Americans I say that loving our neighbor as we love ourselves is not enough -- that we as a Nation and as individuals will please God best by showing regard for the laws of God. There is no better way of fostering good-will toward men than by first fostering good-will toward God. If we love Him we will keep His Commandments.

In sending Christmas Greetings to the Armed Forces and merchant sailors of the United Nations, we include therein our pride in their bravery on the fighting fronts and on all the seas. But we remember in our greetings and in our pride those other men who guard remote islands and bases and will, in all probability, never come into active combat with the common enemy. They are stationed in distant places far from home. They have few contacts with the outside world, and I want them to know that their work is essential to the conduct of the war -- essential to the ultimate victory -- and that we have not forgotten them.

It is significant that tomorrow -- Christmas Day -- our plants and factories will be still. That is not true of the other holidays that we have long been accustomed to celebrate. On all other holidays work goes on -- gladly -- for the winning of the war.

So Christmas becomes the only holiday in all the yearly.

I like to think that this is so because Christmas is a holy day. May all it stands for live and grow throughout the years.