Telegram despatched from London early on the morning of September 1st.

1. Royal Air Force.

Explosions and large fires were started at 2 of the oil targets attacked during the night of August 29th/30th. Bursts were also observed in target area and fires were started at a synthetic oil plant and a power station, though here observation was difficult. Attacks on a lighter scale were made on railway targets, various industrial targets and aerodromes.

Medium bombers also attacked 11 aerodromes in occupied territory, large fires were started at 2 of them, but elsewhere results could not be seen.

Eighteen medium bombers were sent out yesterday, but, apart from usual North Sea reconnaissance, almost all tasks had to be abandoned. All aircraft returned safely.

Last night medium bombers were sent to attack the gun emplacements at Cap Grisnez, and a concentration of shipping near Emden. Heavy bombers were sent to power station and electrical works and aircraft factory and oil targets at Berlin, and additional oil targets in northwest and central Germany. Coastal command/command aircraft obtained hits on oil stores and an ammunition dump at Boulogne, and started large fires. They also went to attack oil cisterns at Cherbourg, but no reports are yet available. Two aircraft are missing, and two crews were lost in crashes.

2. German Air Force.

Further reports indicate that German bombing on the night of August 29th/30th was very scattered, and took place to a great extent over rural areas. Both H.E. and incendiary bombs were used. Only damage of significance reported was to commercial property at Manchester (3 persons killed and 12 wounded) and at Liverpool where there was some damage and several casualties.

During yesterday, about 600 aircraft are believed to have operated. During the morning about 100 crossed the southeast coast, were intercepted by our fighters, and dropped their bombs chiefly in some of the southern and southeastern suburbs of London. Little damage was done and casualties were few. In the afternoon two more large raids crossed the coast coming towards London. This time objectives appear to have been aerodromes in Essex and Kent areas. Major damage and fires were caused at one aerodrome, which was rendered temporarily unserviceable. At another, a hangar was destroyed, but aerodrome remains serviceable. Considerable damage was done to Vauxhall motor works, where 15 were killed and about 50 wounded. There were additional casualties in Luton town/town. A further raid of about 70 aircraft came up the Thames Estuary in the evening and divided; an aerodrome in Kent was attacked; in 20 minutes raiders had been dispersed. Last night a continuous stream of raiders, mostly single aircraft but sometimes in groups of three or more, crossed the coast. Their main objective seems to have been industrial areas in the Midlands, Lancs., Yorks.

The coming and going of these raiders caused a 6 hour warning in London. Some bombs fell in the inner London area.

Casualties throughout the country are believed to have been slight, but detailed reports have not yet been received.

4. Shipping Casualties.

By U-Boats. During night of August 29th/30th, one Norwegian ship (4000 tons) was torpedoed and sank, and two British ships (total 9000 tons) were torpedoed in north west approaches. These ships were in homeward bound convoy.

Last night Dutch ship "Volendam" (15,500 tons), Greek ship (5000 tons) and British ship (10,500 tons) in outward bound convoy were torpedoed off Northern Ireland. Tugs have been sent and destroyers are standing by. The Dutch ship was carrying passengers and 250 children for New York.

5. During the period covered by this summary, 46 ocean going cargo vessels in convoy have arrived safely. Cargoes included steel, pig iron, aircraft, explosives and food stuffs.

6. Somaliland. Aircraft of South African Air Force attacked a mechanised transport depot at Mogador on August 26th, and scored many direct hits. It is estimated that about 800 mechanical vehicles were damaged.

7. Egypt. On August 28th enemy raids on Alexandria and Mersamtruh caused only slight damage, and one aircraft was shot down by anti-aircraft fire. The Canal area near Port Said was attacked. There was no damage.

8. Italian East Africa. The Kassala garrison is reported to have been reinforced recently and is now believed to consist of 10 colonial battalions with proportionate cavalry, pack artillery, and one medium artillery unit, also 25 to 30 light and medium tanks, about 100 motor transport vehicles and other ancillary services.

1. Naval.

Aircraft having reported large number of enemy ships off Northern Holland yesterday evening our mine laying destroyers in the vicinity were ordered to jettison their mines and attack. Early this morning three destroyers were mined off this coast, one is sunk and other two are returning at slow speed. Destroyers and other craft have been sent to their aid.

Yesterday morning a submarine sighted three enemy cruisers and destroyers south-east of Messina and yesterday afternoon a second submarine reported four enemy cruisers and five destroyers in the same area, going south at high speed. This submarine attacked and claims two hits.

2. Royal Air Force.

During bombing operations on night of August 30th/31st nine heavy bombers attacked Siemens Electric factory at Berlin, causing very large fires and explosions. Four large explosions were caused at Berlin Gas Works, after which target appeared ablaze from end to end, and it is thought the gas holder was hit. Damage also caused to electric power station and adjacent/adjacent railway sidings, to airport, and to an aircraft works and oil cisterns.

Latter two targets were reported burning freely. Many bursts and explosions were observed amongst cisterns at Magdeburg. Railway targets, synthetic oil factory, ships at Emden and gun positions opposite Dover were also bombed, but observation was difficult. A number of enemy aerodromes were attacked.

Clear weather conditions prevented cloud-flying bombing by our aircraft yesterday.

Last night medium bombers were sent against gun emplacements opposite Dover, and a shipping concentration near Emden. Heavy bombers were sent to aircraft factories, a gas works and air port at Berlin; also to oil and railway targets elsewhere in Germany. All our aircraft have returned safely and one medium bomber landed in the sea very near the shore, and the crew were rescued. Coastal command aircraft went to attack fuel tanks and a seaplane base in Holland. Two aircraft are missing.

Total civilian casualties in London area during the night of August 30th/31st are reported as nine killed and one hundred and sixteen injured. Industrial damage was slight but there is appreciable damage to house property in certain areas. Property and public services suffered in Liverpool area and in Staffordshire, where/where an iron and steel works was attacked; cables, water mains and buildings were damaged but machinery was only slightly affected.

Yesterday, about 800 enemy aircraft were operating. During the morning two main raids developed over southern England, and attacks were made on aerodromes. Three received extensive damage, but are still operationally serviceable. At Dover all the balloons were reported shot down, and at Croydon a factory employed on aircraft work, already twice attacked, was finally wrecked. The first raid numbered about 150 aircraft and the second about 100. Both were interrupted and dispersed by our fighters. Apart from damage mentioned, other damage caused was chiefly in Essex and Kent, mostly house property and was in no way proportional to the attack. Casualties were not heavy.

Last night enemy operations chiefly directed against north west England, although London was lightly raided and 58 casualties are so far reported from this area. At Liverpool bombs fell in the centre of the city, damaging the Town Hall, and fires were caused in the docks. Minor damage was also caused to docks at Birkenhead. Casualties reported from this area are 31 killed and 75 wounded. Elsewhere damage was slight and, except for minor railway dislocation, mainly affected house property.

Enemy bomber reconnaissance aircraft are regularly active around English coasts, for some distance in the Bay of Biscay, and into the Atlantic as far as western Ireland. Patrols have been maintained by day in the Calais area, and along the Dutch coast at night. Mine laying continues actively.

During the night of August 31st/September 1st medium bombers attacked shipping near Emden and bursts were seen in the target area. Large fires were also caused at two oil targets in Holland.

Poor visibility severely hampered our heavy/heavy bombers, but fires were started at Berlin gas works, and fires and explosions caused at two oil targets elsewhere in Germany. Four aircraft attacked aero-engine factory at Spandau without observed results, and two more started a fire at Berlin airport. Twenty-two aerodromes were amongst the alternative targets attacked.

Yesterday, all of our aircraft returned safely, but lack of cloud cover obliged the majority to abandon their tasks. However two aerodromes in Holland were bombed.

Last night 65 aircraft were sent out with the following objectives:

Shipping at Amden and at ports of northern France;

Oil targets, aluminum works and an electric power station in Germany;

The Bosch magneto factory at Stuttgart;

An aircraft factory at Leipzig; and Aero-engine works at Munich.

Railway targets and aerodromes were also included. One heavy bomber is missing; reports awaited.

Italy.

Six heavy bombers were again sent to the Fiat and Murelli works. All aircraft returned safely.

Night of August 31st/September 1st.

Later reports announce much damage to railway property.
property at Leeds, one person killed and fifty-two wounded; large woodland and heath fires were also caused in Cumberland and Denbighshire.

Formation of over 100 crossed the coast near Dover about 11 a.m., was intercepted by our fighters and dispersed after half an hour's fighting. Three similar attacks took place in the afternoon. These were also intercepted and casualties caused to enemy aircraft. Considerable damage to house property at Gravesend, some industrial damage at Tilbury and in the Thames Estuary area, casualties are reported 7 killed and 43 wounded. Guard's Depot was attacked in the afternoon where 4 were killed and 16 injured.

Last night, enemy activity was on a reduced scale, and chiefly confined to south Wales and south west England. At Swansea extensive damage was done in the centre of the city. Casualties so far reported 11 killed and 26 wounded; the National Oil Refinery Depot in south Wales was hit, one cistern was destroyed and three are burning. There was additional industrial damage of less importance in this area. A severe fire was caused in the centre of Bristol.

H.M.S. Fiji has arrived safely in port for repairs.

2. Royal Air Force.
Our night bombers on September 2nd - 3rd in most cases located their targets but observation was bad and results could not always be observed. Several large fires were started over a wide area in the Black Forest, especially south of Baden Baden. Target area at Lorient, thought to contain U-boats and E-boats, was located and bombed, results unobserved. Fires were started at oil targets in Germany, and an explosive factory and Bosch factory were also bombed, but only one machine observed bursts in the target area. Single aircraft also attacked railway and canal communications and gun emplacements opposite Dover. One aircraft additional to yesterday's report did not return. The power station and a railway junction at Genoa were each attacked by two aircraft, fires being caused in target area.
Two aircraft landed in the sea on return, but crews were saved.

Last night 90 bombers were sent out.
Objectives were given as follows:-
Transformer station and power station at Berlin; oil target at Magdeburg; important railway junctions; an incendiary task in various forest areas; reconnaissance on previous night raid in Black Forest; aerodromes in northern France and shipping and barges in the Low Countries, canals and ports. All our aircraft have returned.

3. German Air Force.

In recent raids over this country an increased proportion of fighters to bombers has been noted. This now amounts to between 2 and 2½ fighters to one bomber.

Night of September 2nd - 3rd. It is now reported that garrison headquarters at Harwich was gutted by fire as a result of enemy bombing.

Yesterday, enemy air offensive was again concentrated on aerodromes. In the morning a formation of about 200 crossed the coast north of the Thames Estuary and then split up. A heavy attack by about 30 bombers escorted by 50 Messerschmidt '110's was delivered on north weald aerodrome. Two hangars, 2 fighters and 1 medium bomber and several mechanical transport lorries were set on fire, damage was done to buildings and telephone communications, and 3 persons were killed and several wounded; but aerodrome is still serviceable by day. A lighter concentration of about 80 aircraft approached southeast Kent in the afternoon, but only a small number seemed to have crossed. Both raids were dispersed by our fighters, with casualties as follows:

1. Naval.

Seventh Canadian Troop Convoy has arrived safely at a British port.

On September 2nd a British submarine sank a large outward bound U-boat in the Bay of Biscay.

On September 3rd a Norwegian ship was scuttled by her German prize crew on sighting a British submarine. The same submarine rescued the Master, his wife and 23 of the crew of a British ship (5,200 tons), now presumed sunk last April. Sunderland flying boat picked up the rest of the Norwegian crew; 2 more Sunderlands are now proceeding to rescue 2 boat loads of the German prize crew.

Between September 3rd and September 5th four attacks on U-boats have been made without visible result, one in the Mediterranean and 3 in home waters.

On September 2nd for the first time German dive bombers were employed against His Majesty’s ships in the Mediterranean, and in these waters between August 31st and September 2nd 6 enemy aircraft/aircraft were shot down during naval operations; except for one store ship damaged enemy attacks were unsuccessful.

2. Royal Air Force.

Night operations September 3rd/4th. Incendiary attacks on forest areas in Hartz mountains and in Berlin area have been very successful. All aircraft report starting fires, and one caused 2 explosions. Reconnaissance of Black Forest showed fierce fire burning. Low clouds and intense darkness made identification and observation very difficult. Bursts were caused on Berlin Power Station, fires were started at transformer station and gas works, and a large flash resulted from an attack on an armament factory; all these in Berlin. Hits were observed on railway targets, and bursts and fires seen in the Magdeburg synthetic oil plant. A blast furnace, a factory and a heavy anti-aircraft battery were also hit, and satisfactory reports have been received of attacks on 16 aerodromes. Numerous fires were caused and hits obtained on Ostend harbour, including a direct hit on canal dock gates. Flushing harbour and barges in the Dutch canals were also attacked. Last night 105 bombers were sent out to the following objectives.

- Power station at Berlin,
- Oil plant at Magdeburg and Stettin,
- Oil cisterns at Cherbourg and Flushing,

Aerodromes
Aerodromes in Northern France including Chartres, Railway goods yards and barges, and 28 heavy bombers went to set alight to forests.

One heavy bomber reported lost off the Dutch coast and crew of one medium bomber were killed on return through a crash.

Additional reports of enemy bombing on the night of September 3rd/4th state that large numbers of incendiary bombs were dropped in Kent and Essex, but very little damage resulted.

Yesterday enemy made 2 heavy attacks. The first at about 9 a.m. consisted of about 150 aircraft, now in over south coast, was intercepted by our fighters and broken up into groups. Enemy casualties were heavy and one squadron destroyed 15 enemy aircraft without sustaining a casualty. 3 aerodromes were attacked but no serious damage was caused. Damage was done to property in Canterbury, but casualties were slight. In early afternoon, a second formation of about 200 came in via the Thames Estuary. This again was intercepted, and heavy losses caused to the enemy. Bombs were dropped in the Medway area; neither casualties nor damage was serious. The Vickers-Armstrong aeroplane works at Weybridge were hit by 5 or 6 high explosive bombs; considerable damage was caused, and production will be seriously affected. Casualties reported are 56 killed and 280 wounded. In these two raids 82 enemy aircraft were definitely destroyed.

Last night enemy activity, mainly by single aircraft, extended over a wide area, but was principally directed against the Thames Estuary, Bristol Channel and Liverpool areas. Large fires were started in Tilbury Docks, but were under control before daylight. Other fires elsewhere in docks were quickly extinguished. Other bombs dropped in London area, including Westminster, causing little damage and few casualties. A sustained attack in the Liverpool area caused extensive damage to property; casualties at present reported include 15 killed. Fires were started at an oil refinery but did not reach the oil cisterns and are under control. During the night our fighters shot down 2 enemy bombers.

Naval.

September 4th Fleet Air Arm aircraft from 2 aircraft carriers attacked aerodromes in Rhodes; at one an ammunition dump was set on fire and 6 aircraft were probably destroyed on the ground; at the other hits were registered on 2 main hangars. Fighter opposition was encountered and 4 aircraft failed to return.

Two cruisers (one H.M. A. S. Sydney) bombarded Scarpanto with good results. The Sydney was unsuccessfully attacked by 3 E-boats, 2 of which were sunk by H. M. destroyer Ilex and the third damaged.

Unsuccessful enemy air attacks were made on the Fleet during the day.

2. Royal Air Force.

During night operations September 4th - 5th direct hits on Stettin synthetic oil plant were scored by almost all of 20 aircraft which attacked. At least 4 tall chimneys collapsed and very large fires were started. Oil cisterns at 2 ports were attacked and fires caused at both places. Crews of 4 aircraft attacking oil stocks at Magdeburg report that all their bombs hit the target, starting a fire. About 100 fires were started.
started in the Hartz Mountains, and many others in the Black Forest area, and elsewhere; accompanying explosions indicate that ammunition dumps had been set off.
