DEPARTMENT OF STATE
WASHINGTON

March 10, 1944

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT:

1. Permission to request occupational deferment has been refused in the cases of 16 Foreign Service officers.

2. 308 out of 821 Foreign Service officers are under 38 years of age. If allowed to stand, the above action will lead to the loss of further young officers, reducing the strength of the Foreign Service to only 513 if all officers of military age are lost. The 821 officers now available leave us understaffed even at the present time.

3. Entirely aside from the draft situation, the Foreign Service today is 39 under its authorized strength. No Foreign Service examination has been held since Pearl Harbor and recruiting is therefore practically closed. The Service loses on an average from deaths and retirements 25 officers a year and the President has asked that an additional number be retired.

4. It is around the experienced officer that the expansion needed to meet war and post-war needs must be built. The average Foreign Service officer has studied from 4 to 6 years in preparation for his career. Foreign Service officers of military age have had from 2 to 15 years experience in the field. No effective substitute can be found for this experience.

5. The shortage of younger Foreign Service officers for obvious reasons is particularly acute and it is these officers who are needed in many of the areas which will be liberated by the Army and at other difficult posts in the Service which have definite importance in the war and post-war periods.

6. It is essential that all Foreign Service officers be deferred.

2. THE REVIEW COMMITTEE of the War Manpower Commission approved only 11 deferments, for 90 days only, out of 78 requested for men over 30 years of age. All other requests were disapproved.

IV.

IV. A Critical Situation - Reconsideration of Recent Action Is Imperative.

SIR

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 27, 1944

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT.

15 more cases of Foreign Service officers, whose deferments have been disapproved by the Review Committee, have come over on appeal from the State Department.

I am holding them up pending your decision on the other 16 Foreign Service officers. You will recall that originally you disapproved deferment for all except one. Subsequently thereto Secretary Hull and Assistant Secretary Shaw discussed the cases with you.

These new cases are practically the same as the old ones now under consideration by you and when you have made up your mind on those, it will be a simple matter to apply the decision to the new ones.

In reply refer to
FA

March 25, 1944

The Honorable,
Judge Samuel I. Rosenman,
Special Counsel to the President,
The White House.

Sir:

Reference is made to my discussion with the President on March 16, 1944, concerning the appeal made by the Department in its letter to him of February 9, 1944, in connection with the disapproval by the Review Committee of the War Manpower Commission of a number of Foreign Service personnel, including sixteen Foreign Service Officers. At that time I also discussed the cases of the twelve Foreign Service Officers disapproved by the Review Committee on March 13, 1944, and that of Mr. Walter John Stoessel, Jr., Third Secretary at the American Embassy at Caracas disapproved by the Review Committee by letter of March 8, 1944. In the Department's letter of February 9, 1944, the general position with reference to the need of retaining these indispensable officers was set forth. Individual letters of appeal covering each of the sixteen Foreign Service Officers listed as an enclosure to the Department's letter of February 9, 1944, were later submitted to you. There are now attached brief statements giving the personal data on each of the thirteen Foreign Service Officers subsequently disapproved by the Review Committee.

The general position of the State Department with reference to the indispensability of its professional Foreign Service Officers by reason of their training, experience, and general competence in order to carry out the heavy volume of the Department's war-connected work and particularly the acute shortage of junior officers has been covered in the Department's letter of February 9, 1944, and discussed with the President and with you orally.

There is,

There is, however, one special feature in connection with these refusals that requires discussion in further detail. The fact that, of the thirteen Foreign Service Officers subsequently disapproved by the Review Committee, all but two are serving at posts in Central and South America indicates that scant importance is attached to the war-connected character of the Department's work in those areas. While this work is, of course, known to you, I believe a brief summary would perhaps make the position clearer.

The Axis powers, particularly Germany, had been largely successful in obtaining a real foothold in the other American Republics in commerce, air transportation and finance. They had also built up strong organizations and political blocs ideologically in sympathy to the Nazi cause, geared and ready to carry out Nazi plans of establishing bases of operation against the United States. The establishment of Nazi controlled governments in certain of the other American Republics confronted us as a real danger. The Department's diplomatic and consular officers have been and still are the spearhead of our efforts to eliminate Axis influence. Measures and recommendations adopted at the Third Meeting of Foreign Ministers held at Rio de Janeiro immediately after Pearl Harbor have resulted in a previously undreamed-of measure of cooperation from the other American Republics. This achievement has been based largely on the work of the Foreign Service. The Nazi effort is still a real threat as is evidenced by recent developments in Argentina and Bolivia, and by spy activities on a large scale recently disclosed in Brazil, Chile and elsewhere. To combat this and to secure the maximum continued contribution from the other republics a strong, experienced, competent foreign service staff is indispensable.

The contribution to the prosecution of the war that has been and still is being made by most of the other American Republics is great. Extensive military and naval facilities have been granted in connection with the creation and operation of bases for our Army, Navy, and Air Forces and the establishment and operation of the United States Air Transport Command route to Africa. Without the facilities in the Caribbean and along the northeast coast of South

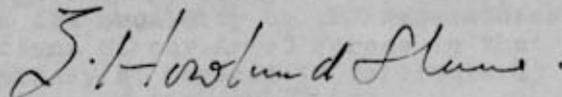

America

America for the prompt and efficient service and supply of our warships and transports, it would be impossible to ferry to North Africa the planes, personnel, and equipment for our operations in North Africa and Italy. The Governments of most of the other republics have wholeheartedly cooperated in the suppression of Axis subversive activities. The other republics are contributing a vast amount of strategic materials, many of them unavailable elsewhere, urgently needed for war production, to mention a few, copper, tin, tungsten, antimony, quinine, zinc, lead, balsa wood, platinum, manganese, rubber, and vegetable oils.

In achieving this result the work of the Department's Foreign Service has been and continues to be indispensable. Through the Foreign Service are conducted all negotiations regarding purchase agreements, concessions of a military and naval character and countless questions that arise in the implementation of this program. In this work the Department's responsibilities are great. They cannot be carried out by any other agency of the Government.

The Department maintains that particularly in view of the urgency of this work, the shortage of trained professional officers already decreasing in number by losses due to deaths and retirements, and the impossibility of recruiting additional personnel for the duration, the contribution that these officers, relatively few in number, are making in their present work to the prosecution of the war is much greater than it would be likely to be in the armed forces.

Very truly yours,

G. Howland Shaw

ADDRESSED TO

Judge Rosenman

BERNBAUM, Maurice Marshall Foreign Service Officer (FS-239)
Third Secretary of Embassy, Caracas, Venezuela $3500

Age: 34 (February 15, 1910)

Married: no children

Appointed: November 16, 1936

Education: Harvard, S. B., 1931; University of Chicago;
Northwestern University. Majored in Economics.

Languages: French, Spanish and German.

Previous Experience: Accountant with private firms and the Treasury Department. Immediately prior to his appointment in the Foreign Service he was engaged as an Economist with the U. S. Tariff Commission.

Selective Service Status: II-B (Expired March 17, 1944)

State Department Service: Assigned as Vice Consul to Vancouver, 1936; Foreign Service School, January to June, 1938; Vice Consul to Singapore, June, 1938; Third Secretary of Embassy, 1942, Caracas.

Mr. Bernbaum has had over seven years experience in the Foreign Service. He is now on duty in the Economic Section of the Embassy. He does research work and prepares reports upon the production and supplies of strategic war materials and on financial and banking matters. Because of its importance as a producer of strategic materials for the war effort, such as petroleum, industrial diamonds and platinum, and because of its proximity to the Panama Canal and the extensive operations of our Armed Forces in that area, the work of our Embassy at Caracas is particularly important in the prosecution of the war.

BRANDIN, Robert Mead Foreign Service Officer (FS-228)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul, Embassy, Madrid, Spain
Salary, $2500

Age: 25 (March 2, 1919)

Single

Date of Appointment: December 1941

Education: Princeton University, A.B., 1940

Languages: Spanish and French

Selective Service Status: II-A (Expired March 15, 1944)
On same date, March 15, 1944, he was placed in Class I-A by Local Board. Letter drafted by State Department to Local Board on March 21, 1944, noting an appeal in order to protect its right of appeal.

State Department Service: Mr. Brandin passed the written Foreign Service entrance examination shortly before Pearl Harbor and, pending the necessary procedures in connection with his appointment as Foreign Service Officer, was appointed clerk and assigned to the American Embassy, Madrid, in December 1941. He was appointed Foreign Service Officer on February 20, 1942 and later commissioned as Third Secretary of Embassy and Vice Consul at Madrid.

Mr. Brandin's chief duties consist of the handling of applications submitted by Spanish firms to import American goods. This work is part of the United States program of economic warfare. Mr. Brandin makes recommendations which are forwarded to Washington for consideration by the Department of State and by the Office of Exports of the Foreign Economic Administration. Our relations with Spain have been critical and the work of the Embassy has been almost wholly directly concerned with the prosecution of the war. The work, which Mr. Brandin is doing with marked competence, requires a sound knowledge of Spanish economy and the ability to make discriminating appraisal of the applications submitted, in the light of American policy towards Spain.

BRANDON, Howard Randolph Foreign Service Officer (FS-156)
Vice Consul, Embassy, La Paz, Bolivia $2500

Age: 29 (April 17, 1914)

Married: June 2, 1941

Appointed: August 25, 1942

Education: Emory University, 1932-33; University of Georgia,
A.B., 1935; Grenoble University, France, 1935-36.

Languages: French and Spanish

Previous Experience: Taught French, University of Georgia, 1936-37; timber business, 1937-38; oil business, 1938-40;
Instructor at United States Naval Academy 1940-42.

Selective Service Status: II-B (Expired March 8, 1944)

State Department Service: Vice Consul, Montreal, Canada,
1943; Vice Consul, La Paz, Bolivia

Because of the complicated political situation in Bolivia and the delicate character of our relations with that country, it would be particularly unwise to weaken the officer staff of our Embassy at this time. Moreover, since the United States Government does not at present accord recognition to the Bolivian regime, it would not be possible to conclude arrangements for the assignment of a replacement officer, if one were available, should Mr. Brandon be called to active duty in the armed forces. He makes investigations and prepares reports on economic matters, such as production and availability of strategic raw materials for the United States war production.

CLOUGH, Ralph N. Foreign Service Officer (FS-197)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul,
Embassy, Tegucigalpas, Honduras. $2750

Age: 27 (November 17, 1916)

Married: November 1, 1941

Appointed: March, 1941

Education: Lingnan University, Canton, China, 1936-37;
University of Washington, B.A., 1939; graduate work in history, economics and law, 1940-41; Fletcher
School of Law and Diplomacy, M.A., 1940.

Languages: Spanish and German

Selective Service Status: II-A (Expired March 1, 1944).

State Department Service: Assigned as Vice Consul at Toronto, Canada, March 26, 1941; Third Secretary and Vice Consul, Embassy at Tegucigalpas, Honduras,
March, 1942.

Mr. Clough is in charge of cultural relations work of the Embassy and also supervises visa, passport and invoice work. The strict examination of all evidence presented by applicants for visas or for American passports, under existing wartime regulations is essential to prevent the entering into the United States persons whose real purpose would be to engage in subversive activities. The cultural relations program is essential in securing the continued cooperation of the other American republics in the prosecution of the war.

ESTES, Thomas S. Foreign Service Officer (FS-251).
Vice Consul and Secretary, American Mission, Algiers, Algeria.
Salary, $2500.

Age: 31 (January 23, 1913).

Married: December 4, 1938.

Appointed: December 30, 1937.

Education: United States Marine Corps, clerical school, and private tutoring for Foreign Service.

Languages: French.

Selective Service Status: II-A (Expires April 2, 1944).

State Department Service: Mr. Estes was appointed as clerk in the Foreign Service in December, 1937, and assigned to the American Legation, Bangkok, Siam. He was appointed a Foreign Service Officer, November 28, 1942, on the basis of his excellent work in the service, and his passing the prescribed examination. Since December, 1942, he has served at Algiers.

Mr. Estes is Assistant Administrative Officer in the American Mission at Algiers, a combined diplomatic and consular office. He is also Assistant Administrative Officer of the Civil Affairs Section of the Allied Forces Headquarters. The work of our Mission at Algiers, the headquarters of the North Africa Military Operations and of the French Committee of National Liberation is almost wholly directly connected with the prosecution of the war.
Because of his experience of over six years in the Foreign Service and his demonstrated ability, Mr. Estes is making a very essential contribution to the work of the Mission.

KRIEG, William L. Foreign Service Officer (FS-794)
Now en route from Consulate General, Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa, to his new post, Vice Consul in the American Embassy, Caracas, Venezuela.
Salary, $3500.

Age: 30 (October 11, 1913).

Married: February 6, 1943.

Appointed: April 6, 1938.

Education: Dartmouth College, A. B., 1935; Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, A. M., 1938.

Languages: French and German.

Selective Service Status: Registered in Lagos; not yet classified.

State Department Service: Appointed Vice Consul, Stuttgart,
Germany, April, 1938; attended Foreign Service School,
Department of State, last half of 1939; Vice Consul, Milan, Italy, February, 1940; appointed Vice Consul at Lagos, October, 1941, (While on duty at Lagos, was temporarily assigned for a short period in the middle of 1942, to Accra, Gold Coast, West Africa.); March, 1944, assigned as Vice Consul to American Embassy, Caracas, Venezuela. Now en route to Caracas.

Mr. Krieg has been a professional Foreign Service Officer for almost six years, having served as Vice Consul at the several posts just mentioned. He has thus acquired a solid background of Foreign Service experience. It is expected that at Caracas he will be engaged chiefly in work connected with the Trading with the Enemy Act, including the handling of applications and licences under that Act and the making of investigations and recommendations for the inclusion in or the removal from the Proclaimed List of Certain Blocked Nationals of individual firms or persons.

LOBENSTINE, James C. Foreign Service Officer (FS-271)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul at the Embassy, Bogota,
Colombia.
Salary, $2500.

Age: 26 (February 27, 1918).

Married: One post-Pearl Harbor child.

Appointed: May 12, 1942.

Education: Yale University, B.A., 1940; M.A., 1942, in International Relations.

Languages: French and German.

Selective Service Status: II-B (Expired March 1, 1944).

State Department Service: Since his appointment in May, 1942, he has served as Vice Consul and Third Secretary at Bogota.

Mr. Lobenstine assists the Counselor of Embassy for Economic Affairs in research and investigation and in the preparation of economic reports. The work of the Embassy at Bogota is very closely connected with the war effort by reason of the strategic situation of Colombia close to the Panama Canal, the actual operations carried on by the U. S. Army, Navy and Air Forces using Colombian bases, and because of the important contributions made by Colombia of strategic materials such as quinine, platinum, and petroleum products.

ROSS, Claude G. Foreign Service Officer (FS-155)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul, Embassy, Quito, Ecuador.
Salary, $3000.

Age: 26 (October 26, 1917)

Married: One post Pearl Harbor child.

Date of Appointment: July 12, 1940.

Education: Los Angeles Junior College, graduate; University of Southern California, B.S., 1939, majored in Foreign Service.

Languages: French, Spanish, and Greek; also, German.

Selective Service Status: Classification II-B (Expired
March 8, 1944).

State Department Service: Vice Consul at Mexico City,
July, 1940; Foreign Service School, Department of State,
August to December, 1941; Third Secretary and Vice Consul at Quito, December 1941; Vice Consul at Guayaquil,
May, 1942; Third Secretary and Vice Consul at Quito, June, 1942.

Mr. Ross is at present charged with certain consular work at the Embassy, the examination of applications for American passports and for visas. He also assists as Administrative Officer. He prepares certain of the Embassy's communications to the Ecuadoran Foreign Office and assists in the gathering of political information and the preparation of political reports.

SANDS, William Langdon, Jr. Foreign Service Officer (FS-200)
Vice Consul in charge of American Vice Consulate, Corumba, Brazil. Salary, $2500.

Age: 27 (April 2, 1916)

Single

Date of Appointment: May 21, 1942.

Education: Florida Southern College, A. B., 1936; Columbia University, summers 1937, 1938; Georgetown School of Foreign Service, 1939-40.

Languages: French, Spanish, Portuguese.

Previous Experience: Research Assistant, Library of Congress, 1940-41.

Selective Service Status: II-B (Expired February 19, 1944).

State Department Service: Assigned to the Department upon appointment; attended October 1, to October 29, 1942,
the Foreign Service School in Wartime Economic Work;
proceeded to post to assume charge of Vice Consulate.

The Vice Consulate at Corumba was opened for purely war connected reasons. It is important as a listening post with particular reference to developments in Bolivia.
It lies near the Bolivian border and, due to the critical character of our relations with Bolivia and The Argentine and Nazi inspired movements in those countries, Mr. Sands has been extremely useful to the Department in obtaining information in that part of Brazil, the Province of Matto Grosso, and in the section of Bolivia which lies near the border at that point. Due to the isolation of this section of Bolivia from La Paz, Mr. Sands has, by his alertness in establishing contacts with Brazilians and with Bolivians who travel to Corumba, furnished the Department with much valuable information not available from La Paz.

SCHMITT, Herbert F. Foreign Service Officer (FS-362)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul, Embassy, Bogota,
Colombia.
Salary, $2750.

Age: 26 (June 14, 1917).

Married: Two pre-Pearl Harbor children.

Date of Appointment: March 20, 1941.

Education: Colgate University, B.A., 1939, majored in History and Political Science.

Languages: French, German, and some Spanish.

Previous Experience: One year as accountant and one year
as commercial agent for telephone company.

Selective Service Status: Classification II-A (Expires
April 7, 1944).

State Department Service: Upon his appointment in 1941, he was assigned Vice Consul at Quebec, Canada; he attended the Foreign Service School in Wartime Economic Work given at the Department of State, October 1 to October 29, 1942. He then proceeded to his new assignment as Third Secretary and Vice Consul, American Embassy, Bogota, Colombia.

Mr. Schmitt is assigned to the Economic Section of the Embassy. He makes analytical studies involving considerable amount of research and prepares reports on economic subjects, such as the production and availability of strategic raw materials for United States war production. He assists in the investigation of individual firms and persons in connection with the Proclaimed List of Certain Blocked Nationals and makes appropriate recommendations for the inclusion of firms in that list.

SIRACUSA, Ernest V. Foreign Service Officer (FS-153)
Vice Consul, Consulate, La Ceiba, Honduras.
Salary, $2750.

Age: 25 (November 30, 1918).

Married: One child, born November 17, 1942.

Appointed: March 20, 1941.

Education: A.A., Fullerton Junior College, 1938, History and Economics; A.B., Stanford University, 1940, majored Economics and Political Science.

Languages: Spanish.

Selective Service Status: II-B (Expired February 26, 1944).
Classified I-A, March 2, 1944; the Department wrote to his Local Board March 10, 1944, noting an appeal in Mr. Siracusa's case in order to protect its right of appeal.

State Department Service: Shortly after his appointment in March, 1941, he was assigned as Vice Consul to the American Embassy, Mexico City, and shortly thereafter
he was also appointed Third Secretary of Embassy.
In May, 1943, he was assigned as Vice Consul in charge of the American Consulate, La Ceiba, Honduras.
He is assisted by another Vice Consul, an Officer of the Foreign Service Auxiliary. As officer in charge of the Consulate, he is responsible for the performance of all consular activities and in addition a large volume of work directly connected with the war effort.
This includes preparation of economic and political reports, the supervision in accordance with the U. S. Navy instructions of the movements of small craft from the port, work in connection with developing sources of supply in the district of strategic materials needed for U. S. war production, investigation and reports on local firms and persons suspected of Axis activities with reference for inclusion on the Proclaimed List of Certain Blocked Nationals.

STOESSEL, Walter J., Jr. Foreign Service Officer, $2750 (FS-139)
Third Secretary of Embassy, Caracas, Venezuela

Age: 24 (January 24, 1920)

Single

Appointed: February 20, 1942

Education: Lausanne University (Switzerland) 1939-1940;
Stanford University, A.B. Political Science 1941

Languages: French and Spanish

Previous Experience: Production control work for aircraft corporation, 1941

Selective Service Status: Mr. Stoessel was classified by his Local Board I-A on August 25, 1943. The Department appealed on September 7, 1943 and submitted the usual DSS Form 42 and Supplement. The Local Board informed the Department on February 11, 1944 that he had been classified I-A by the Board of Appeal by unanimous vote. The Department on March 2, 1944 wrote to the Chairman of the Review Committee of the War Manpower Commission, setting out all the facts of his case and requesting authorization for the Department to request the State Director of Selective Service for California to have his case reconsidered by the State Board of Appeal. On March 8, 1944 the Chairman of the Review Committee wrote the Department, stating that the Review Committee, on the basis of the facts presented, was unable to approve his deferment.

State Department Service: Shortly after his appointment, Mr. Stoessel was assigned as Vice Consul at the American Embassy, Caracas, Venezuela. He was later also commissioned as Third Secretary of Embassy.

Mr. Stoessel's chief duties at the Embassy have been the making of investigations and the preparation of political reports. This work is particularly important because of the situation in the Caribbean and Venezuela's proximity to the Panama Canal. Extensive United States Army and Navy operations are carried on in Venezuela, requiring constant attention from the Embassy in connection with the making of necessary agreements or arrangements and the settlement of the numerous questions which arise. For a period of about six months in 1943, Mr. Stoessel was temporarily detailed to assume charge of the Vice Consulate at Puerto de la Cruz. As the officer in charge of that post and the only officer on duty, he has gained experience in practically all phases of consular work and wartime intelligence work.

TRIOLO, James S. Jr. Foreign Service Officer $2750 (FS-238)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul, American Embassy, Bogota, Colombia.

Age: 29 (April 18, 1914)

Married: February 22, 1942

Appointed: March 20, 1941

Education: Stanford University, A.B., 1935; A.M., 1936;
University of Hawaii, 1937; University of California,
1939; University of Panama, 1940

Language: Spanish

Previous Experience: Superintendent of Schools, Berkeley, California, 1938-1939

Selective Service Status: II-B (Expired: March 22, 1944)

State Department Service: After appointment he was assigned Vice Consul at the American Embassy, Bogota, Colombia and later was also commissioned as Third Secretary of Embassy. In October 1943 he was assigned on temporary detail to take charge of the American Consulate at Buenaventura, Colombia for a period of about six months.
He is at the moment still in Buenaventura, but orders have been issued for him to return to his permanent post on or about April 20, 1944.

Mr. Triolo's duties at Bogota have been concerned chiefly with the administration of the Proclaimed List of Certain Blocked Nationals for the Bogota Consular District. This work involved extensive investigations concerning the operations and activities of suspected firms or individuals and close liaison with the British Legation in Bogota. Mr. Triolo was ordered to Washington to attend the Foreign Service School in Wartime Economic Work held in the State Department October 1 to October 29, 1942. He has acquired a good all-around competence in consular work and in wartime economic work. Because of his record he was in October 1943 assigned on temporary detail to take charge of the American Consulate at Buenaventura, Colombia. As the only officer at that post, he has been responsible for the performance of all normal consular functions.
His most important activity, however, is in connection with the war shipping activities of Buenaventura, the most important port of Colombia as far as imports into that country are concerned. It is also important in connection with the obtaining of intelligence information, there being a fairly large German community there.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT.

In connection with the attached, I had another long talk with Mr. Shaw.

There are now 821 Foreign Service officers. 303 of them are under the age of 38. The Department expects to ask for the deferment of all of them. Mr. Shaw contends that the Foreign Service must be kept intact for present and future service in foreign affairs; that it should be treated differently from all the other agencies and none of them should be drafted.

You will recall that on February 22, 1944 when I discussed some 13 of these deferments with you in the presence of Mr. Stettinius, you were only willing to allow one deferment. That was for one man in Ciudad, Bolivar in Venezuela. Then Mr. Hull spoke with you and you went over it with him and with Mr. Shaw separately.

I suggested as a possible compromise to Mr. Shaw that we permit deferments only in the case of men who are fathers and over 30 who have had at least 5 years' experience in the Foreign Service.

He declined, however, and the best he was willing to do was to allow no deferments under the age of 26.

I cannot believe that a man is irreplaceable, at least for the duration, who has had less than 5 years' experience. As I see it, it is not only the importance of the Foreign Service; we must also consider the fact that you have not permitted exemption from your Executive Order to any agency and if it is allowed for the Foreign Service the other agencies will naturally feel aggrieved.

What shall I do about it?

S. I. R.

P. S. With respect to the deferments in the rest of the State Department, I am going over them one by one with Mr. Shaw and Mr. Puryear, the Chairman of the Review Committee.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
WASHINGTON

In reply refer to
FA

April 7, 1944

The Honorable

Judge Samuel I. Rosenman,
Special Counsel to the President,
The White House.

Sir:

With further reference to the appeals which the Department has made against the disapproval by the Review Committee of the War Manpower Commission of the requesting of occupational deferment of certain Foreign Service officers, there is now submitted an additional appeal against the Review Committee's adverse decision in the case of 25 additional officers. Individual data sheets on these officers are attached. These cases were disapproved by the Review Committee on March 23 and on March 25, 1944.

The position of the Department and its urgent need of retaining these professional Foreign Service officers has been fully covered in the Secretary's letter to the President of February 9, 1944, in my letter to you of March 25, 1944 and in oral discussions with the President and yourself. The situation has now reached a point where unless the importance of the Department's work and that of the Foreign Service to the prosecution of the war is recognized, the Department cannot adequately carry out its statutory responsibilities.

Because of its inability to obtain Selective Service clearance the Department is now unable to send to such vitally important offices as Chungking, Madrid and Algiers urgently needed Foreign Service officers.

Replacements

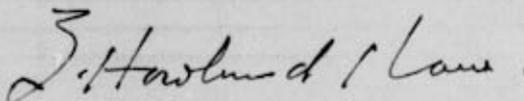

Replacements are unavailable. The work can be performed only by competent officers with some years of experience.

The number of Foreign Service Officers whose occupational deferment stands disapproved by the Review Committee totals 54, including the 16 appealed on February 9, and the 13 covered by my letter to you of March 25, and the 25 now presented. These 25 include 3 officers, Messrs. Davenport, Fluharty and Fritzlan for whom the Review Committee approved occupational deferment for 90 days only. Since continued occupational deferment is disapproved, they are in effect disapprovals. As of March 15, 1944, the total number of male Foreign Service Officers was 816 of whom 303 are under 38 years of age (two have died during the past week). Of these 303, occupational deferment is now disapproved for 54. Those disapproved include one officer 34 years of age with over 7 years experience, Mr. Maurice M. Bernbaum; another officer 36 years of age with over 5 years of service, Mr. Vernon L. Fluharty. Experienced professional Foreign Service officers have for some time been insufficient in numbers to meet existing demands. These demands are increasing, as for example by reason of the opening of offices recently at Palermo and Naples, and the necessity of increased staff at such places as Algiers.

If the present trend continues and unless some action is taken to enable the Department to retain the services of its professional Foreign Service officers, the Department will simply be unable to perform its essential war-connected work.

Very truly yours,

G. Howland Shaw
Assistant Secretary of State and Chairman of Committee on Occupational Deferments

MEMORANDUM FOR

S. I. R.

I would go ahead with the Foreign Service officers on the present basis -- and tell the State Department that if any additional exception ought, in their judgment, be made, they will have to get it passed me as an exception.

1. I would give no deferment to anybody with less than five years experience in the Foreign Service.

2. I would give no deferments to non-fathers thirty years old or less.

You might tell Howland Shaw that I honestly cannot treat the State Department in this matter in a manner wholly different from other government departments. I must have their cooperation in working out individual cases. Like so many other things in life, I expect the State Department to meet me half-way.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Honorable C. Howland Shaw
 Assistant Secretary of State

 Honorable Edgar Puryear
 Review Committee on Deferment
 of Government Employees

In re: Foreign Service Officers of the State Department

The President has decided these various appeals
as follows:

(1) No deferments are to be granted to any of the Foreign Service Officers who have less than five years of actual experience in the Foreign Service.

(2) In addition to the foregoing, no deferments should be granted to non-fathers (pre-Pearl Harbor) who are less than thirty years of age.

In other words, in order for a Foreign Service
Officer to be deferred he must be a pre-Pearl Harbor
father, past his thirtieth birthday and in addition must have had no less than five years of actual experience in the Foreign Service. Those fulfilling these conditions are to be deferred.

I shall submit the other cases in the State
Department to the President as soon as possible.

Very sincerely,

SAMUEL I. ROSENMAN

MEMORANDUM FOR

THE SECRETARY OF STATE

I have the greatest sympathy with the problem of deferments among State Department employees. The real fundamental difficulty is that I have the same feeling about some other classifications of Government employees and that there is just as much to be said for their deferment as there is for full deferment of State Department employees.

There are certain things of which I am pretty sure. As for instance:

- (a) Boys who have had less than five years experience in the State Department ought not to be deferred.
- (b) Boys who are not pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, under thirty, ought not to be deferred on the ground of parenthood.
- (c) Boys who are now doing the kind of work that an intelligent girl could do equally well in a few months ought not to be deferred.

There is a rule of reason in this. I am not getting cooperation toward compromise out of my old friend, Howland Shaw. His attitude is too much that he will compromise if he gets his way 100%. I am perfectly willing to take up individual cases but of the ones I have gone over a large number do not rate deferment. I do have to think of the effect on other departments.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON April 5, 1944

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT.

In connection with the attached, I had another long talk with Mr. Shaw.

There are now 821 Foreign Service officers. 303 of them are under the age of 38. The Department expects to ask for the deferment of all of them. Mr. Shaw contends that the Foreign Service must be kept intact for present and future service in foreign affairs; that it should be treated differently from all the other agencies and none of them should be drafted.

You will recall that on February 22, 1944 when I discussed some 13 of these deferments with you in the presence of Mr. Stettinius, you were only willing to allow one deferment. That was for one man in Ciudad Bolivar in Venezuela. Then Mr. Hull spoke with you and you went over it with him and with Mr. Shaw separately.

I suggested as a possible compromise to Mr. Shaw that we permit deferments only in the case of men who are fathers and over 30 who have had at least 5 years' experience in the Foreign Service.

He declined, however, and the best he was willing to do was to allow no deferments under the age of 26.

I cannot believe that a man is irreplaceable, at least for the duration, who has had less than 5 years' experience. As I see it, it is not only the importance of the Foreign Service; we must also consider the fact that you have not permitted exemption from your Executive Order to any agency and if it is allowed for the Foreign Service the other agencies will naturally feel aggrieved.

What shall I do about it?

SM
S. I. R.

P. S. With respect to the deferments in the rest of the State Department, I am going over them one by one with Mr. Shaw and Mr. Puryear, the Chairman of the Review Committee.

April 4, 1944

My dear Mr. President:

The tenuous status of Foreign Service and Departmental personnel under Selective Service practices to which I invite your immediate attention demands definitive decision.

On February 9, 1944 I appealed to you the decision of the Review Committee disapproving occupational deferment for 13 Foreign Service and 70 Departmental officers. The Department's Agency Committee had then already disapproved asking for deferments to the point where loss of efficiency is actually being experienced both at home and abroad. The Committee has also endeavored to anticipate Selective Service requirements in establishing recruiting standards.

The Review Committee has now disapproved a total of 54 requests for occupational deferments of Foreign Service officers. The pattern is clear. It is apparent that the entire complement of 303 such officers of military age similarly will be withdrawn for induction. This number constitutes 37% of the entire professional service. Requests for deferment of subordinate and auxiliary personnel have likewise been refused. Now even retention of 4-F appointees is rendered uncertain. Neither the Foreign Service nor the Department can continue to function denuded of its seasoned personnel. Improvements will be impossible. Indeed, I doubt if there can be maintained a semblance of efficiency in conducting activities vital to the prosecution of the War.

In view of this rapidly deteriorating situation, I must emphasize that the problem is no longer one of blindly subordinating our foreign relations program to the limitless requirements of the armed services for men. A point has now been reached in the depletion of experienced personnel where we are clearly faced with the decision: whether the Foreign Service is vital to the war effort; and whether the reorganization and expansion of the Department is a necessary condition of a successful program of foreign relations in the momentous months that lie ahead.

Intelligent action requires experienced and skilled personnel. Other of the United Nations have recognized this as fundamental. Without similar recognition we shall fail. I ask your effective aid and early decision.

Faithfully yours,

The President,

Cordell Hull

The White House.

MEMORANDUM FOR

S. I. R.

I would go ahead with the Foreign Service officers on the present basis -- and tell the State Department that if any additional exception ought, in their judgment, be made, they will have to get it passed me as an exception.

1. I would give no deferment to anybody with less than five years experience in the Foreign Service.

2. I would give no deferments to non-fathers thirty years old or less.

You might tell Howland Shaw that I honestly cannot treat the State Department in this matter in a manner wholly different from other government departments. I must have their cooperation in working out individual cases. Like so many other things in life, I expect the State Department to meet me half-way.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Honorable C. Howland Shaw
Assistant Secretary of State

Honorable Edgar Puryear
Review Committee on Deferment
of Government Employees

In re: Foreign Service Officers of
the State Department

The President has decided these various appeals
as follows:

(1) No deferments are to be granted to any of the Foreign Service Officers who have less than five years of actual experience in the Foreign Service.

(2) In addition to the foregoing, no deferments
should be granted to non-fathers (pre-Pearl Harbor) who are less than thirty years of age.

In other words, in order for a Foreign Service
Officer to be deferred he must be a pre-Pearl Harbor
father, past his thirtieth birthday and in addition must have had no less than five years of actual experience in the Foreign Service. Those fulfilling these conditions are to be deferred.

I shall submit the other cases in the State
Department to the President as soon as possible.

Very sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR JUDGE ROSENMAN

In connection with your memorandum of April 8th setting forth the President's decision concerning the deferment of Foreign Service officers, we shall, of course, have to prepare a circular telegram to our missions and consulates abroad. Before drafting this telegram, I want to be perfectly sure that we have accurately understood the President's decision. Basing ourselves on your memorandum, our understanding is that all Foreign Service officers who have passed their 30th birthday are to be deferred on condition that they have had five years' experience in the Service and that no Foreign Service officer who has not attained his 30th birthday may be deferred unless besides having had five years' experience in the Foreign Service he is also a pre-Pearl Harbor father. If you would confirm this understanding of ours, I should be much obliged.

Title and Salary: Specialist on Eastern European Political Affairs,
Division of Territorial Studies, $4,600

Present Work:

Mr. Campbell is a specialist on Eastern Europe with particular reference to developments and conditions in Poland, the U.S.S.R., Rumania and Albania. He is responsible for the preparation of studies and recommendations relating to the war and to post-war settlements for presentation to the Secretary of State and the President and for negotiation with other governments, such as documents for the Moscow Conference, and documents for submission to the European Advisory Commission; and serves as expert adviser to officials of the Department and other departments and agencies, including representation of the Division at interdivisional and inter-departmental meetings.

Other Factors:

(1) Studies and policy recommendations worked out in the Eastern Hemisphere Division are utilized intensively by special Departmental committees charged with making policy proposals to the highest officials of the Department. Commonly they are further used in certain inter-departmental committees on which the War and Navy Departments are represented. In due course, such recommendations are transmitted by the Division to the Committee on Post-War Programs and to the Secretary of State for reference to and decision by the President. Certain of these studies are utilized by the representatives of the United States abroad in presenting the policy of this Government in negotiations with other governments.

(2) The possibilities of securing a replacement for Mr. Campbell with sufficient experience to engage in work on the urgent political problems of the countries to which he is assigned are very remote because eligibles are no longer available outside the armed forces.

Title and Salary: Acting Assistant Chief, Division of World Trade Intelligence, $5,600

This includes encouraging the other American Republics to adopt controls insuring hemispheric solidarity in our general economic warfare program against the Axis, and the development and execution of ways and means of eliminating Axis corporate spearheads in Latin America.

Other Factors: Period of training as Foreign Service officer at Montevideo. Duties at this post involved financial control and Proclaimed List activities. In addition, this work brought him into intimate contact with Latin American problems, business matters and governmental control measures. Mann is one of the few officers in the Division who has had first hand experience in the field on the hemispheric economic warfare programs.

Total Experience: 4 years, 4 months
Experience in Department: 4 years, 4 months
Experience Related to Present Work: 4 years, 4 months

Title and Salary: Assistant Chief, Division of World Trade Intelligence, $4,600

Present Work: Shares with Chief responsibility for carrying out the general functions of the Division, which are the elimination of Axis firms and activities which could be of assistance to the Axis in neutral countries and in the other American republics. These functions are accomplished, primarily, by (1) application of the Proclaimed List of Certain Blocked Nationals which prohibits to firms on the list the use of United States' export and financial facilities, (2) administration of the Confidential List of Undesirable Consignees which results in denying United States' exports to the firms involved, (3) administration, in conjunction with the Treasury Department, of the Treasury List of Special Blocked Nationals which results in the freezing of all funds of a firm in the United States, (4) stimulation and assistance in the formulation and application of local controls by other countries, and (5) various methods of pressure and control. This program is currently in one of its most critical and difficult phases and its ultimate success in permanently eliminating the influence of Fascist elements and spearhead firms is dependent upon the maintenance of a vigorous program.

Other Factors: Mr. Swihart studied for five years in European countries and has had highly specialized training in international finance.

The Division has a staff of 94 including 30 officers of which 4 (including those whose deferments are requested) are the key officers. The remaining officers are of inferior or intermediate status and none of them possess the necessary qualifications for a key position. The Division has previously lost heavily in its key positions by the draft.

The work is highly specialized and the holding of a key position requires experience in this field. Those with the requisite experience (numbering not more than 25) have been carefully combed and there are no draft-free persons available.

He instructs our foreign Missions with regard to negotiating with other American republics in the enactment, revision and application of local control laws pursuant to the Rio and Washington Conferences whereby the activities of enemy firms and individuals may be kept in check. He attends meetings of the Inter-departmental Committee on the Proclaimed List in order to advise that Committee as to financial, economic, and political conditions within the countries under his jurisdiction and to substantiate recommendations formulated by his staff as to proposed additions to or deletions from the Proclaimed List.

Other Factors:

Mr. King's work in the United States Embassy at Buenos Aires, Argentina, on Proclaimed List matters has afforded him the opportunity to witness first hand the effects of the Proclaimed List and other confidential lists on the blocking of Axis. firms and individuals in Latin America which knowledge has proven invaluable to the development of the Division's programs. Few officers in the Department outside of those on active duty in the Foreign Service possess comparable experience.

assigned to the American Consulate at Mombasa, Kenya,
East Africa on February 3, 1944.

As the second ranking officer at Mombasa, Mr. Bogardus assumes charge during the temporary absence of the principal officer. The Consulate works in close cooperation with representatives of other United States Government agencies stationed there, namely, the War Shipping Administration, the Foreign Economic Administration, and the United States Naval Liaison Officer. Mombasa is an important port by reason of its situation with reference to United Nations' operations in that general area. The Consulate is responsible for the supervision as far as policy matters are concerned of the operations of other United States Government representatives and for the taking up with officers of the Colonial Government of all questions which arise from our operations in the district.

materials such as pyrethrum needed in the war effort.

BURDETT, William C. Foreign Service Officer (FS-196)
Vice Consul and Third Secretary, American Embassy, Madrid, now in the United States awaiting Selective Service clearance to proceed to post, $2500.

Age: 25 (October 25, 1918)

Single

Appointed: June 10, 1941

Education: Princeton University, A.B., 1941

Languages: Spanish and Portuguese

Selective Service Status: II-A expired March 1, 1944.

State Department Service: After his appointment as Foreign Service Officer Mr. Burdett was assigned as Vice Consul, American Consulate General at Guayaquil, Ecuador. In January, 1944, he was assigned as Third Secretary and Vice Consul, American Embassy, Madrid. He has just arrived in the United States en route to his new post and will proceed as soon as Selective Service clearance is obtained.

At Guayaquil Mr. Burdett had charge of the Proclaimed List work in the Guayaquil area. He also worked in the section of the Embassy handling Decentralized Export Control matters. This involves working closely with the Embassy at Quito and the close examination of all applications from prospective importers in the Guayaquil area for permits to import from the United States. The applications are checked from the view point of the essentiality of the transaction and the good faith of the consignee in order to prevent exports from the United States going to firms with Axis sympathies or connections. Mr. Burdett is being assigned to Madrid because of the urgent need of junior officers for the war-connected work of the Embassy. He will be engaged chiefly in economic work. Because of the difficult character of our relations with Spain, the United States Government's attitude on the question of exports to Spain and with reference to other economic questions is very closely geared to the bearing of these questions on the prosecution of the war.

Under the Decentralized Export Control plan, the Embassy works very closely with the agencies of the Dominican Republic in order to assure that the country receives its minimum essential

the preparation of requirements reports showing the needs of the country for a large number of industrial commodities the data being used as a basis for allocations by the War Production Board.

* Mr. Catlett was previously classified IV-F on the basis of the loss of his right eye. The Local Board, however, in September,

State Department Service: Mr. de Zengotita has served at Habana

signed to La Paz in August, 1943.

Mr. deZengotita is engaged in economic work with particular reference to the procurement of strategic materials needed for United States war production. In this connection he acts as liaison officer with the Bolivian Office of Economic Defense. He also serves as administrative officer of the Embassy, this requires a thorough knowledge of diplomatic and consular work. Because of the non-recognition by the United States of the present Bolivian regime it would be unwise to reduce the officer staff of the Embassy at this time.

contribution to the war effort. Requirements reports containing detailed data regarding the country's needs of a large number of scarce commodities with special attention to intended use are prepared by this office. The Decentralized Export Control Unit works very closely with the Bolivian Government examining all applications to import from the United States checking use and consignees. Approved requests are forwarded for action in Washington by Foreign Economic Administration in granting or denying export licenses.

the object being to assure the supply of the minimum essential needs of the other American Republics in order to maintain economic stability and enable each country to make its maximum contribution to the war effort. Requirements reports containing detailed data regarding the country's needs of a large number of scarce commodities with special attention to intended use are prepared by this section. The Decentralized Export control 1941-1942.

Selective Service Status: II-B expires April 11, 1944.

State Department Service: After passing in September, 1941, the difficult entrance examination for the Foreign Service,
Mr. Hanson was appointed a Foreign Service Officer on February 20, 1942, and very shortly thereafter was assigned to Stockholm, Sweden, where he has since served.

Mr. Hanson works in the Special Reporting Section of the Legation. Because of its locality and neutral status and the fact that a very considerable amount of civilian travel still exists between Sweden and Germany and German occupied Europe, Sweden is a most important source of political, military and economic information regarding Germany and occupied territories.
Mr. Henderson is particularly charged with obtaining information and preparation of reports concerning conditions in Germany and Norway. His knowledge of Swedish, French and German is particularly helpful in this work. Information is obtained from all available sources. Mr. Hanson interviews returning travelers.
The work requires skillful approach, ability to establish contacts and to appraise information received. The information so obtained is of marked interest and value to the Department and to the military authorities.

HENDERSON, Douglas Foreign Service Officer (FS-296)
Vice Consul in charge of the American Consulate at

Consul at Nogales, Mexico, at Arica, Chile, and since November, 1943, at Cochabamba, Bolivia, where he is in charge of the Consulate.

While Mr. Henderson is responsible for the performance of all consular functions, his chief work is in wartime economic operations. Cochabamba lies in the center of the United States Rubber Development Corporation operations in Bolivia and is also an important source of cinchona production. Mr. Henderson is responsible for the supervision of the work of the representatives of other United States Government agencies -- Rubber Development and the Foreign Economic Administration as far as policy matters are concerned and for the handling of all questions with the Bolivian Government officials that arise in connection with our operations there. There is also a considerable amount of American citizenship and protection work to be done. Political reporting of the office is also of importance particularly under the present disturbed conditions in Bolivia, Cochabamba being the seat of a military school which exercises an important influence on political movements. The present Bolivian Government is not recognized by the United States and the work just described requires skillful and experienced handling.

1940-1941

Selective Service Status: II-A expired March 1, 1944.
Local Board wrote March 3, 1944 asking for request for occupational deferment, if desired. Department on March 13, 1944 wrote Board, stating case had been approved by Department's Agency Committee but not yet by the Review Committee.

State Department Service: After appointment as Foreign Service Officer in March 1941, assigned as Vice Consul at Montreal. In March 1942, assigned Third Secretary and Vice Consul at American Legation, Beirut, Lebanon.

The Legation at Beirut is a combined office performing both diplomatic and consular duties. The strategic geographical position of Beirut, together with the confused and delicate political situation there resulting from conflict of various national and racial groups, makes the work of the Legation particularly important with reference to United Nations military operations in the Near East. Mr. Henry's chief duties are in the consular section. He is in charge of American citizenship and passport work, the protection of American citizens, and visa work. The number of American citizens living in Lebanon is relatively large and under wartime regulations, this work must be handled with particular care. Mr. Henry also prepares political reports.

LUEDERS, Duane Bernard Foreign Service Officer (FS-381)

Paraguay, $2500

Age: 24 (September 21, 1919)

was made Divisional Assistant in the Department of State in February 1942. Upon his appointment as Foreign Service Officer, he was assigned Vice Consul at Montevideo in June 1942. In May 1943 he was assigned as Third Secretary and Vice Consul at Asuncion, Paraguay.

The Axis influence with headquarters in the Argentine is still active in the neighboring republics, as is evidenced by recent developments in Bolivia and by efforts still active in Paraguay. Mr. Lueders assists in the Proclaimed List work of the Embassy. He also is in charge of certain consular work, including documentation of merchandise, the protection of American citizens, American passport and citizenship work, and visa work.

Education: Brown University, B.A., 1938

Language: French

Previous Experience: Marketing research for manufacturing corporation, 1939-1940

Selective Service Status: II-B expires April 7, 1944

State Department Service: Upon his appointment as Foreign Service Officer in July 1940 he was assigned Vice Consul at Montreal. He attended the Foreign Service School in the Department in the latter half of 1941 and was thereafter assigned as Vice Consul at Lagos, Nigeria. Early in 1943 he was assigned Vice Consul at Accra, Gold Coast, West Africa, and in October 1943 was assigned to Cairo
as Third Secretary and Vice Consul.

The work of the Legation at Cairo, a combined office performing both diplomatic and consular functions, is closely connected with the prosecution of the war, Cairo being the headquarters of United Nations combat operations in the Near East. It is also the headquarters of the Middle East Supply Center, a combined United States-United Kingdom organization.
The chief function of this organization is the handling of all civilian supply questions covering a very wide area, including Malta, the Middle East, and various parts in Africa, including Abyssinia. The maintenance of economic stability and the keeping of the various political areas in the Middle East aligned with the United Nations war effort are particularly complicated. Mr. McSweeney handles visa work, American passport and citizenship work, and the certification of consular invoices.

O'NEILL, W. Paul Foreign Service Officer (FS-279)
Vice Consul at American Consulate, Tunis, Tunisia, $2750

Age: 28 (July 18, 1915)

Married: May 25, 1941, one child born January 2, 1943

Appointed: March 20, 1941

Education: Princeton, A.B., 1938

Language: French

Selective Service Status: II-A expired March 4, 1944. Local Board informed the Department on February 29, 1944 that the case was being reopened. Department replied that his case had not yet received approval of Review Committee.

State Department Service: Upon his appointment as a Foreign Service Officer, Mr. O'Neill was assigned as Vice Consul at Winnipeg. In July 1943 he was assigned Vice Consul at Tunis.

Mr. O'Neill is the second-ranking officer in the Consulate and in the temporary absence of the principal officer, assumes charge. A considerable part of the work of the office consists of close cooperation with the representatives of other United States Government agencies in Tunisia, the State Department representatives being responsible for the seeing that their operations conform to our political policies. Mr. O'Neill is in charge of the visa and American passport and citizenship sections of the office.

There is a considerable amount of work in connection with the protection of Americans and American property in the district. Important also is work arising from the fact that Tunis is a base of combat operations, necessitating the handling of many questions with our armed forces and with local government officials.

State Department Service: Upon his appointment as Foreign Service Officer in January, 1940, he was assigned Vice Consul to Mexico City. During the first six months of 1941 he attended the Foreign Service School in the Department and in June, 1941 was assigned Vice Consul at Nairobi, Kenya, East Africa.

As the second ranking officer at the post Mr. Palmer assumes charge of the Consulate General during the temporary absence of the principal officer. He assists the Officer in Charge in the preparation of political and economic reports. Kenya is important as a source of strategic materials needed for war production such as sisal, pyrethrum and tantalite. The Consulate General is responsible for the general supervision as far as policy is involved of the operations of the representatives of United States Government agencies in the colony, also all representations and discussions with government officials regarding purchasing programs, etc. Mr. Palmer does a large amount of special work in connection with the obtaining of effective publicity of Office of War Information material in British East Africa. He is also in charge of visa work, American passport and citizenship work.

SANDERS, Terry Bentley, Jr. Foreign Service Officer (FS-160)
Third Secretary and Vice Consul at the Embassy, Mexico,
D.F., Mexico, $2500

Age: 26 (November 18, 1917)

Married: April 8, 1942 - no children

Appointed: October 14, 1940

Education: Yale, A.B., 1939; Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, M.A., 1940

Languages: Spanish

Selective Service Status: II-B expired March 1, 1944, classified I-A by Local Board on March 24, 1944. On April 3, 1944, Department wrote Board noting an appeal until the question of requesting occupational deferment for him is clarified.

State Department Service: Mr. Sanders since his initial appointment in the Foreign Service has served as Vice Consul at Riohacha, Puerto de la Cruz, Managua and since August, 1943, as Third Secretary and Vice Consul at Mexico City.

Mr. Sanders is chief assistant of the officer in charge of the consular section of the Embassy. In addition to its purely local work, the Embassy is responsible for the supervision of the twenty-five consular establishments in Mexico. Mr. Sanders is also in charge of the invoice and notarial section of the Embassy. Because of his fluent knowledge of Spanish and his understanding of consular work, he is particularly useful and could not be replaced except by an experienced man.

SPEER, James Paul, II Foreign Service Officer (FS-25)
Secretary, American Mission, New Delhi, India, also commissioned as Vice Consul, American Consulate General, Calcutta, India, $2750

Age: 26 (October 13, 1917)

Married: November 20, 1940; one pre-Pearl Harbor child

Appointed: March 20, 1941

Education: George Washington University, 1935-1941

Language: Spanish

Selective Service Status: II-A expired March 29, 1944, classified I-A March 16, 1944 by Local Board. Department wrote Local Board on March 18, 1944, noting an appeal pending clarification of the requesting of his occupational deferment.

State Department Service: After his appointment in March, 1941, as Foreign Service Officer, Mr. Speer was assigned as Vice Consul, later also Third Secretary at Mexico City. Assigned as Vice Consul at Valdivia, March, 1942; as Vice Consul at Arica, September, 1942, and in September, 1943, assigned as Secretary, American Mission, New Delhi, India.

The work of the American Mission at New Delhi is almost wholly directly connected with the prosecution of the war. Due to the presence of United States armed forces in India, a large number of urgent matters must be taken up by the Mission with the Government of India and with military headquarters in that area. Mr. Speer handles administration and American citizenship matters, passport and protection work and performs such other work of the Mission as is assigned to him.

USHER, Richard Ellison Foreign Service Officer (FS-167)
Vice Consul, Consulate, Colombo, Ceylon, $2750

Age: 24 (April 15, 1919)

Single

Appointed: February 20, 1942

Education: University of Wisconsin, B.A., 1941

Languages: German and French

Selective Service Status: II-B expired on February 19, 1944.
On February 25, 1944, classified I-A by Local Board to which Department on March 2, 1944, noted an appeal pending clarification of the requesting of his occupational deferment. Order to report for preinduction physical examination issued March 6, 1944.

State Department Service: Upon his appointment as Foreign Service Officer in February, 1942, Mr. Usher was assigned as Vice Consul at Winnipeg. In March, 1943, he was assigned Vice Consul at the American Consulate at Colombo, Ceylon.

As the second ranking officer at Colombo, Mr. Usher assumes charge of the office during the temporary absence of the principal officer. The United Nations' combat operations under Lord Louis Mountbatten, Commander-in-Chief of East Asia operations and his Deputy Chief-of-Staff, General Wedemeyer, United States Army, have created a heavy volume of work for the Consulate at Colombo directly connected with the prosecution of the war. For security reasons this cannot be discussed in detail. Mr. Usher's duties include all the shipping work of the office involving the signing on and discharging of members of the crew of vessels of American registry, the relief and repatriation of American seamen and the handling of all other problems connected with the expeditious movement of American merchant marine vessels and the most effective use of available cargo space. Mr. Usher also prepares economic reports.

MARCY, Oliver M. Foreign Service Officer (FS-371)
Vice Consul, Consulate, Arica, Chile, $2500

Age: 24 (April 30, 1919)

Married: February 13, 1942, no children

Appointed: October 1, 1941

Education: Amherst College, A.B., 1940; Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, A.M., 1941

Languages: French and Spanish

Selective Service Status: II-B expired April 1, 1944. On March 30, 1944, classified by Local Board in IV-F.
IV-F based on missing index finger and middle finger on right hand. Right leg shorter than left.

State Department Service: After he had, in the last half of 1941, passed the Foreign Service entrance examination, but before appointment as a Foreign Service Officer, Mr. Marcy served as Vice Consul at La Paz, Bolivia. Mr. Marcy was, in February 1942, assigned as Vice Consul at La Paz. Assigned to Arica in January, 1944, as Vice Consul.

Mr. Marcy is the only officer on duty at Arica and is therefore required to perform all consular functions, shipping, American passport and citizenship, visa work, etc. The office was opened because of war-connected reasons. A large volume of inward and outward Bolivian cargo moves through Arica. This includes tin and metal ores for United States war production and lumber from the United States for Bolivian mines. The district has an active German colony and a Spanish Falangist party. There is thus a considerable amount of political intelligence and Proclaimed List work. There has been some smuggling from Peru of strategic materials on behalf of Axis agents that has required watching, the Chile-Peru border being close to Arica.

BYRNS, Kenneth Antrim Foreign Service Officer (FS-125)
Vice Consul, Port Elizabeth, Union of South Africa, $2750

Age: 32 (February 18, 1912)

Married: February 18, 1933

Appointed: March 20, 1941

Education: Colorado State College of Education, B.A., 1930-1933; San Diego State College, M.A., 1939-1941; Foreign Service.

Languages: French and Spanish

Previous Experience: Teacher, Hugo, Colorado, 1933-1935; Commanding Officer, C.C.C., 1935-1936; teacher, Rifle, Colorado, 1936-1937.

Selective Service Status: II-B until May, 1944.

State Department Service: After his appointment as Foreign Service Officer in March, 1941, Mr. Byrns was assigned Vice Consul, Nogales, Mexico, and in November, 1941 appointed Third Secretary, American Embassy, Mexico City. In July, 1942, he was assigned Vice Consul, Vera Cruz, Mexico, and in May, 1943, he was assigned Vice Consul at Port Elizabeth, Union of South Africa where he has since served.

The Consulate at Port Elizabeth is staffed by two officers. Mr. Burns assumes charge in the temporary absence of the principal officer. While he performs a wide range of duties his chief work is the handling of shipping, of American passport and citizenship matters, and visa work. Because of its location, Port Elizabeth is a most important port in war connected shipping. Mr. Byrns prepares reports on movements of ships and cargo through the port and handles all consular work relating to shipping such as signing on and discharging of American seamen, relief and repatriation of American seamen and various other services. The examination of all documents presented in connection with claims of American citizenship or applications for visas must be handled with particular care in order to prevent the entry into the United States of persons who might engage in subversive activities.

HAWKINS, Richard Hays, Jr. Foreign Service Officer (FS817)
Vice Consul, Consulate General, Sydney, Australia, $3500

Age: 31 (March 22, 1913)

Married: April 23, 1938, two children (one pre-Pearl Harbor)

Appointed: March 2, 1939

Education: Yale University, A.B., 1934; Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques, diploma, 1936.

Languages: French

Previous Experience: Parke, Davis and Company, Detroit,
November 1938-March, 1939.

Selective Service Status: Registered abroad -- registration not yet completed.

State Department Service: Upon his appointment as Foreign Service Officer in March, 1939, he was assigned Vice Consul at Vancouver. He attended the Foreign Service School, Department of State, in the last half of 1939;
assigned Vice Consul, Brisbane, June, 1940; he was in December, 1940, assigned Vice Consul at Sydney, Australia, where he has since served with the exception of a period of about two months -- November and December, 1941 when he served as Vice Consul at Melbourne.

Sydney is an important base of United States combat operations in the South Pacific. There have been for sometime in the Sydney area large numbers of American armed forces. The work of the Consulate General is almost entirely and directly connected with the prosecution of the war. Mr. Hawkins' chief duties consist of liaison work with the United States Navy Headquarters in Sydney and the coordination of war shipping administration activities in the Sydney Consular district. The volume of United States merchant shipping carrying war important cargo both in and out of the port is very heavy and the Consulate General renders important service in expediting the movement of shipping. Mr. Hawkins is in charge of all work at the Sydney office relating to shipping and seamen. While these are his main duties, the staff of the office must function as a team and Mr. Hawkins performs many other duties including close work with the representatives in Sydney of the Foreign Economic Administration and the Office of War Information.

OLDS, Herbert Vincent Foreign Service Officer (FS-285)
Vice Consul, Embassy, Buenos Aires, Argentina, $3500

Married: June 26, 1937. Two pre-Pearl Harbor children, one post-Pearl Harbor child.

Appointed: July 8, 1937

Education: Harvard University, A.B., 1934; Columbia University, 1936

Languages: French and Spanish

Selective Service Status: II-B expires May 5, 1944

State Department Service: Since his appointment in July, 1937,
Mr. Olds has served as Vice Consul at Habana, Rotterdam, and since September, 1941 at Buenos Aires. He has had six and one-half years experience as a Foreign Service Officer.

Mr. Olds is in charge of the Shipping Section of the Con-sulate General and of the Visa Section. Because of the difficult character of our relations with the present government of the Argentine, the work of the Embassy is directly concerned with the checking and elimination of Axis influences which is centered in the Argentine and endeavoring to expand in the neighboring republics, Bolivia, Paraguay and Chile. The handling of shipping involves many complicated problems including the most effective use of available cargo space for the shipment in both directions of cargo, the movement of which is important to the war effort. Particular care must be taken in the handling of applications and visas in order to prevent the entrance into the United States by false documents of persons endeavoring to enter the United States to engage in subversive activities.

1940, and Vice Consul at Karachi, India since July, 1942
(was interned by the Japanese immediately after Pearl Harbor, released on the first exchange ship from Japan about June, 1942)

Mr. Davenport's chief duties consist of the preparation of frequent reports of the stocks of strategic materials which are moved through the port of Karachi. He handles all American merchant marine shipping matters at the port. He also handles all work connected with the administration of United States Import Controls, such as Order M-63 which provides that certain strategic materials may be imported to the United States only when consigned to an agency of the United States Government.
He also handles work connected with financial controls including arrangements for the return to the United States of all United States Treasury checks cashed in the consulate district by members of the United States armed forces. Because of the presence of our armed forces in India the work of our consular offices in India is closely connected with the prosecution of the war.

Foreign Service School, Department of State, July to December, 1939. Assigned Vice Consul and Third Secretary, American Embassy at Bogotá in January, 1940; assigned Vice Consul at Medellin, Colombia, July, 1941.

As Officer in Charge of the Consulate, Mr. Fluharty is responsible for the performance of all consular duties. Because of Colombia's proximity to the Panama Canal, the large contribution that it is making in supplying strategic materials to the United States and the large degree of aid that it is giving to United States armed forces operating in that area and from Colombian bases, the work of our offices in Colombia is very closely connected with the prosecution of the war. Mr. Fluharty handles all negotiations with local government officials regarding the procurement of strategic materials. The Medellin consular district is a most important source of platinum urgently needed for war production. It also supplies important quantities of rubber. The city is an important political, financial, and industrial center. Mr. Fluharty also handles a large amount of Proclaimed List work since the number of persons in that locality of German nationality and German extraction is large.

Languages: French, some Arabic and Persian

Selective Service Status: Registered abroad -- registration not yet completed. Review Committee on March 23, 1944, approved occupational deferment for 90 days only.

State Department Service: Mr. Fritzlan on his appointment as a Foreign Service Officer in July, 1938, was assigned as Vice Consul at Naples. He has since served at Baghdad, Tehran, and since August, 1942, as Vice Consul at Basra, Iraq.

The work of the Basra Consulate is almost entirely concerned directly with the prosecution of the war. Basra is the port through which all United States Lend-Lease supplies to Russia pass which are sent via the Persian Gulf route. This involves a heavy amount of work on the Consulate. Mr. Fritzlan is the second ranking officer of the post and in the temporary absence of the principal officer assumes charge. He handles all shipping matters at the port, the volume of which is heavy and the movement of ships must be expedited as much as possible. He also prepares political reports. It is vitally important that Iraq be kept aligned with the United Nations because of its strategic location. Early in the war German efforts and propaganda were particularly strong; while the situation is now under control constant alertness is essential. Mr. Fritzlan also handles American passport and citizenship matters, and visas.

MEMORANDUM FOR JUDGE ROSENMAN

In connection with your memorandum of April 8th setting forth the President's decision concerning the deferment of Foreign Service officers, we shall, of course, have to prepare a circular telegram to our missions and consulates abroad. Before drafting this telegram, I want to be perfectly sure that we have accurately understood the President's decision. Basing ourselves on your memorandum, our understanding is that all Foreign Service officers who have passed their 30th birthday are to be deferred on condition that they have had five years' experience in the Service and that no Foreign Service officer who has not attained his 30th birthday may be deferred unless besides having had five years' experience in the Foreign Service he is also a pre-Pearl Harbor father. If you would confirm this understanding of ours, I should be much obliged.

G. Howland Shaw.

ASHEVILLE
NORTH CAROLINA

Thursday

Dear Tom

Thanks for your letter and all the news. I think the best way to send mail here is by ordinary mail. Air-mail goes way down to South Carolina. There seems to be only one train a day to Asheville from Washington; so if a letter is mailed there in the morning, it ought to make that train. A special delivery stamp will keep.

About the Shaw memo to me: I think my memo may be ambiguous. Please tell ✓ him I'm down here & ^{please} send ^{me} a copy of the President's memo on this subject, dated, I think, April 8 i.e. the one to me (with respect to (not to Hull)

Foreign Service Officers. Better call Puryear too and tell him about this memo from ✓ Shew and that I'm in process of clearing up the ambiguity in my memo^{to show him} x

Do not bother to phone Bell, for I have a copy of that letter as you say.

I'm distressed about Mr. Lehman's son. It is not in the local paper. I'll watch him.

Please send me that Droopie ✓ material when it comes.

Thanks for the look for Dorothy.

Did you phone the garage?

We are enjoying this quiet place &
the weather is grand. I assure you that Price, Candler et al are on the job - all the time. They send you all their love.

Hope you had a nice time on ~~with~~ your visit North.

We have been kept more than busy by "Honey Chile" Lee's husband, wonderful. I feel like a new man.

Kitty, please type the letter
on the next page and sign my name

Also send a copy to Mr Puryear with

~~Memorandum for Asst. Secy. Mr. Howland Shaw~~

Mr. Howland Shaw
Dept of State
Washington DC

Dear Mr Secy.

Replying to your memo of April 11, 1944, I have reexamined the President's memorandum ~~concerning~~ concerning the Foreign Service Personnel, and I believe that my memo of April 8 was ~~ambiguous~~. My ~~understanding~~ understanding is correct, viz:

1) All Foreign Service Officers who have passed their 30th birthday are to be deferred if they have had five years actual experience in the Foreign Service.

2) ~~Foreign~~ No Foreign Service Officer under 30 shall be deferred unless, in addition to ~~five~~ five years actual experience in the Foreign Service, he is also a pre- Pearl Harbor fatter.

I would appreciate it if you would send me for my files a list of those Foreign Service Officers who, under these tests, are to be deferred and those who are not to be deferred.

Thanking you for your courtesy,
Very etc.

Dear Mr. Shaw:

Thank you for your letter of April twenty-seventh, enclosing list of Foreign Service officers who do not meet the requirements laid down by the President for deferment.

With respect to the last paragraph of your letter, I do not know whether you know that the Selective Service System has made provisions to register and examine medically and induct men overseas without the necessity of bringing them back. I should strongly urge that this be done with respect to all of these men because a substantial percentage of them will probably not pass the physical examination and need not be returned. Those who do pass can be inducted abroad without the necessity of bringing them back -- although, of course, their families will have to come back.

Very sincerely,

SAMUEL I. ROSENMAN

President

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE
WASHINGTON

April 27, 1944

Dear Judge Rosenman:

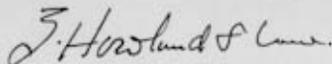

I enclose a list of those Foreign Service officers who under the tests confirmed by your letter of April 20, 1944 are to be deferred; and of those officers who failed to meet the criteria. In all, 124 Foreign Service officers will eventually be lost to the Department under the directive of the President, while the Department may seek deferment of the remaining 167 officers meeting the prescribed tests.

The Department will immediately endeavor to recruit replacements for the officer personnel not meeting the deferment requirements, and funds will be asked of the Congress to permit of the return of the individual officers concerned, their families and effects, and to cover transportation costs incident to the replacement program.

Yours sincerely,

Enclosures:

Lists.

Foreign Service

April 20, 1944

Dear Mr. Secretary:

Replying to your memorandum of April 11, 1944, I have reexamined the President's memorandum concerning the Foreign Service personnel.

Your understanding is correct, viz:

(1) All Foreign Service Officers who have passed their thirtieth birthday are to be deferred if they have had five years actual experience in the Foreign Service.

(2) No Foreign Service Officer under thirty shall be deferred unless, in addition to five years actual experience in the Foreign Service, he is also a pre-Pearl Harbor father.

I would appreciate it if you would send me for my files a list of those Foreign Service Officers who, under these tests, are to be deferred and those who are not to be deferred.

Thanking you for your courtesy,

Very sincerely,

SAMUEL I. ROSENMAN

MEMORANDUM FOR JUDGE ROSENMAN

Subject: Deferment of Robert J. Ryan

I should greatly appreciate a favorable decision on the deferment of Robert J. Ryan for a period of six months only from April 1, 1944. The Department definitely does not contemplate any extension of this deferment beyond the period stated.

Mr. Ryan is Chief of the Classification Section in the Department's Personnel Division. He is directing a comprehensive job classification survey of the entire Department involving about 3500 positions. This work is vital to the reorganization of the Department with which you are familiar and the importance of which I am sure you recognize.

Mr. Ryan is the only person available who has the necessary combination of job classification and Department experience plus administrative ability which is required to direct this survey effectively. He now has three assistants but all three are subject to induction in the near future.

It is strongly felt that the loss of Mr. Ryan at this time, in addition to the loss of his three assistants, would set back the reorganization by six months. This set-back would seriously interfere with the Department's whole program during a period when, as you know, the Department can ill afford any such risk.

Message from Mr. Puryear:

The Review Committee met today with Mr. Frank of the State Department. They feel that they have reached an agreement with the State Department on the regular personnel.

Mr. Puryear would like the files returned, so they can be marked.

If Puryear finds that State disagrees on any of them, he will return the files to you.
