LONDON, JAN. 30, 1942

FROM: LORD BEAVERBROOK.

TO: THE PRESIDENT.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT:

THIS DAY SIXTY YEARS AGO WAS INDEED GOOD FOR MANKIND, AND WITH ANOTHER TWO OR THREE DECADES TO GO THE LIGHT OF LIBERTY IN YOUR CARE WILL BURN BRIGHTLY AGAIN. HOW FORTUNATE WE HAVE BEEN ALWAYS IN FINDING OUR LEADER WHEN THE WAY GROWS DARKER AND THE NIGHT SEEMS VERY LONG.

Dear Stanley:

I think it will interest you to know that the family papers to which you so generously contributed for my birthday are now safely out of the hands of speculators and book dealers and I am having special slip cases made for them. It was a wonderful thing to get them back into the family again, because they give a very accurate picture of what the sugar business was over about seventy years — from 1750 to 1820.

I was made very happy by your helping me to do this. Ever so many thanks.

Always sincerely,

Dear Mr. Burke:

On behalf of all the birthday group, I am writing this line to tell you how much we all appreciate your fine cooperation in our efforts to get for the President that lovely Chippendale hanging shelf as a birthday gift. Mr. Hegarty and his associates did a perfectly grand job and the President was enormously pleased with the result.

You are more than generous to want to give the amount of the bill to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis fund and I shall see that it is done.

With my grateful thanks to you, Mr. Hegarty and all who gave of their time so unstintingly, believe me, very sincerely yours,

Dear Miss Tully:

Mr. Hegarty just informed me that the Chippendale Hanging Shelf met with the approval of the President and the donors, and it is a great satisfaction to us to know that we were helpful. While I realize that the transaction must of necessity be handled on a business basis, you can well imagine that under the circumstances it is not easy to arrive at a price, and I believe the best approach would be to send you a bill for $50.00 and when you have collected this amount from the group turn it over to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

I hope you find this proper, and I enclose herewith a bill for the above amount.

Sincerely yours,
Best wishes.

Dear Grace:

Enclosed I am sending you a check for $7.50 as my share towards the President's birthday gift. It was another grand party, and I enjoyed seeing "the gang" again. Despite the fact that several of us are in Washington most of the time, I rarely see any of the crowd from one year to the next.

By the way my younger son has become interested in the stamp collection which Billy started and kept up to the time of his death, so that if you run across any extra or duplicate stamps I would be pleased to have them. "The Rabbit" used to send me some occasionally when Billy was alive, and he got a great kick out of them.

Diane asked to be remembered to you. She and the children are still in Spring Lake, N.J. but I manage to get home about once a month. With all best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Grace,

I am sorry to have delayed sending you the check for our share in the President's birthday present, but as you know we have only just returned from Florida. — Thank you so much for again selecting such an attractive gift, and including us in the giving of it.

He did have a wonderful rest and come back full of vim, vigor, and sunshine, all ready for the Washington fray.

Affectionately yours,

Dear Miss Tully:

I received this morning your letter of February 17, 1944, and am enclosing herewith my check for $7.00 as my share in the gift to the President.

I know, as you say, that the President is delighted with the gift and I think it was excellent judgment on your part. I have heard of the efforts made and it was very nice that everything in connection with it timed so perfectly. Selection of the photograph of the President, as I said in my letter to the President, was an excellent one. It is a perfect likeness and a very beautiful picture.

With best wishes, believe me,

Sincerely yours,

Charles H. McCarthy
Dear Mr. President:

When I sent you the little birthday message, I fully intended to mention your address to the new Congress. I thought it one of the best, one of the fairest, and one of the finest things you have ever done, and that means a lot.

It was given wide publicity over here, and I wish it could have been read by every man and woman in our Allied countries.

Please don't even bother to acknowledge this --- but I just wanted to tell you.

Dear Mr. President:

We could not place on this table our birthday gift to you for 1945 - for two reasons. First, it would be too big. Second, we haven't got it.

Therefore please accept this token. It is to be placed on the back of your present Cabinet chair - as soon as we can satisfy the Government rules and regulations in regard to a replacement.

We hope the chair will bring you - for the remainder of a long and happy life - fond memories of your associations here at the White House. And we hope that you will continue to think of the members of the Cuff Links Gang with at least a fraction of the cordiality and affection which they seek to convey to you by this remembrance.

Dear Mr. President:

Just a line from your one-time Naval Aide to wish you many Happy Returns and especially to wish that the next return will be happier for all this war-torn world.

I thought your inaugural address was grand. The only thing I didn't like about it was your standing out in the weather, bare headed and without topcoat or cape. I know you are strong and rugged but I also know the treachery of the Washington climate.

These hard-headed doctors still insist on my leading a quiet and inactive life which bores me to death. However, I am feeling fine and am regaining weight, which is the best sign of all. Again, many Happy Returns and may God bless you and keep you during the difficult years ahead.

Good Evening!
This is station P D Q -- The Voice at the Capitol.
We are beginning our program tonight with a little talk in connection with the week by Former Senator Easy Money Fallguy, that noted ranch owner from the border region with whom you all are familiar. Senator Fallguy will tell you of his own experiences which have resulted in the wise buying of ranch lands in his home state, the spectacular success of his transactions having attracted national attention. The next voice you hear will be that of Senator Fallguy. Please stand by.

GOOD EVENING MY FRIENDS:

It gives me great pleasure to address you this evening on that subject which is closest to my heart -- THRIFT. All my life I have longed to be thrifty but never has opportunity presented itself until I came to know those sterling patriots, Harry P.倉倉 Seemace and Edward B McClown. It was through them I got my start and I can point with pride to the spreading acres of the dear old ranch as evidence that I got a good start. I have regarded it as only a start and if envious and malicious persons with Walrus Tusk Mustache who hails from the barren regions of Montana had not interrupted me, I would still be going strong.

It seems unnecessary to tell you of my early struggles with poverty and of the many ways in which I sought to avoid the clamor of the people of my state -- of the nation -- that I should accept high public office. There came a day, however, when I was in Washington attempting to convince gentlemen then in power there that if they would only declare war on Mexico, I would solve the Mexican problem for them and restore peace in that disordered country by adding it to my ranch. They failed then to see the wisdom of the course I proposed but as I walked down Pennsylvania Avenue I observed large vans carrying money into the Treasury Department and I then and there determined that public life was the only life for me, that opportunity was knocking at my door. So I yielded to the demand of my fellow countrymen and moved to Washington but it was a long time before I discovered where the real opportunity lay. It was in the Navy.
Department. For years under the supine policies of my political opponents there had slumbered in that Department the way to wealth. They had none of the instincts of business men. I had. They did not know a jack pot from a tea pot. I did. They had no openers. I had. With such men as Shenacure and Moglow, I had the means to open anything. I did that thriftily.

The pot I was after, now known throughout the country as Tea Pot, was found in Wyoming. It proved to be a treasure pot, not filled with gold or tea but oil -- the stuff that the world is hunting for. I have often been asked how this pot was opened. I have made many replies, none of them alike. Whose business is it anyhow? The point is that I used thrift and I advise you to use thrift in all your dealings.

As an instance of real thrift, let me cite here the fact that people still seem to be confused as to whether six or eight cows and $68,000 are the same thing. I had no doubts on that subject.
This is station P D Q - The vice at the Capitol.

You have just heard an address on THRIFT by Old Man Thrift himself. We hope you will profit by it and oil your way through life as the Senator has told you how to do.

We had hoped that the Senator would be followed in his thrift talk by that most eminent thrift practitioner, Louis McW. Howe, of Mass., New York, Albany, Washington and way stations. We have just been advised by Mr. Howe's physicians, however, that Mr. Howe discovered a few hours ago that he had made an over payment of 47 German paper marks in closing out the bank of a poker game late last week in Washington and he is not expected to recover sufficiently to be able to speak for at least a month.
In this emergency, we turned to that other great leader in the thrift movement, Mr. Simpson of Washington, he of real Scotch descent. Mr. Simpson, however, has been so deeply engaged contemplating the new pants worn by Mr. Early tonight and purchased in part at least with money wrongfully taken in Mr. Simpkins' view from Mr. Simpson in the poker session in Washington previously referred to that he could not be induced to speak on this occasion. Mr. Early promptly volunteered to fill the gap, assuring us that he knew more about thrift than all the rest of the crowd put together with the possible exception of the canny Scot from Hobart Street, Mr. McIntyre. In the interest of peace, however, the vice at the Capitol could not permit Mr. Early to get into the air at this time.

As a consolation offering, Station F D Q has asked Mr. McCarthy of the Washington poker cabinet to contribute his views. Mr. McCarthy, however, contended he could only play in NO consolation pot except at a dollar a head for the round and having NO dollars left this station has had to forego the pleasure of presenting him to its hearers as a speaker tonight. We might say that Mr. Garthy has volunteered to pay for the privilege of singing for you but that the authorities in Washington have decreed that the air should not be used for the purpose of committing atrocities against innocent listeners in.
THIS IS STATION P D Q - The Vice at the Capitol. Our program will be continued in a moment. Please stand-by.

Another voice:

Hello -- Hello -- This is station J A Z, the Detroit News, calling Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Henry Ford of this city is trying to reach Mr. Roosevelt to confirm a report he has heard that the Navy Department has decided to stop scrapping the navy itself and let Henry do it. Mr. Ford says he will gladly submit an offer similar to his generous proposals as to Muscle Shoals if Mr. Roosevelt could assure him there would be any Navy left by the time the offer could be forwarded. Mr. Ford has noticed with alarm that the Navy has begun scrapping itself in foreign waters now, not being content with the California climate.
He says that scrapping navies and putting scrap heaps on wheels is the only kind of scrapping he believes in and he want to know if his pledge of support in the coming political scrap to a red headed guy from Massachusetts should not be construed as a guarantee that he will be permitted to do all the navy's scrapping. Mr. Ford insists that he ought to get something for that pledge and understands that there are no teapot domes left to be distributed.

Station J A Z., Detroit News, Detroit, Calling Mr. Roosevelt.

This is station P D Q -- The vice at the capitol.

We regret to announce that our program must be postponed briefly as political emergencies have arisen and the politicians need the air for their own use. We will resume if there is any air left when they get through. We are doubtful there will be any as we understand that Attorney General Doughnut has just dashed off a legal opinion holding that the Washington administration has a complete legal right under the constitution to do whatever it damn please and that if it has agreed to sell the air by private contract to Will Hays for his exclusive use in the coming campaign, that sale is binding. Senator Fallguy, however, has insisted that he ought to get his in that case and final action may be deferred.
THIS IS STATION T. N. T., the Providence Journal, Providence, R. I., calling Franklin D. Roosevelt:

Wants to know if Roosevelt as an expert manufacturer of constitutions in retail, wholesale or job lots can say whether the 18th Amendment forbids sale of air to Will Hays if Hays has no more than one-half of one per cent of a chance to elect anybody by its use. Willing to pay special column rates and per centage of syndicated rights for Roosevelt's opinions on this question.

Good evening little boys and girls,
I will now tell you about a dear little girl who was named Esther by her papa and mama because she was so gentle and obedient and always did just what anybody told her to do like Queen Esther in the Bible.

Little Esther lived in a forest called New York which was very dangerous and full of wild animals like Bulls and Bears and bootleggers and taxicab drivers and other lethal creatures. At the other end of the forest there lived her grandmother who was called Granny Bole because she was full of Pep and just like Bock Beer.

One morning Esther's mamma told her, "My dear there is a basket full of stogies and turtles and some delicious free advertising that you..."
grandfather always loves to much. I want you to take it to him and don't let the wild animals get you."

"Alright Mama. I will deliver the goods per schedule," replied little Esther who had taken a business college course and always talked like an efficiency expert.

So little Esther started through the wild woods with her little basket and on the way she met some friendly woodchoppers who, because they were also prominent statesmen and politicians, were furnishing wood and dog selling. Which you know, little children, is what all statesmen and politicians spend most of their time doing.

Before little Esther they cried for we have just learned that two terrible wolves are hiding in the Senate Caves. One is called the Reed Wolf because he never read anything; and the other is called the Wolves-Wolf because he stole all the Bull out of the Balmeres to use in his speeches. They are very fierce and have eaten up... all the worlds events and leaving questions they could find and are most particularly and specially fond of that delicious piece of advertising that you carry. Set down my dear and let us tell you what to do and say if how to go and what to do and say if you should meet them.

Thank you kindly sir said little Esther if some of you would like to walk along behind me for more effect you may. But if you don't mind a perfer to follow my own poket and carry my own poket. Is anybody coming with me?

But more of the men thought they could find the time to do that and one had an accident and one had an engagement and so little Esther went on through the crowds with out them.

Now dear grandpa Bob had left his cottage that morning to go to a place called Florida which is nice and warm and very very good for cold feet. As soon as he had left the two wicked wolves hid in the house and with out knowing anything of us poor little Esther walked right in and shut the door.

Oh my dear such dreadful noises and growls and horrid noises and as came out though the windows - Even the woodchoppers heard and rushed ran to the cottage because they felt they knew just what to do -

And what little boys and girls do you think they found.

Of the two wicked wolves there were only left some patches of fur and a few teeth and there in the middle of room blood little Esther without Even her hair musted.

"Dear one" said little Esther putting her hand politely before her mouth to hide a yawn

"What a damned wariness it is to have ours wrong interpreted this way"
