Irving
March 7 1936.

Mr. M. A. Le Hand,
Private Secretary
to The President,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed herewith please find bill for the Washington Irving book, which we purchased for the President in our sale of this week. This will be forwarded by express.

We were unable to obtain the copy of ALICE IN WONDERLAND, on which he also bid, as it realized $440.

This will acknowledge receipt of the President's bids on our sale to take place March 11th-12th, being $130. for #379--NAVAL HEROES OF THE UNITED STATES, and $140. for #494 SIGNERS OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Will you please inform the President that if he really desires to obtain these, it would be necessary to raise the bids.

We would suggest that he bid $300.-350 on the collection of Autographs of NAVAL HEROES.

The document bearing the signatures of the six Signers of the Declaration of Independence, is most unusual, and should realize from $1000.-1500. We sold a similar document in 1930, bearing only five signatures, which realized $2400. If he desires to have this, we would also suggest that he raise his bid on it.

Thanking you for the above courtesies, we are

Faithfully yours,

Erica Kelly

The Company shall be promptly notified of any change of address of the lessor, or of any desired change of right of access to a safe.

In case the Company is served with any legal process which affects or in the opinion of the Company may affect property in, or alleged to be in, said space, the Company may, without incurring any liability to the parties entitled to access, suspend the right of access to the said space until it is advised by counsel of its interests.

Upon the death of any lessor, whether space is rented to one or more lessors, the Company may deny access to the leased space to all parties interested therein until the proper taxing authority of the State of New York has been notified and an opportunity given for a representative of said taxing authority to be present at the opening of the said space and all claims for taxes upon any property in said space as against the Company have been released and proper written evidence thereof received by the Company.

Where a safe is leased by a Corporation or an Association, the lessor shall file with the Company a duly certified copy of the resolution of its Governing Body designating such officers of the Corporation, person or persons who shall have access to and power to surrender the leased space. Such authority shall continue until the Company shall have received written notice of its revocation. Notice of any change of officers of the Corporation shall be promptly furnished the Company.

THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES

WHAT CHURCH LEADERS SAY

THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA

"The Federal Council of Churches is the responsible and authorized agency of cooperation . . . worthy of our most generous support in the work that it is doing with faithfulness and devotion."

ROBERT E. SPEER, Secretary, Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., New York, N. Y.

" . . . has a proven record of great usefulness in binding together the churches and making more effective the work of Christ."

JAMES CHAMBERLAIN BAKER, Bishop, San Francisco Area, Methodist Episcopal Church, San Francisco, Calif.

"I appraise the Federal Council . . . as a parish minister who has felt its strong presence in the background of my ministry. When so much Protestant ecclesiasticism is unworthy of the Master it represents, the Federal Council again and again has spoken some clear, courageous word, done some needed deed, sounded some high ethical note, and has been, in season and out of season, a rallying point for the most hopeful element in our churches. Its progress is one of the best hopes of the church."

HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK, Riverside Church, New York, N. Y.

"I have a profound and growing conviction of the value and importance of the things it has sought to accomplish."

GLENN FLINN, Presiding Elder, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Houston, Texas.

" . . . the most hopeful organization for enabling the Protestant communions to work together on the basis of a common task and to make their united influence count for Christian objectives in American life."

ALBERT W. BEAVEN, President, Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N. Y.

"It is strongly constituted and magnificently manned. It speaks with a sane, fearless voice on matters that are of great moment to us all. . . . always on the side of justice and goodwill and all who are concerned with the effective spreading of the spirit of Christ among men will rejoice in its existence."

BOYNTON MERRILL, The Second Church in Newton, Newton Centre, Mass.

" . . . always feel a greater sense of confidence in the ultimate unity of the Church when I am conscious of its existence."

LUKE WHITE, St. Luke's Church, Montclair, N. J.

" . . . the most important institution of church cooperation in American Protestantism. It is a tower of vision, a force for righteousness, an enriching fellowship, and a promise of larger Christian unity."

JUSTIN W. NIXON, Brick . Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N. Y.

" . . . always has a place in the budget of the church which I serve."

JOHN R. GOLDEN, First Christian Church, Topeka, Kansas.

" . . . helps a divided Protestantism to speak with united voice on many vital issues."

WALTER G. LETHAM, First Presbyterian Church, Muskogee, Okla.

"The work of the Council is almost indispensable to the cause of Christianity in these days."

WALLACE E. BROWN, Bishop, Chattanooga Area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Chattanooga, Tenn.

"For such uncertain days as these we need such a united religious force as the Federal Council of Churches. We dare not fail either the present or the future generations."

E. C. NANCE, First Christian Church, Tampa, Fla.

"I recognize the Federal Council's tremendous value in expressing the unified conscience of the Christian Churches in America."

CHARLES F. WISHART, President, College of Wooster, Ohio.

"A world divided against itself needs desperately the stabilizing and reconciling influence of such a movement."

JEAN S. MILNER, Second Presbyterian Church, Indianapolis, Ind.

"Unless Christians of all Communion unite in facing some of the common problems and threats which confront us, we cannot possibly hope to bring the spirit of Christ to bear upon the life of our day. The Federal Council of Churches . . . needs and should have the backing of the members of our Church and all the Churches of Christ."

HENRY W. HOBSON, Bishop, Diocese of Southern Ohio, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"I am convinced that we are fighting a losing battle unless we can consolidate our divided forces. The only practical approach toward that absolutely essential unity, as far as I can see, is through the Federal Council."

RAYMOND A. MCCONNELL, South Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I can say with real conviction that I believe the work of the Federal Council of Churches is more important now than at any time in its history and ought to be supported fully in its great work."

FRED B. SMITH, World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches, New York, N. Y.

"I believe thoroughly in the work and aims of the Council; it does what no other body of Protestant churches or groups is doing and does it well."

CHARLES O. WRIGHT, First Baptist Church, White Plains, N. Y.

" . . . has proved itself a mighty agent for the expression of the common convictions of the Protestant Churches and for uniting their efforts in matters of common concern.

This cooperative life of the Churches must be maintained."

FRANK F. GERMAN, Church of the Holy Trinity, Middletown, Conn.

"It serves as a clearing house for the thinking of Protestant America. It provides guidance and leadership, without which we cannot plan for the needs of our entire nation."

JOHN MILTON PHILLIPS, First Church of Christ in Hartford, Conn.

"I consider it one of the most potent organizations now in existence for the establishment of Christ's Kingdom."

WILLIAM L. BURDICK, Corresponding Secretary, Seventh Day Baptist Missionary Society, Ashaway, R. I.

"I am experientially of the opinion that the most dynamic movement in our churches today is the Federal Council of Churches."

CHARLES WESLEY BURNS, Bishop, Boston Area, M. E. Church, Boston, Mass.

"It has rendered invaluable service to the cause of Christ; by bringing the churches into close cooperation for social and moral welfare; by creating a spirit of fellowship which enables churches to enter into organic union; by serving as a medium for making pronouncements on great issues, social, moral, national and international; by cooperating in nation-wide evangelism and preaching missions; by establishing fellowship through outstanding men with the churches of Europe and Asia and thus fostering the sense of essential unity in Christ notwithstanding racial and national differences. The work accomplished is prophetic of still greater work to be done in the years to come."

GEORGE W. RICHARDS, President, Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church in the U. S., Lancaster, Pa.

" . . . an organization so vitally important to Christian activity in America that it should command the interest and support of all our Protestant bodies. It is needed today more than ever before."

WILLIAM S. ABERNETHY, Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C.

"From my association with the Greater New York Federation of Churches I am assured that the Federal Council of Churches meets a great need in our country. I have no interest in Church Uniformity since every Evangelical Denomination interprets in its own way the Spirit of Christ. In order that there may be a greater efficiency in the spread of the Gospel there are many common fields in which Evangelical Denominations may unitedly attain their objectives where individually they might fail."

CHARLES TREXLER, Lutheran Church of Saint James, New York, N. Y.

"In these difficult, divisive days, when one of the mightiest needs conceivable is for that spiritual unity that can integrate and empower Protestantism, it is imperative that we sustain our Federal Council of Churches at its very high level of efficiency. This cannot be done without money, interest and prayer. May we be greatly generous in all three."

HENRY H. CRANE, Elm Park Methodist Episcopal Church, Scranton, Pa.

"It would have to be characterized as a national calamity if this beneficent service had to cease from the lack of financial support, or even be hampered or curtailed."

PAUL DESCHWEINITZ, Treasurer, Moravian Missions, Bethlehem, Pa.

"The Federal Council of Churches employs the fundamental principles stressed by Marshall Foch—namely, 'Strike with a concentrated whole.' When the Church so strikes, its power is multiplied and its objectives reached."

G. BROMLEY OXNAM, President, DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

" . . . as the unifying agency of Protestant Communion, justly merits the liberal support of all serious minded Christians in these times when the voice of the Church should be clear and positive."

J. C. FISCHER, Evansville, Indiana.

"The Federal Council of Churches as a well nigh indispensable Federation of the Major Denominations doing together what can not be done so well separately has a vital claim on our support."

HENRY J. CHRISTMAN, Eden Theological Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.

"Under the present national and world conditions, I regard the Federal Council of Churches as the outstanding agency of leadership in thought and courageous action on behalf of all Christians who seek adoption of the principles of Jesus in modern life."

W. P. LOVETT, Detroit, Michigan.

Dear Miss Le Hand:-

In reply to your letter of July 14th, I am enclosing a notice which was mailed to all members of this club in March 1936, explaining an assessment adopted in February, to apply to the deficit for the calendar year 1935.

As the club received no notice of the President's desire to pay this assessment in full, his house account has been charged at the rate of $3.30 each month beginning in March. The records show that this charge was paid, for the months of March and April, and the bill about which you inquire represents the charges for May and June.
