Dear Dr. Goldmann:

Through the American Legation in Bern, the following strictly confidential message has been received for you from Dr. Reigner:

"In a gathering of various national Red Cross representatives at Intercross headquarters which I attended, President Burckhardt gave an account of his recent conversations with two high officials of German political police in Vorarlberg and with representatives of the German Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Kreuslingen on the Swiss frontier. Interross obtained the right to have permanent delegates in all camps for civil detainees on the condition that they will remain in the camps until hostilities cease and that they will follow transfers from camps to new ones. Authorization has been given for delegates to contact all detainees individually and to correspond freely with Interross delegation in Berlin. Camps will be established according to the nationality of the detainees. Jews will be assembled with their compatriots in camps of respective nationality. Interross envisages special camps for stateless people. Special Interross regional delegates will deal with detainees working in special commandos outside of the camps. Interross is now preparing collaboration of Swiss army and Swiss Red Cross delegates, particularly physicians and sanitary personnel to be sent quickly to German camps. President Burckhardt warned that, in view of recent war developments, the segregation of camps according to nationalities will not be achieved quickly. Regarding food action for war prisoners and civil detainees, Burckhardt..."
advised that three centers of distribution will be established at Lübeck, Ravensburg, and Beirut. Special block trains will go from the Swiss frontier where 290 trucks are stationed. Center for feeding camps for civil detainees will be Ravensburg. Twelve trucks are presently at disposal for civil detainees. This number is absolutely insufficient. The problem of evacuating civil detainees on exchange basis was discussed with German representatives. Definite answer is still outstanding. Evacuations through Switzerland according to categories and not per head but by nationality, women, aged people and children is envisaged. Age limits have not yet been fixed. The Germans made no reservations as to political or racial detainees to be included in these exchanges but will themselves indicate camp nationality to begin with. If the exchange scheme starts, transportation to Switzerland will be by block trains and trucks. After the meeting, Burckhardt told me personally that German political police officials assured him that Inter-cross will have large possibilities to deal with the care of Jewish detainees. Burckhardt could not obtain any accurate information concerning the German attitude toward Hury's action. My personal impression is that realization discussed plans partly already problematic because of recent war developments and that the first categories probably will be French and Belgian who might be exchanged against Germans of Allied-occupied Germany."

I am sure you will realize the strictly confidential nature of the foregoing message and that you will regard it as secret.

Very truly yours,

For your information

The attached cable has just been received from Mr. McDeielland reporting on Burokhardt's visit with the German authorities.

The main points in the Burokhardt report are as follows:

1. International Red Cross delegates will be permitted to be stationed in major camps for Schutzhäftlinge (political deportees) and prisoners of war to supervise relief distributions;

2. The Germans are willing to allow deliveries of relief by truck to political deportees irrespective of nationality or race;

3. The Germans have agreed in principle to allow evacuation of women, children, elderly and ill people irrespective of religion or race;

4. International Red Cross is planning to utilize returning prisoner of war relief trucks for evacuations.

McDeielland suggests that the War Refugee Board's most effective contribution to this double program of relief and evacuation will be (a) obtaining trucks and tires, and (b) organizing the evacuation from Switzerland of those refugees who are non-repatriable in Europe.

WAR'S END IN MONTH,
CALLED REICH'S VIEW

By Writer to The New York Times.
HAEBLINGHOF, Sweden, March 12—German officials, like Gestapo men, customs officials and censors, now estimate that the war will be over in one to two months and German villagers say the war cannot last longer than one month.

That is the consensus of several hundred British, Turks and Portuguese who have been interned in Germany for periods ranging from two and a half years down to a few weeks. These former internees arrived here from the Reich today to be repatriated from Gothenburg on board the Swedish liner Drottningholm.

The repatriates said Munich was a heap of rubble as the result of bombings, that German railways were badly disrupted and that food distribution had been upset. All agreed on the basis of what they observed and heard in the Reich that the war would be over soon.

They said German officials generally were convinced of a continued fight for one or two months more but farmers and villagers did not give the Wehrmacht and the Volkssturm more than one month.

"We cannot stand it any longer," some of them said, according to the repatriates.

The Channel Islanders said that they had a hard time in Germany, especially regarding sanitary conditions and food. It became better in December, however, after the International Red Cross intervened, they added.
Nazis Under AMG

All through the western Rhineland last week, in great cities and small towns where Allied armor had swept out the Wehrmacht, German civilians last week were under a new rule—the Allied military government. For a few hours their towns had hovered between life and death, dependent on whether the Wehrmacht tried a dogged defense, perhaps a thunderous counter-barrage, or whether it pulled out to escape entrapment. Where one day life had been ordered by proclamations of the Gauleiters or district military commanders, the notice now carried the name of General Eisenhower. The uniforms that filled the streets were khaki instead of field gray. The familiar village policeman might still make his rounds, but he wore a special brassard and was flanked by Allied MPs. It was a strange experience for a people that once saw its armies dominate all Europe and even broad reaches of North Africa. What happens is described in a radio dispatch from Drew Middletont, correspondent of The New York Times. He writes: "When the enemy is on the run and can't halt to counter-attack, the town slowly resumes a normal life once the spearhead of Allied troops has passed through." At first the town is very quiet, with most civilians in collars or sometimes shivering in raincoats. As the sounds of firing die in the distance they start to come back to the streets, usually as the first AMG team pastes up big posters on which all can read proclamations setting forth the rules by which the town will be governed.

Troops Go Through

"The shops, once fairly full of cheap and costly assorted manufactured goods, begin to open. Children stand on the curb watching the big trucks go by, gazing at the big silent men on top. Next morning, countrymen begin trying to enter the town with carts and wheelbarrows of produce. They are halted, for all travel and in particular Ger- mans while there is still fighting in the vicinity. Most German homes are well stocked with food; however, and people don't starve in the meantime."

"Germans arrested immediately for breaking the new laws are tried and convicted swiftly. A day or two of quick justice has a salutary effect in forcing people to obey the rules offered in the proclamation. Meanwhile, townspeople are by turns sullen and ingratiating as they accustomed themselves to a new way of life."
German Civilians
Fire at Americans

WITH THE ELEVENTH ARMORED DIVISION BEYOND MAYEN, March 19 (C.P.)—American troops inside the captured Rhine town of Andernach reported today that they were being fired upon continuously by civilians hiding in hills on the east bank of the Rhine.

Soldiers reported sharp small arms fire from across the river. They said they sighted several civilian snipers.

Captured Germans in Andernach have warned the Americans that six troops have donned civilian dress and are prepared to carry out small scale guerrilla warfare inside the town. However, there are no signs yet inside the city itself that civilians are using weapons.
Footpads, Thugs Prowl Streets of German Cities

By WARREN IRVIN

ZURICH, March 10.—Berlin, smoking and gutted as part of the worst punishment ever dealt to Germany, is swarming with footpads who attack anyone diliing out of the city with the least of Nazi leaders, a traveler from the Reich reported today.

The traveler, inveighed at a chance to get out of Germany, painted a graphic word picture of city where abandoned thousands live in horror and filth — and where all means of travel —

Hitler's "Tide of Blood." The present terror inside Germany surpasses anything in history, this source said, part events tide of blood unleashed by Hitters and his henchmen in a frantic effort to keep their subjects fight-e to the last man.

Food Vanishing from Markets:

Supplies of bread and potatoes, the last staple articles of food, were said to be vanishing from Berlin's markets. Many bakeries have been destroyed by Allied air attacks and, with flour scarce, the bakers are trying to hide their remaining stocks, he said.

Only a handful of the better known restaurants are still operating, with cardboard or paper for windows and dirty paper covers to replace stolen linens.

With the coming of night, Berlin swarms with footpads, mainly Wehrmacht deserters, who attack passersby, particularly anyone selling playing cards or cigarettes, now worth more than their weight in gold.

On the highways leading out of the city, hours wash away party leaders and favorites trying to flee with loot, the traveler said.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE FILES

Peter Bergson telephoned today to request that I call General O'Dwyer's attention to the fact that a message had been received to the effect that the Germans have recently separated about 150,000 Polish Jewish prisoners of war from other Polish prisoners; that this action is in violation of the Geneva Convention and that it is feared that great harm will come to these Polish Jews. Mr. Bergson requested that the Board take the matter up with the War Department in the hope that a strong message could be sent through the International Red Cross to the Germans and that retaliatory measures be threatened if the Germans refused to abide by the Geneva Convention with respect to these prisoners.

In general it can be said that according to best available information, most "schutz haftlings" (SH) capable of physical labor are being worked by Nazis at a great variety of tasks more or less directly connected with Germany's war effort. It is impossible however, to obtain any statistic on numbers actually engaged in what could be called "war work" (i.e. munition plants or war material factories). A large number of SH are being used literally as "slave labor" performing heavy physical work such as road building, debris clearing, digging of anti-tank ditches and like. Many women in Ravensbruck for instance are engaged in reconditioning used clothing shipped from extermination camps in Poland. Jewish deportees who recently reached Switzerland from the Resienstadt reported reported having worked at sewing German army uniforms and at making heavy wooden cases for machinery and like. Again at Bergenbelsen some categories of internees work while others do not.

At this time however a great many SH are inactive in terribly crowded assembly camps having been evacuated from previous camps and jobs in East.

In any special relief program for SH undertaken at this moment ICRC plans deliver parcels insofar as practically possible only to ill and exhausted SH.

National groups mentioned in Legation's 1056 February 16, comprise Jews of respective nationalities.

PARAPHRASE OF TELEGRAM RECEIVED

FROM: AMERICAN LEGATION, BERN
TO: Secretary of State, Washington
DATED: February 24, 1945
NUMBER: 1217

The following message is from McClelland for WAB.

The nineteenth of February, I had occasion to discuss with Dr. Marti, Chief ICRC Delegate from Berlin the current situation in Germany of "Schutzhaftlinge" and Jewish deportees.

See Legation's 455 of the twenty second of January, 744 of the second of February and 1159 of the twenty second of February.

It seems that the Nazis are evacuating concentration camp inmates and regrouping them in two general areas: Between Hamburg and Luebeck (with headquarters located at concentration camp of Neuengamme near Hamburg) and Munich, with headquarters at Dachau camp. It is reported by Marti that conditions of frightful crowding already existing in Neuengamme and Dachau where concentrates, who are almost all in very poor physical condition from prolonged undernourishment and mistreatment, after days on foot arrive in state of utter exhaustion. As a result of evacuation measures a great many have already died. A most convincing case for urgent need of transportation equipment was given by Marti, stating that invaluable aid could be rendered to at least some thousands if a few trucks were on hand. Marti foresees no difficulty as regards permission to distribute relief parcels on spot in such assembly camps, in view of general willingness of 38 officials to cooperate with WAB repeatedly demonstrated since
-2-1217, February 24, 10 a.m. from Bern.

January and of general state of confusion.

For Hamburg region, parcels could come from WHB stocks at Göteborg where some 220 odd thousand of our parcels are stocked still. For Munich area, parcels could be trucked from Switzerland over this comparatively short distance. At this time we have 60,000 WHB parcels in Toulon unloaded from CALLIAD II during January against which arrangement to borrow sending arrival these parcels in Switzerland could doubtless be made with ICHC.

As regards reception parcels, situation all Allied FOCUS is essentially same as that of civil detainees due to impossibility for ICHC secure adequate rail transport, although FOCUS are in better physical condition in general and less liable to die of starvation.

I take liberty of renewing my request that WHB either arrange place my disposal four or five trucks for ICHC or, if this is not practical, authorize me attempt secure them in Switzerland, in light of urgency of this critical situation. Before they would permit vehicles to leave Switzerland for utilization in Germany, the Swiss Army would doubtless request guarantee of replacement within reasonable time of at least tires, if not trucks themselves. From amounts granted ICHC for FOCUS trucks, small supply of fuel and oil could be made available.

Recommend serious and prompt consideration of this request as there are only few weeks or at most months remaining in which to take effective measures. We are positive action of this nature would serve to implement activities by Swiss officials and ICHC requested in your late messages.

HARTRISON
McGlelland sends the following for the Department and WAR.

Reference is made herewith to Legation's cable of February 22, no. 1159.

Burckhardt (B) of ICRC also informed me on February 20 that the Federal Council had very recently asked him to represent Switzerland in Paris as Minister to the French Provisional Government. Though he had emphasized exceedingly important duties that lay before him during coming critical weeks as ICRC President, his government was urging him to accept this new appointment to which the French Government had on February 18 indicated its agreement. It was stated by B that undoubtedly Professor Huber would return to Geneva at least temporarily as ICRC's President.

It was suggested by me that in view of importance and urgency of meeting Himmler in an attempt to expand and reinforce ICRC activity in Germany both as respect relief and protective measures perhaps it would be possible to postpone officially taking up his duties as Swiss Minister in Paris for a month or six weeks and keeping appointment sacred in the meantime. He answered that the matter would be discussed by him with his government.

At his suggestion I took liberty on evening of February 20 of discussing the question informally with Véron, French Chargé d'Affaires at Bern who expressed the view that B's negotiating with Himmler in behalf of political detainees and civil detainees a great many of whom are French seemed of paramount importance now. It was stated by B that he would take the first opportunity to mention the matter informally to the Swiss.

News of B's appointment was published in the Swiss press on February 22. I am now informed by B that this was due to indiscretion of certain French journalists.

At once I got in touch with B who said that again he had sent word to Himmler reiterating his wish to see the latter. I was further informed by B that the Swiss Government had agreed to four weeks postponement in his going to Paris. Therefore, it is to be hoped that B will still be able to carry through this most important mission to Germany.

Developments shall be reported.

HARRISON

DC/LIVAN 2/26/45
McClelland sends the following for the attention of the Department and the War Refugee Board.

On February 17, we delivered the letter from the Minister (referred to in the last paragraph of our 1056, February 16) to Burckhardt (b), urging ICRC to take action along lines, as follows:

1. Visits of its delegates to places of detention of all categories of Schutzhaftlinge to be increased to the greatest possible extent;

2. As substantially and as rapidly as possible to augment the number of the committee's representatives in Germany;

3. To mitigate the lot of all civil detainees and to dissuade German officials from last minute extremes, instruct its delegates to take every advantage of the mounting confusion within Germany.

The substance of B's written reply, dated February 19, is as follows:

In answer to your letter of February 16, I must in the first place stress the fact that the German Government...
ment stated in their memorandum to us dated February 1, the following:

For imperative reasons of national defense, visits to camps and places of detention where alien detainees (Schutzhaftlinge) are confined, are unfortunately at the present moment not feasible.

Our delegate, Dr. Schirmer, reported the following in a recent communication:

We have been informed by headquarters of German security policy that, in each particular instance, permission to visit concentration camps of alien detainees must be personally secured from Himmler.

The foregoing is the situation at present. An answer from Himmler concerning the place and date I can see him personally is being awaited by me. Should the interview take place, I shall spare no effort to do my utmost to secure the best result possible. The difficulty of this task is well known to you.

It is our desire to send as many delegates (to Germany) as possible, and they must be men of character.

Within the next few days, five new delegates are, accordingly, leaving for Germany. As soon as it can be arranged arranged, others will be sent by us.

The question of transportation is and will remain the decisive problem. Thousands of prisoners and detainees can starve within four days. Doubtless you are acquainted with the cable we sent to Washington (to the Secretary of State) following receipt of most recent report from Dr. Maeti in Germany (our chief delegate).

Under the present circumstances, not a moment is to be wasted. Access to camps by our delegates is dependent upon whether they bring something with them and whether they have gasoline and can still manage to travel (with trucks) on the roads. Any number of freight cars placed at our disposal would be useless, if it should be found impracticable to except two railway lines in north and south from aerial bombardment. This is all most urgent in the extreme. Any results to be secured must be obtained through large scale methods of action and sweeping decisions.

Quite often we are expected to perform miracles, which is, of course, impossible; but by exerting every nerve and applying all our will we can do something if we are furnished with certain indispensable means for execution of our task.

This concludes the reply by Burckhardt.

I had a personal meeting with B on February 20, who informed me that he had dispatched a letter to Himmler on February 17, requesting requesting an interview.

Reference is made in the first paragraph of B's reply of February 19 to the answer finally received from the German Foreign Office to memorandum of October 2, from ICRC (see Legation's cable of December 7, No. 7998). There is being transmitted in Legation's 1143, February 21, the substance of German reply which was issued in an ICRC communique dated February 14.

HARISCO
LATE DATA REVEAL
SLAUGHTER-OF-JEWS

By a Correspondent to The New York Times.

PARIS, Feb. 17—Dr. Joseph Schwartz, European director of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, estimated today that 500,000 of Europe's 6,500,000 Jews had escaped destruction by emigration and that between 1,500,000 and 1,500,000 were now left on the Continent.

Dr. Schwartz, who was executive director of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities until 1941, gathered his information from all sources that have come to light in liberated Europe. He has just returned from Belgium and recently visited Italy.

France, whose Jewish population was approximately halved, now probably has the largest number of Jews of any European country, he said, with 700,000. Incomplete reports from Poland show between 150,000 and 200,000 survivors out of a pre-war Jewish population of 3,500,000.

Almost no Jews remain alive in Germany which now has 650,000. Italy has 20,000 known survivors out of 50,000; Belgium, 20,000 to 25,000 out of 80,000; the Netherlands, 10,000 to 15,000 out of 100,000; and Czechoslovakia, 50,000 to 50,000 out of 300,000. Most of the latter are Jews from all parts of Europe in concentration camps at Theresienstadt. In Austria, it is believed some 200,000 Jews and Jewish married to Gentiles survive out of a former 140,000.
PARAPHRASE OF TELEGRAM RECEIVED

FROM: American Legation, Bern
TO: Secretary of State, Washington
DATED: February 16, 1945
NUMBER: 1066

From McClelland for the attention of the Department and WB.

Reference is made herein to the Legation's cable of January 27, No. 581.

In regard to possible protective and relief action for all categories of unassimilated persons in Germany, particularly those termed Schutzhaftlinge (SH), I have recently received the following extremely confidential information.

A member of IORC's Berlin delegation, Dr. Schirmer, who was previously very active in Budapest and Vienna, submitted to IORC on January 24, a confidential memorandum which in effect was as follows: Schirmer and a colleague were put in touch with Obersturmbannfuehrer Dr. Berndorf Chef des Sicherheitsdienstes und Abwehr Fuer die Schutzhaftlinge, whose office was located at Zimmerstrasse 19 Berlin, by a certain SS General Lieutenant Mueller. Following preliminary conversations with Schirmer, characterized as cordial, Berndorf took them to headquarters of Nazi concentration camp system at Oranienburg. Further conversations were held there with Obergruppenfuehrer Glueck (also a General Lieutenant in Waffen SS) director of all concentration camps, standartenfuhrer Dr. Loeing head medical officer of concentration camps, and Glueck's adjutant Obersturmbannfuehrer Hoes. Explaining that Dachau near Munich was to become central assembly and clearing camp for all SH, these SS men seemed most willing to discuss ways and means of added IORC relief to concentration camp inmates. Apparently, the transfer of large numbers of SH was already under way from east and north. In Dachau, where central administration including questions of food and transport would be located, there was to be a system of smaller subsidiary camps radiating from that point. Truck transportation facilities for distribution of relief parcels were offered to IORC by the SS, and they explained that, as far as control was concerned, men of confidence of various national groups would be stationed at Dachau, and that the IORC would maintain contact with these men. Since the SH were being continually transferred around now and parcels would doubtless never catch up with them, the SS felt it inadvisable to continue addressing parcels to individuals. It is most significant that, in spite of this rather important hitch, Himmler will now apparently officially permit relief for concentration camps even if only to certain categories of SH, since hitherto Berlin has categorically refused such permission and only in a small number of camps was the reception of IORC parcels by internees tolerated. No doubt refusal to grant blanket visiting permission is motivated by the fact that an increasingly large number of SH are being worked in war factories at present.

However, quite aside from the extent of external relief program it will be practically possible to launch, this seems to me a unique opportunity which should not be neglected for the IORC to drive an opening wedge into the Nazi concentration camp system. Although I would hesitate to put pressure on Burckhardt and IORC to inaugurate a large relief program which might indirectly benefit the war effort of the Germans, it is my feeling that IORC should immediately follow up this lead by dispatch of a special mission of their most capable men to Germany, and if possible the mission be headed by Burckhardt. An invaluable opportunity to get more personnel into Germany, whose presence might well save the lives of thousands of men and women as the Nazi system collapses, might be afforded by this situation.

On February 11 I was informed by Nordling, the Swedish Consul General in Paris, whose forceful intercession with the German military commander in Paris resulted in the release of some four thousand political prisoners, whom the German Commander had orders to execute if they could not be evacuated at that time, that in December he had addressed a personal letter to Himmler requesting better treatment for all concentration camp inmates along the Geneva Convention lines. Even though he received no direct answer to his letter, Nordling learned through most reliable channels that on receipt of his letter Himmler had ordered the Red Cross to study and report immediately on the possibility of improving the lot of Schutzhaftlinge. The maintenance of contact with Nordling was delegated to a German industrialist named Lehrer, long a resident in France and possessing direct contact with high Nazi officials by Himmler. It is Nordling's belief that January SS overtures to IORC men in Berlin are at least partly due to his representation and that Himmler is definitely interested in facilitating relief to SH, for reasons which are open to considerable speculation.
On February 10 and 13, Nordling, in the interest of exploiting this situation, conferred at length with Burckhardt of ICRC and attempted to persuade Burckhardt to take action since he, Nordling, felt that his going alone to Germany as a Swedish Consul General or as a private individual would not carry the necessary weight and that it was quite obvious that this job should be undertaken by ICRC.

In the face of evidence of mounting confusion within Germany and the resulting increased accessibility of individual German officials to psychological pressure as they became more isolated by military events and hence more independent, I feel, in view of the foregoing, that ICRC should not neglect such an opportunity. As soon as possible I am consequently handing Burckhardt a letter from the Minister urging him to take action in line with my communication to Burckhardt based on Department's cable of January 9, No. 127 (WRB No. 356) and as soon as possible the result will be reported.

FOR VRB

Dr. L. Zelmanovitz, Secretary of the World Jewish Congress, today requested Embassy to bring to the attention of the WJB the following views of his organization:

A progressive increase in numbers of Jewish refugees released from Germany and German-controlled areas is expected for the following reasons:

1. Use of Jewish internment camps for German refugees from Soviet-occupied areas.

2. Jewish internment camps in Germany proper might result in embarrassment to local population and evidence of any mass extermination of Jews might remain as incriminating evidence.

3. Lack of food for Jewish internees.

4. Possible desire of German officials to gain credit for releasing Jewish internees.

Congress believes
Congress believes that Switzerland should not be embarrassed by being compelled to maintain an increasing number of released Jewish refugees. Consequently, Congress urges that everything be done to evacuate those refugees now in Switzerland in order to make room for anticipated arrivals and that food, medical supplies, and clothing be sent to Switzerland to ease the situation should they arrive.

FROM B. Akin and Paul J. McCormack

The number of Jews still in German-occupied territory is variously estimated between 200,000 and 520,000. The principal groups involved are as follows:

- Terezin (Theresienstadt), Czechoslovakia: 40,000 - 60,000
- Labor camps near Vienna, Austria: 25,000
- Berg-am-Lech, Bavaria: 12,000
- Bergen-Belsen, near Celle, Hanover: 9,218
- Bergen-Belsen (in transit): 25,000
- Hungarian, Polish, and other deportees employed as labor in various parts of German-controlled territory. Precise location unknown: 100,000 - 400,000

The special procedure under which victims of enemy oppression entitled to non-quota or preference quota immigration visas and those to whom visas were authorized since July 1, 1941, are declared eligible for exchange, embraces to-date, about 4,350 persons, as follows:

1/ This figure is several months old. According to recent information, Jews from Terezin have been evacuated in large numbers to other unspecified parts of German-occupied territory.

2/ This figure is as of end of November. It includes the following categories:

- 4,500 Dutch and Belgians, of whom several hundred had Latin-American documents and Palestine certificates.
- 3,500 Slovak and Hungarian women and children.
- 349 Poles with Latin-American documents.
- 30 Poles claiming U.S. nationality.
- 300 of unspecified nationality.
- 300 of unspecified nationality, with Latin-American, Spanish, or Portuguese documents.
- 150 Greeks.
- 89 Hungarians.

Since then, about 1300 Bergen-Belsen internees reached Switzerland with German permission, and about 150 internees with Latin-American documents were

In note of January 27 Ripka quotes a telegram signed "Marchioness of Reading, Leon Kubowitzki, World Jewish Congress, 55 New Cavendish Street, W 1" stating that reports from reliable sources indicate Germany has started annihilation Jewish remnants interned in German-held lands and urging Czechoslovak Government to approach Germany through protecting powers, the Holy See and International Red Cross and expressing conviction that strong attitude may achieve beneficial results.

Ripka continues that Czechoslovak Government is alarmed and suggests that since this concerns many Allied governments latter might collectively make strong representations through channels suggested above.

Since his government has no official contact with protecting powers he expresses the wish on behalf of his government government that US Government may consider taking steps toward saving remainder of the interned and deported Allied citizens. He adds that should US Government deem it advisable to undertake collective action Czechoslovak Government would willingly associate itself with such a proceeding.

On the fifteenth of January, I took the matter up with Minister Walter Stucki at this time in charge of Foreign Office awaiting assumption of duty of the Foreign Minister (newly appointed). Have approached Petit Pierre, and officials of Foreign Interests Division. It is said by the Foreign Office that official Swiss representatives have thus far not been able to visit any of the three camps named: Viz - Vienna, Lodz, Theresienstadt. In addition, it seems that there is considerable doubt of possibility of its representative making frequent or extended visits to locations where Jews are concentrated unless it can be satisfactorily established that persons are there who legally fall under protection of Swiss. However, it is stated by the Swiss that every attempt will be made in regard to this and they think that camps near Vienna likely offer most favorable prospects as in that vicinity there are numerous Swiss interests. The Swiss will attempt to take complete advantage for purposes indicated by you.

Therefore, ICRC is endeavoring to enlarge the number of its delegates in Germany. It was urged by McClelland that ICRC continue this effort as the more competent and energetic men on spot as internal confusion increases in Germany the greater will be chance of influencing officials of Germany and possibly dissuading them from carrying out policies of extermination.

Shortly ICRC will report on extent of supervision which it has been able to exercise over Hungarian Jewish deportees working in territory of Reich. Especially in the last six weeks this supervision has been fairly satisfactory in Austria but is probably less extensive within Germany.

The Fuehrer's Picture of Defeat

Hitler's New Year's Speech Tells Germans His Own Conditions of Unconditional Surrender

By Raymond Moley

The dispute between Senator Wheeler and the Administration seems to narrow down to the question of who is helping Hitler and why. Senator Wheeler asserted that the war objective of "unconditional surrender" has stiffened the resistance of Germany, then sending Hitler to make his peace more secure. The State Department, no doubt reflecting the President's sentiments concerning his old antagonist, the Senate, retorted that statements like Mr. Wheeler's were helping Hitler.

Perhaps the best witness on this thorny subject is Hitler himself. His New Year's speech, when carefully examined, reveals most of the line of argument which he feels will stiffen German resistance. Since Hitler determines what will be told the Russians, we must assume that Hitler is responsible.

The Fuehrer's speech is the usual conglomeration of falsehood and empty promises. But it differs from other Hitlerian utterances in several particulars.

Surprising enough, Hitler writes off Hungary as lost. This is apparently to provide an answer when, later on, Austria begins to cry out that Hitler has deserted it. His explanation of the loss of Hungary is that it has treacherously deserted him—a suggestion meant to tell Austria that if it is loyal to him, it will not fail to the Russians.

Then he tells the German people that if they lose, 15 to 20 million will be deported, presumably to labor in Russia. His use of these figures is strange, since he refers no doubt, to the Varga plan to use the labor of 10 million Germans for 10 years in rehabilitating Russia. Perhaps he wanted to get away from the figure of 10 million because that is the approximate number of enforced workers now in Germany. He forgets that Varga wants part of them to work inside Germany.

Hitler's main argument, however, is that if Germany is reduced to an agricultural state, as suggested by the Von Salattart-Molotov idea, it will starve. This is patently ridiculous, since Germany could feed herself and do so with greater ease if the present slave laborers were permitted to leave other millions of Germans are deported.

His reason for underlying the horrors of an agricultural economy is the traditional feeling of Germans that agricultural labor is slavery. This feeling arises from the historical fact that labor on the Junker estates in Northern Germany, especially in Mecklenburg and in East Prussia, was a degraded form of peonage. Hitler made much of this fact in his early political rise to power and he won over millions of farm workers by that appeal.

In this recent speech he also made a great deal of the ability of Germany to keep up production in underground factories, despite bombing. This statement may have some truth and its emphasis may lessen our confidence in precision bombing. Hitler also paints a rosy picture of how rapidly Germany can be rebuilt after the war. This, it would seem, is to impress the Germans with hope in life after the war; if a negotiated peace can be secured by bitter resistance.

Nowhere in the speech does he refer specifically to the slogan of "unconditional surrender" by name, but by establishing a number of the conditions an outright defeat would bring, he is clearly seeking to get his picture of those conditions into the space left vacant by the failure of the Allies to state conditions themselves.

Two Organizations Fear Allied Governments Are Too Slow

The World Jewish Congress and the American Jewish Conference instructed their urgent problem of rescuing the remaining 550,000 Jews in Nazi territory to the American public yesterday in the belief that Allied governments are not acting quickly enough to prevent the Jews' annihilation.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, president of the World Jewish Congress and co-chairman of the American Jewish Conference, told a press conference at the congress offices, 1268
Broadway, that many of them
Jews may yet survive if Allied governments will immediately declare them wards of the United Nations.
He also urged the International Red Cross to accept the responsibility of caring for Jews in Nazi concentration camps, just as they supervised the welfare of enemy detainees and war prisoners. In addition, he asked that all these Jews, without regard to original nationality, be exchanged for Germans interred in Allied countries.

To urge the public to endorse these proposals, Ansteim Baths, a Jewish representative from Warsaw, charged the United Nations with responsibility for the deaths of "ten upon hundreds of thousands" of Jews because these government have not already taken such measures. He added that existing pro-

600,000 Jews in liberated Europe are inadequate, assuring that "we

JEWISH REQUEST FOR AID OF UNITED NATIONS

Two Groups Here Appeal for Rescue and Relief of Those Remaining in Europe

The American Jewish Conference and the World Jewish Congress appealed yesterday for action by the United Nations to rescue the 650,000 Jews left in Nazi-occupied territory and for relief of the 650,000 Jews in liberated countries. The appeal was made through Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the congress and co-chairman of the conference.

In conjunction with the appeal it was declared that only 1,300,000 Jews survived of the 6,000,000 who were in European countries outside the Soviet Union before the extermination of Jews by the Nazis began. This statement was based upon a report to the office of the World Jewish Congress, 1334 Broadway, by American Field Service, London, Jewish leader closely identified with rescue work conducted through various channels by Jewish organizations.

"Hundreds of thousands are doomed unless immediate rescue is undertaken," according to the statement issued through Dr. Wise.

It was declared that Jews could be evacuated from occupied countries through cooperation with the underground and with neutral countries ready to admit Jewish refugees if they were assured of essential supplies of food and clothing, as well as by exchange of Jews in occupied countries for German citizens held in Allied and neutral countries. Tens of thousands could be saved by these measures, it was declared.

Another suggestion was that relief be extended to Jews in occupied countries by obtaining for them the status of civilians through the International Red Cross, supplying them with documents of neutral States, sending them food and other supplies, supervising their condition in concentration camps through the International Committee of the Red Cross and the League of National Red Cross Societies, and by measures to aid them in hiding and organization of their escape.

Regarding Jews in liberated areas who had been reduced to desperate conditions by years of Nazi occupation, it was suggested that they be supplied with clothing and medical aid and that efforts be made particularly for the rehabilitation of Jewish children.

"The condition of Jews in liberated areas is aggravated by the fact that many of them are refugees and do not have citizenship status or rights," the statement declared. "Many of them cannot be expected to return to places of origin and are desirous of emigrating to Palestine, where they can be integrated and speedily made self-supporting. The transfer of Palestine would lighten the burden of relief in the liberated territories and would end the mental tortures these people suffer by reason of uncertainty as to their future. It is urged that ships be made available to transport these refugees to Palestine."
