PRESENT:

Mr. John W. Pehle, Executive Director
Mr. Ira A. Hirschmann
For the War Refugee Board

The Press

Reporter: Mrs. A. R. Brown

Mr. Pehle: Mr. Ira Hirschmann, who has been the War Refugee Board representative at Ankara, Turkey, has been just called back for consultation because of the completely changed military and political situation throughout the Balkans. He has been telling me something about the way our work has shaped up out there, and I thought some of you would be interested in hearing about it. After he does that, we will both answer any questions that you people have that we can answer.

I just want to say that I am very proud of the work that Mr. Hirschmann has been able to do out there. It is the most difficult area to operate in, and the problem has been a terribly pressing one which has demanded every imaginative device that anybody could dream up and all the energy and pressure and sympathy that could be used. I thought you would like to hear from Mr. Hirschmann what the Board's activities have been.

Mr. Hirschmann: Well, I just have a few words to say. As long as Mr. Pehle threw a bouquet at me, I want to say that I couldn't have done anything at all without the complete, undeviated support that he gave me out there, and that was pretty important when you were out there alone.

The problem given to me when I went there was to try to make Turkey, which was a window into the Balkans, into a door so as to try to get some of the people that were being pushed around into a place of freedom and security. And we managed somehow or other to get a number of them through Turkey and save their lives and give them a chance.

The thing -- the section that we were working on divided itself into three countries. Hungary, of course, now is a subject that we won't talk about. It is all tied up in the political, complex situation now. Rumania and Bulgaria. In Rumania we managed to bring out a fairly large number of people, and in Bulgaria we brought some people out but there the political and military situation changed and so we changed our tactics a bit. But what happened was that the military and political situation that Mr. Pehle mentioned changed rapidly while I was there and in view of that I think that Turkey became pretty much sealed up as a source of rescue. It may open up again and there may still be some possibilities, and we have left an organization there to function for the Board. I think the instrument of the Board in being used to save people at a time when a lot of people were being killed is certainly a valuable thing at a time like this in our history.

I think that is about all I can say.

Question: Have you any estimate of the numbers of people that were brought out through Turkey from all the countries -- the total?

Mr. Hirschmann: Yes, I think so.

I do not like to quote a direct figure on that because I haven't it fresh in my mind. It runs into thousands.

Question: Can you tell us a little bit more about the changed tactics in Bulgaria, what you were doing there and what happened to it?

Mr. Hirschmann: Well, in Bulgaria there were a number of people coming out that we were pulling out through a railroad and a few ships, and it is an extremely difficult job out of war zones to do that, and the population of Bulgaria there, the problem of the minorities and the Jews, ran to something like 45,000 people that were being persecuted and were subject to Nuremberg laws, which were pretty severe. And the Board changed its strategy there and while I was there we decided to save the people inside of Bulgaria instead of bringing them out in dribbles. And the Bagrianov Government, which was then in power, was prevailed upon to call a special session of its parliament -- which had been not called, I think, for about a year -- specifically to revoke the anti-Jewish laws. And they did it, which means that a population of some 45,000 people were reestablished-reinstated, put back on their feet and given their property rights back and given a chance to rebuild their lives and to help rebuild the country.

I think that in my report to Mr. Pehle he -- as a matter of fact, he authorized my efforts in that direction, to save the people inside the country instead of taking them out.

Question: Was that action a direct result of the activities of the War Refugee Board in Bulgaria?

Mr. Hirschmann: Well, specifically so, yes. Yes, we managed to have this Government call this special meeting of parliament together for that purpose. It wasn't the only thing it did but it did revoke the laws. These people today -- I had a report just before I left from some of the military people who had gone into Bulgaria and they reported that the people had been absolutely restored to their full rights; they were entirely free people, free to move; their funds had been unlocked; they were free to exercise any profession, go into any business, schools, and so forth.

Question: When was that session of the parliament called?

Mr. Hirschmann: I think that was some time in the latter part of August.

Question: This August?

Mr. Hirschmann: Yes.

Mr. Pehle: Yes.

Question: Just why and how has the situation changed in Turkey so that you can no longer operate through there as you did?

Mr. Hirschmann: Well, the situation hasn't changed in Turkey. The change in the Balkans, in Bulgaria. Bulgaria and Rumania are not allies of the Germans any more and there are military zones.

Question: There is no need to bring people out of there now?

Mr. Hirschmann: On the whole, I would say not.

Question: Well, Mr. Hirschmann, do you intend to go back to Turkey again?

Mr. Hirschmann: I think Mr. Pehle can answer that.

Mr. Pehle: No. We called Mr. Hirschmann back because the active work in that area is over. We still have people out there to follow up on what is left but the big job in Turkey that can be done through Turkey is over with. The remaining Balkan country which is the rest of the problem is Hungary, which is hanging in the balance right today if you read the press this morning, and the Hungarian thing is touch and go.

Question: Is he going over there, though, some place again real soon?

Mr. Pehle: No. We haven't plans of that kind. We drafted him to do a special job and he has done the job.

Question: He finished it up and is going back to private life again?

Mr. Pehle: Yes.

Question: You mentioned people to follow through in Turkey. Is that special representation of the War Refugee Board itself --

Mr. Pehle: That's right.

Question: -- or work through some other agency?

Mr. Pehle: Well, we have a representative out there, Mr. Katski.

Question: In Bulgaria?

Mr. Pehle: No. In Ankara and Istanbul, Turkey.

Question: Do you contemplate moving your work up into Bulgaria and Rumania to affect the situation in Hungary if possible?

Mr. Pehle: No. Between those areas there is a battle on and any work that has to be done in Hungary or that can be done in Hungary today could only be done through places such as Switzerland. You couldn't get in through the Turkish avenues any more.

Question: Mr. Hirschmann, could it be said that as a result of the extremes to which the Germans have gone in the Balkans that in some of those countries which for many, many years have been quite anti-Semitic there has been an improvement of the public feeling in those areas generally as a result; plus the work of the War Refugee Board, that the public psychology on that subject has improved?

Mr. Hirschmann: I don't know whether you could sense that at this date at all. On the Bulgarian thing we thought that was important because we hoped it would establish a precedent or blueprint for the next steps and peace so that your first move before Bulgaria signed an armistice -- the first thing they did was to revoke their anti-Jewish laws. The first people who were worked off, were pushed around, the first people who were given back their freedom, so it seems to be pretty logical.

Mr. Pehle: That government that revoked those laws fell and was replaced by another government which fell, and then there is a third one which is now in power. That government issued on September 22nd this year a statement which may already have appeared in the papers here -- I am not sure. We have copies of it if you want it. That statement, I think, characterizes the change that has come in that area where you had very severe persecution of minorities. And here is a new government that says in an official statement,

"The Bulgarian Government has no objection and will make no difficulties for those Jews who wish to emigrate to Palestine. Regarding them as Bulgarian citizens who enjoy full rights, the Government will require of them merely that they comply with all laws or regulations obligatory for all citizens of the country.

"The Government has annulled all exclusive laws of anti-Jewish character. Such an exclusive law was that establishing a surtax to the extent of 20 to 25 per cent of the value of all Jewish property. This tax, being the result of a vicious law, was discriminatory against the Jews. The excess amount will now be returned, but because of Bulgaria's difficult financial situation, such amount will be transferred into a state loan of definite maturity.

"The Jews now enjoy full equality of rights, and live under the same conditions and in freedom as do other Bulgarian nationals."

In other words, they have gone all the way around the circle. Now, whether you can say, as you suggest, that due to the extremes to which the Germans have gone there has been a revulsion from anti-Semitism, nobody can really tell that. Nobody can tell whether that is what is going to happen, whether the seeds of that will remain in those countries. There has always been a considerable amount of anti-Semitism in the Balkans, anyway.

Question: Mr. Hirschmann, did you have any assistance from the Turkish Government when you were helping those people get out of the Balkans?

Mr. Hirschmann: Oh, yes. The Turkish Government -- the people that came through required the aid of the Turkish Government in permitting them to come into Turkey and to be transported through Turkey, and the Turkish Government while I was there was most cooperative. Those arrangements were made through our Ambassador Steinhardt. We worked very closely with the Embassy. In fact, I was attached to it. And they were extremely cooperative.

Question: All your negotiations as American Government agents were carried on through the good offices of the Turkish Government?

Mr. Hirschmann: Negotiations with whom?

Question: With Bulgaria.

Mr. Hirschmann: No, no. No, they were carried on directly, as a representative of the American Government, the War Refugee Board, with the ministers of the enemy country. Mr. Pehle and his Board gave me authority to deal with the enemy.

Question: I see.

Mr. Hirschmann: And I did deal with them right along.

Question: You dealt with them directly?

Mr. Hirschmann: In Rumania and Bulgaria.

Mr. Pehle: And to some extent through the International Red Cross.

Mr. Hirschmann: The International Red Cross acted as the intermediary in arranging the meetings.

Mr. Pehle: And the meetings were solely on the problem that the War Refugee Board was set up to further. It had no relation to other activities whatsoever.

Question: Mr. Hirschmann, did you ever have any direct talks with the German ambassador in Turkey?

Mr. Hirschmann: No.

Question: Or any of the German authorities there at all?

Mr. Hirschmann: No.

Question: How did you arrange to get to them with your problems?

Mr. Hirschmann: I didn't deal with the Germans. I was dealing with Bulgarians and Rumanians and I dealt with them through their ministers, the Bulgarian Minister and the Rumanian Minister.

Those countries, you see, were not occupied. There was a kind of cooperation, not occupation, in those two countries. That wasn't true of Hungary. And it was because they weren't occupied that I was able to deal with those ministers, who had authority to deal with their domestic problems.

Question: Did you at any time attempt to reach the German --

Mr. Hirschmann: No.

Question: By the "Bulgarian Minister" and the "Rumanian Minister" you mean their diplomatic ministers in Turkey?

Mr. Hirschmann: Yes.

Question: Do you feel anything further can be done by way of Turkey, Mr. Hirschmann?

Mr. Hirschmann: Yes. I think there may be possibilities. It is very difficult to know that. That is why an organization has been left over there to explore the matter further.

Question: Did all refugees go to Palestine or did some come over here and other places?

Mr. Hirschmann: The refugees that I was dealing with -- most refugees went to Palestine when I was there.

Mr. Pehle: None came over here.

Question: Mr. Hirschmann, what happened to the war refugees that were rescued from the Transdnistria Camp?

Mr. Hirschmann: Transdnistria, as you know, I think, was the most celebrated disease-infested camp in Rumania, and through our talks with the Rumanian Minister we managed in March to have that camp broken up.

Mr. Pehle: It wasn't located in Rumania; it was in parts of Russia that Rumania had taken over.

Mr. Hirschmann: That's right. It was right at the border.

We broke that camp up. The Rumanians agreed to break that camp up. The reports that we had show thousands of people died every day. Originally, 150,000 people were in the camp and it was reduced to 48,000 by the time I got to it. They broke that camp up and we had confirmed reports on that from the Red Cross, that those people were all released and had their freedom in Rumania and had gone to Palestine. On the way back, I stopped at Palestine and one of my purposes was to see some of those people, especially the youngsters. There were a number of children that were in the Transdnistria Camp that we were especially interested in and I saw hundreds of those children in Palestine, in colonies in Palestine, becoming rebuilt as citizens and very healthy and active. And I think they will be among the great freedom-loving citizens of the world. They have earned the right to it.

Question: Did you by any chance see the little boy you spoke about at your last conference?

Mr. Hirschmann: No. I didn't see him but I saw hundreds of others.

Mr. Pehle: Of this group that came back from Transdnistria, the 45,000, only a fraction went on to Palestine. The rest are in Rumania today.

Mr. Hirschmann: Just a few that went in there. And the rest of them are free in Rumania, principally in the big cities like Budapest.

Question: Did you have a handicap at any place for lack of 4 a place to take these people and transportation facilities since the American-British agreement?

Mr. Pehle: Not related to Hungary. More specifically.

Question: In general.

Mr. Hirschmann: No, we haven't been handicapped, but it couldn't have been done without an instrument of this kind of the Government, which impressed on other governments the interest that we had in that subject. And they saw that our government was interested in saving people whoever they are and wherever they are and they opened up the facilities. Prior to that, they had not done so.

Question: Have you any idea how many Jews there are in Rumania now?

Mr. Hirschmann: No.

Question: Mr. Pehle, would you say that the major work of the Board is over now?

Mr. Pehle: Well, of course, you can look at the map and see where our problems are that we have been dealing with. Certainly, the major task in Rumania and Bulgaria is over; the task in France is over because we are not taking up the problems that UNRA and the Inter-Governmental Committee and the private agencies are going to deal with in liberated areas. That is not our job. You can't say the work of the War Refugee Board is over when the situation in Hungary is what it is today -- it is very bad -- nor the situation in Slovakia, which is also today very bad, and while you have large numbers of persons in concentration camps and in German-occupied Poland and in Germany whose lives hang in the balance.

Question: Is the refugee quota to Palestine about filled now?

Mr. Hirschmann: I understand that it is not.

Question: It is not. Well, are there any plans on foot to bring more to this country?

Mr. Pehle: No, there aren't.

Question: There aren't at all?

Mr. Pehle: No. In other words, the Oswego Camp performed a function which we had in mind. It helped relieve the situation in Italy, which was very bad at that time and which is better today. Secondly, it created an example so that we were in a better position to go to other countries and to impress them, particularly in the Mediterranean area, with the importance with which this country regarded this problem. But today the situation on finding havens is, of course, much better than it was then at that time.

Question: Well, would you say, then, Mr. Pehle, it was purely a psychological move?

Mr. Pehle: I wouldn't say it was purely a psychological move because it did bring over people, even a small number, out of Italy, the number of people who were at that time hard to place. It started to relieve the tension but it had great importance as a psychological move.

Question: Well, then, that part of it is all finished. There won't be any more coming over. Is that it?

Mr. Pehle: There is no indication that more refugees will be coming to the United States because the problem of temporary havens, which is what we were fighting for, is eased very considerably in the Mediterranean area.

Question: Is the Philippeville Camp in operation?

Mr. Fehle: No, it isn't. There isn't any camp.

Question: That is one place where there was a sudden influx.

Mr. Fehle: That's right. In Philippeville alone there were plans to bring in 10,000 refugees. In other words, we had a place there ready to take up to that number, which shows that there is no need of additional havens here.

Question: What are the other havens?

Mr. Fehle: Philippeville was the primary one. The facilities in Italy have been extended considerably so a large number of people can be taken care of there. The Jugoslavia situation has been changed so that the flow from Jugoslavia to Italy and out of Italy has dwindled and as soon as Jugoslavia is liberated that situation will be over with.

Question: Is the idea to send all those refugees that came here and went to Palestine back to their original countries?

Mr. Fehle: I think on the whole the people that went to Palestine went there as a permanent haven. They went there with the intention of staying there for the rest of their lives. And they aren't living in camps; they are finding jobs, fitting themselves into communities. The only group that came here of any consequence is the group that are at Oswego. Those people were brought here with the understanding that they would be given a temporary haven and with the idea that after hostilities are over they would go back.

Question: Is that true of the Mediterranean countries which are opening up now?

Mr. Fehle: On the whole Mediterranean, all countries which are only taking these people temporarily and with the plan that they will go back after the war or find some place where they can be permanently settled, there are countries that would offer some haven to them permanently.

Question: Are you still sending people to those Moses Wells camps?

Mr. Fehle: I don't think there are many people going to those Moses Wells and those camps were largely havens for the Yugoslavs and the Greeks. That flow has pretty well stopped and, of course, with Greece and Jugoslavia rapidly being liberated the flow will soon be in the other direction. Those people will go back to their homeland.

Question: Oswego was partially an example to South America, wasn't it? Did you get any response?

Mr. Fehle: I wouldn't say it was very important with regard to an example for South America because Oswego was not an example of permanent settlement. It was an example of taking care of those people temporarily. The main place that could be done is in the Mediterranean area, although Mexico did go along and say they were willing to set up a free port too, and there may be some other Latin American countries. The principal problem with the Latin American countries would be a permanent resettlement problem.

Question: Do you think it is necessary now to set up temporary shelters in Palestine -- I believe there is a resolution before the Congress to that effect -- since a good many people --

Mr. Lehle: ~~I doubt it.~~

(No response.)

Thanks a lot.

(whereupon, at 11:30 a.m., the conference ended in informal conversation off the record.)

Mr. Pehle

Mr. Hirschmann

In the press conference on Tuesday, the following is suggested as a general outline to be covered informally:

1. (a) The changed situation, militarily and politically, in the Balkans which resulted in Mr. Hirschmann's recall from Turkey for consultation.
- (b) A brief indication of the Board's attitude toward the results achieved in Turkey. (Mr. Pehle)
2. (a) The major work of rescue has been achieved in Bulgaria and Rumania, principally in Bulgaria. While sporadic groups were being emancipated it became apparent that the changing political situation provided an opportunity to reinstate and reconstitute the entire Bulgarian Jewish population at one stroke. The Board's program in Turkey was, therefore, suddenly reorientated to save the people within the country as well as without. The former Bagrianoff government convened Parliament in special session and was prevailed upon to revoke the nefarious Nuremburg anti-Jewish laws. This is the one affirmative and constructive step taken by the Bagrianoff government before it was overthrown. In effect, at one stroke, 45,000 people who had been the first victims of fascism in Bulgaria were given back their rights as citizens and permitted to reconstitute themselves.

This we considered to be constructive in that it kept citizens in their own country where they have the best chance for reestablishing their economic positions.

- (b) They do not constitute a post-war problem.

- (c) The precedent of Bulgaria giving back freedom to the first victims as the first step, even preceding a Bulgarian armistice, should serve as a blueprint for peace and an example for other nations, especially Hungary and later Germany.
3. In Rumania, the 48,000 minorities and Jews who were released through the efforts of the Board last March from the Transnistrian Camp have regained their complete freedom. On my return to the states, I stopped in Palestine and observed in person hundreds of the children who were saved from this death trap and who now are regaining their health and normal attitude toward life. I saw these children working in Palestine colonies, building themselves into liberty loving citizens. (What would we have done without Palestine?)
4. The work of rescue is still continuing in the Balkans, although there are many uncertainties as the result of the changing conditions. Tribute should be paid to Ambassador Steinhardt for his sympathetic work at the American Embassy in Ankara, but the people in the Balkans will never forget, in my opinion, the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt, which name has become a symbol to them for salvation. When the people of the United States go to the polls on November 7th they will carry with them, so far as I could sense it from my window into the Balkans in Turkey, the prayers of literally millions of grateful souls who know -- as no one else can know -- that in the large measure they owe their lives and their futures to the President for setting up a board which was able to reach out its arm of mercy across the waters to give them life and opportunity.

Liberated Jews Exchanged for Nazis

CAIRO, April 6 (U.P.).—The Swedish mercy ship Drottningholm, en route to Istanbul with 133 Jews liberated from German concentration camps, picked up an equal number of German civilian internees for exchange at a mid-east port. It is probably the first ship to transport Jews and Germans simultaneously during this war. Approximately 100 of the liberated Jews are TURKISH citizens. In the Bergen-Belsen and Ravensbruck camps they were brutally treated by the Nazis regardless of their neutral status.

HIRSCHMANN TELLS OF AIDING REFUGEES

Back From Work With War Refugee Board in Balkans, He Praises Turk Help

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—Ira Hirschmann, vice president of Bloomingdale's in New York, who has just returned from the Balkans, where he represented the War Refugee Board, told a news conference today that the Bagrianov Government of Bulgaria called a special session of the kingdom's Parliament, at the suggestion of representatives of the WRB, at which it repealed the anti-Semitic decrees of the Nazis.

The task of the board was largely completed in the Balkans, except for the Slovakian and Hungarian situations, Mr. Hirschmann said in giving an account of accomplishments of the WRB to date.

His primary function, he said, was to get refugees out of the Balkan countries by way of Turkey, for which he received high praise from officials of the board. In answer to a question, he said that the number of refugees taken out through Turkey "ran into thousands."

The result of the action by the Bulgarian Parliament, according to Mr. Hirschmann, was that "a population of some 45,000 people were re-established and reinstated—put back on their feet and given their property rights and a chance to rebuild their lives and help rebuild their country."

Activities of Board are Told

"Was that action a direct result of the activities of the War Refugee Board in Bulgaria?" Mr. Hirschmann was asked.

"Well, specifically so, yes," he replied. "We managed to have this government call this special meeting of Parliament together for that purpose. It wasn't the only thing it did, but it did revoke those laws. I had a report just before I left from some of the military people who had gone into Bulgaria, and they reported that the people had been absolutely restored to their full rights; they were free to exercise any profession, go into any business, schools and so forth."

John W. Pehle, executive director of the WRB, who was at the conference with Mr. Hirschmann, explained that the government which revoked those laws was twice replaced. The third, now in power, issued a statement on Sept. 22 on the rights of Jews, which Mr. Pehle read as follows:

"The Bulgarian Government has no objection, and will make no difficulties for those Jews who wish to emigrate to Palestine. Regarding them as Bulgarian citizens who enjoy full rights, the government will require of them merely that they comply with all the laws or regulations obligatory for all citizens of the country."

"The Government has annulled all exclusive laws of anti-Jewish character. Such an exclusive law was that establishing a surtax to the extent of 20 to 25 per cent of the value of all Jewish property. This tax, being the result of a vicious law, was discriminatory against the Jews. The excess amount will now be returned, but because of Bulgaria's financial situation, such amount will be transferred into a State loan of definite maturity.

Full Equality Is Restored

"The Jews now enjoy full equality of rights and live under the same conditions and in freedom as do other Bulgarian nationals."

Mr. Hirschmann spoke most favorably of the assistance he received from the Turkish Government in facilitating the exodus of persecuted minorities from the Balkans. However, he said, Turkey no longer affords a practical exit route due to the changed conditions in the Balkans.

Another accomplishment of Mr. Hirschmann and the WRB was the breaking up of "the disease-infested camp" called Transnistria, which the Rumanians operated in a part of Russia taken over by Rumania.

Indicating that Mr. Hirschmann was not going back to the Balkans, Mr. Pehle said "we drafted him to do a special job, and he has done the job."

After Mr. Hirschmann said the camp was no more as a result of talks with the Rumanian Minister, he added:

"We broke that camp up. The Russians agreed to break that camp up. The reports we had, showed that thousands of people died every day. Originally, 150,000 people were in the camp, and it was reduced to 48,000 by the time I got to it.  Those people were all released, had their freedom in Rumania, and had gone to Palestine."

Mr. Pehle gave this answer to a question whether he now regarded "the major work of the board as over:"

Many Problems Remain

"Well, of course, you can look at the map and see where our problems are that we have been dealing with. Certainly, the major task in Rumania and Bulgaria is over; the task in France is over because we are not taking up the problems that UNRRA and the inter-governmental committee and the private agencies are going to deal with in liberated areas. That is not our job."

"But you can't say the work of the War Refugee Board is over when the situation in Hungary is what it is today—it is very bad—nor the situation in Slovakia, which is also very bad, and while you have large numbers of persons in concentration camps in Germany and German-occupied Poland whose lives hang in the balance."

On the WRB that was set up by President Roosevelt were Secretaries Hull, Stimson and Morgenthau, and its function was to facilitate the escape of persecuted political minorities from Europe.

Rescue Many In Balkans

U. S. Refugee Unit Tells of Mercy Moves

(The Grand Rapids Press Bureau.)

Washington — There still are many Jewish and minority peoples to be rescued from oppression in Hungary, Slovakia, Poland and Germany, John W. Poehle, executive director of the war refugee board in Turkey, reported Wednesday. However, Poehle indicated no more refugees would be brought to this country.

Thousands of lives have been saved not only because oppressed persons have been removed but also because of the weight that was carried by our government in its war refugee board, Poehle stated.

As an instance of this he mentioned the Transnistria concentration camp in Romania near the Russian border. One of the worst disease infested camps, persons were dying there by the thousands each day, he reported. The population had been reduced from 150,000 to 48,000 by the time he got there. As a result of pressure through WRB the remaining prisoners were released and many went to Palestine, he said.

Because of the influence of this country in its refugee work, other nations have been opening up, Poehle stated, particularly in the Mediterranean lands.

Liberation Dividend

As a by-product of the liberation of territory in the Balkans, space is being found for sanctuary for refugees from Europe's persecuted minorities. As a result, John W. Pehle, executive director of the War Refugee Board, announces that no plans exist to bring additional refugees to this country from the Mediterranean area.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—The active work of the war refugee board in Turkey, where it succeeded in bringing out thousands of refugees from Balkan countries, is ended and there are no plans to bring additional refugees to the United States from the Mediterranean area, John W. Pehle told a press conference the liberation of Mediterranean territory had eased the problem of persecuted minorities.

Refugee Unit's Balkan Rescues Seen Near End

Hirschmann Says Bulgaria Was Persuaded to Revoke Its Anti-Semitic Laws

By Ann Cottrell

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The major task of the War Refugee Board in rescuing persecuted minorities from the Balkans was declared virtually at an end today by Ira A. Hirschmann, the board's special representative to Turkey, because of the military situation of the area and the W. R. B.'s success in persuading Bulgaria to revoke its anti-Semitic laws.

Mr. Hirschmann, who will return to private life soon as vice-president of Bloomingdale Brothers, Inc., described at a press conference shared with John W. Pehle, executive director of the W. R. B., the two types of liberation which he has been engaged in for almost a year. Also both he and Mr. Pehle agreed that no additional refugees would be brought to Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y., or that any more camps would be established in the United States.

After the "sealing up" of Turkey as a source of rescue because of military operations in the Balkans, Mr. Hirschmann indicated that the first type of rescue work—actually aiding escape into Palestine—had come to an end for the time being. The second type of liberation was evidence, he said, by the board's activities in persuading the Bulgarian government to revoke this August its anti-Semitic laws.

Sees Move As Blueprint

"We hope that Bulgaria's action, affecting 45,000 Jews, will serve as a blueprint for other countries," he said. Explaining the advantage of persuading a country to stop its persecution of Jews, Mr. Hirschmann said "we decided to save people inside instead of bringing them out in dribbles."

Although the outlook for the Jews in Bulgaria and Romania has improved tremendously, Mr. Hirschmann said the "remaining Balkan program is Hungary." He was unable, however, to discuss the chances of liberating Hungarian Jews either by aiding their escape or prevailing upon the government to revoke the rigid anti-Semitic laws.

The number of persons from any of the Balkan countries aided by the W. R. B. in reaching Turkey and thence Palestine "runs into the thousands." Mr. Hirschmann said. It is believed, however, that the number has not reached the 75,000 mark since all of the certificates of entry into Palestine which were outstanding when the British white paper restrictions fell due last March have not been used up. Mr. Hirschmann said that all the Jews entering Palestine had gone in on the certificates as permanent residents and that no temporary visas had been issued.

48,000 Return to Romania

An example of the improved attitude of the Romanian government toward Jews was given when Mr. Hirschmann said that the most of the 48,000 Romanian Jews in Transnistria had been returned to Romania, but a few thousand children were sent to Palestine. He described Transnistria—a small area between Russia and Romania—as a "celebrated disease-infested camp" where more than 100,000 refugees live.

Although the anti-Semitic laws of Bulgaria were withdrawn in August by the defunct Bratianov government, the Georgioff government, now in power, has made it plain it will continue to consider Jews as Bulgarian citizens, with equal rights.

Discussing the refugee camp at Oswego, Mr. Pehle said that since additional territory has been liberated in Europe, havens could be found here. Also, the overcrowding of refugees in Italy has improved, he said.

The New York camp was set up, he said, to create an example to put us in a better position when asking other countries to provide camps.

Refugee Board's Task Easing Up

From The Saginaw News
Washington Bureau.

WASHINGTON—There are still many Jewish and minority peoples to be rescued from oppression in Hungary, Slovakia, Poland and Germany, although most of the work of the war refugee board in Turkey is finished, John W. Poehle, executive director, said Tuesday.

He indicated no more refugees will be brought to this country.

"Thousands" of persons were rescued from Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria through Turkey, Jed Hirschmann, WRB representative in Turkey, declared, explaining he worked through the ministers of these countries in Turkey and through the International Red Cross.

The shifting military situation in the Balkans is responsible for Hirschmann's recall to this country, Poehle said. He praised the Turkish representative's work in the "most difficult area of operations".

The greatest refugee population has been brought from Romania, Hirschmann reported, and some from Bulgaria, but the political and military situation now has changed.

Approximately 45,000 people were oppressed in Bulgaria, but as of September of this year the new government restored their rights as citizens, allowing them to move freely, act in any business they wished and possess property. This was stimulated by WRB's insistence that a special session of parliament be called to remove the anti-Semitic laws.

Thousands of lives have been saved not only because people have been removed from oppressed areas but by the weight carried by our government in its war refugee board, Hirschmann asserted.

Barring Balkan Refugee Route Ends Job of Roosevelt Board

By a Staff Correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—Major work of President Roosevelt's War Refugee Board was pronounced ended today when Ira Hirschmann, the Board's representative in Ankara, returned home because of the sealing of Turkey as an escape route for Balkan Jews.

Mr. Hirschmann, New York merchant, said he left behind a skeleton organization to explore further possibilities of easing the persecution of Jews in the Balkans, but military operations there have largely blocked Board activities.

The Board was credited by Mr. Hirschmann with negotiating repeal of anti-Semitic laws by the Bulgarian Parliament in August and for facilitating the escape of "thousands" of Rumanian Jews to Palestine.

On the way home, Mr. Hirschmann stopped off in Palestine and "saw hundreds of refugees" released by board intervention from what he said was a disease-ridden Transnistria concentration camp being rebuilt as freedom-loving citizens.

Although admitting that major Board activities have been in the Balkans, John W. Pehle, Executive Director, declared that its work could not be considered ended as long as the lives of Jews in Hungary, Slovakia, Occupied Poland, and Germany still hang in the balance.

He said the Board has no plans to bring refugees to this country, beyond the 1,000 now encamped at Oswego, N. Y.

More facilities for refugees have been provided in North Africa than have been occupied. An UNRRA camp at Philip French North Africa, is yet to be put into operation.

UNRRA has assigned itself the task of getting refugees back to their homes after the war, while the Intergovernmental Committee on Refugees will seek permanent havens for those unable to return.

Refugee rescue activities in the Balkans could not have been achieved without the President Roosevelt's creation of the board, ordered after the House shelved the proposal on advice of the State Department.

Hirschmann Tells Of Refugee Aid

By the United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Ira Hirschmann, just returned from Ankara, where he has been serving as representative of the War Refugee Board, said today that conditions had so improved in the Mediterranean area that he had been permitted to give up his post to resume his civilian position as an executive of Bloomingdale's department store in New York.

Mr. Hirschmann met reporters at a press conference with John W. Pehle, executive secretary of the WRB, who explained that the minority group problem had been alleviated in the Balkans and the Mediterranean area that there no longer were any plans to bring additional refugees from that area to this country.

Mr. Hirschmann indicated that the work of the WRB, plus the atrocities committed upon helpless people, probably had much to do with forcing the easing of the restrictions against the Jews in Bulgaria. He said he felt the Bulgarian program had set a precedent for other European countries and that he expected the refugee problem to be eased further as a result.

He predicted that of the thousands of Jews who have found safety in Palestine, few would return to their native countries after the war.

Most of those who fled from Nazi dominated areas to the safety of Palestine he pointed out have gone into business, found jobs or have established themselves in agriculture.

Mr. Hirschmann said that in view of the fact there "always was considerable anti-Semitism in the Balkans, the Bulgarian situation as it now stands is quite heartening for those in refugee work."

REFUGEE AID CHIEF AT WORK IN TURKEY

Hirschmann Cuts Red Tape
as He Maps Plans to Help
Oppressed Europeans

By JOSEPH M. LEVY

By Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 19—From his bed to which he was confined by an attack of influenza, Dr Isaac Herzog, chief rabbi of Palestine, at present in Ankara in connection with plans for the rescue of Jews from Europe, rose to greet Ira A. Hirschmann, vice president of Bloomingdale Brothers, Inc., who has just arrived here to take up his duties as official representative of the newly formed War Refugee Board.

Mr. Hirschmann went to work within half an hour of his arrival in Ankara. He is invested with full responsibility of implementing the board's program and policy in Turkey.

One of his main tasks will be to develop the plans for the rescue and transportation as well as relief and maintenance of refugees. No American diplomat of this war has received such extraordinary powers in carrying out his duties as those granted to Mr. Hirschmann. Under the authority vested by the Treasury in the War Refugee Board, Mr. Hirschmann will be the first and only United States citizen in Turkey to be allowed to disregard the Trading With the Enemy Act.

Asked whether he had an idea of the enormous difficulties that would confront him, Mr. Hirschmann said:

"Certainly, no one more than I realizes how complex and intricate is the task undertaken by the Refugee Board. A cursory glance at the position makes it clear that a full mobilization of every resource at our command will be necessary if we are to attain any measure of success. I fully expect to encounter great obstacles in my work, but how could we ever justify ourselves before the bar of history if we did not probe every avenue and left no stone unturned to try to save all that can be saved of those unfortunate human beings regardless of race or creed faced with annihilation in Europe.

"I expect help not only from individuals and organizations but from the entire civilized world. Let us pray that all other nations will follow the example of the United States and give us their unstinted aid in this great humanitarian undertaking."

To Rabbi Herzog's appeal not to waste time on red tape Mr. Hirschmann replied that the Refugee Board, headed by its dynamic director, John Pehele, was an instrument tempered for immediate and unreserved action, untrammelled by party restrictions and that it would be a grievous crime to allow this work of mercy, salvation to be impeded by any formalities.

Mr. Hirschmann arrived in Ankara on Feb. 14, and is now engaged in the development of programs and the implementation of measures for the rescue, transportation, maintenance and relief of Jews and other persecuted minorities in Europe.

He has passed considerable time in western and central Europe. In 1938 he attended the Evian conference as an observer for the United States government. Later he went to Austria where with the cooperation of friends he arranged for several hundred refugees to leave the country.

AMERICAN EMBASSY

Istanbul, January 31, 1945

Dear Mr. Pehle:

In our letter of January 23, 1945 we advised you regarding information which had come to our attention concerning the Jewish people on the Island of Rhodes. In this connection you will be interested in seeing the enclosed translation of an article appearing in the Izmir daily newspaper Ticaret under date of January 18, 1945. The last two paragraphs of this article have reference to the Jews of Rhodes.

Radio Sofia, in its Hungarian service, on January 26, 1945 made the following broadcast, intercepted in Istanbul, of a communication received by the Jewish Community of Sofia. According to this communication, the Community received a letter from the Jewish Community of Pecs in Southern Hungary stating that 8,000 Jews of this town were deported by the Germans last July. It is known that they have been transported to Lublin and Kattowice in Poland.

The Jewish Community in Pecs asks that all Jewish organizations, abroad, especially those in America, give all possible support in order to locate and repatriate all of those Jews who might still be alive. It is requested that a delegate of Jewish relief organizations be sent to Poland in order to investigate this and similar cases. The Jews who remain in Pecs and its environments are in great anxiety regarding their relatives who have been deported by the Germans. At the same time, they request relief for those Jews still surviving in Hungary. The Jews in America are specially asked to intervene in favor of their co-religionists who have lost a great part of their families and most of their friends. However, democratic public opinion in London, Moscow and in Switzerland is asked for urgent help in this matter. The letter of the Jewish Community describes the terrible circumstances under which the 8,000 Jews were deported to Poland by the Germans.

I am advising you of this Sofia broadcast because of the information it contains regarding the Pecs Jewish Community. Quite likely this situation is typical of that of all Hungarian Communities and is indicative of the types of problems which will arise when it again becomes possible to organize aid for the Jewish people in Hungary.

with kind regards,

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

Article appearing in the Izmir daily newspaper "Ticaret", dated January 18, 1945.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

JEWS OF RHODES HAVE BEEN CONDEMNED TO DEATH IN AN UNPRODUCTIVE ISLAND.

IT IS STATED THAT GERMANS HAVE BEEN CONSTRUCTING MOTOR-BOATS IN RHODES CAPABLE OF CARRYING 50 PERSONS EACH, FITTED WITH MOTORS TAKEN FROM TRUCKS.

According to special information we have received, the situation of the isolated German Garrisons in the Dodecanese has been getting more difficult on account of the Commando assaults. There are 4 airplanes in Rhodes which are camouflaged in forests and there are nothing but anti-aircraft guns on the air field. The difficulty in supplying foodstuffs has been increasing every day, especially the civilians are suffering. Actually no means of transport exists on the island. For this reason no connection can be maintained between the islands. While trying to repair four submarines which were partly submerged as result of bombardment, they were again destroyed by a fresh raid resulting in two of these submarines being sunk completely, leaving the rest of the two submarines in an unreparable condition.

According to rumors, the Germans in Rhodes have been constructing in the Pine Forests of that island boats to accommodate 50 persons each and are fitting them with the motors dismantled from trucks. Inhabitants of the island take this secret behavior as a step to evacuate the island. It was previously reported that all the Jewish inhabitants of Rhodes, excepting 14 Turkish subjects, were taken on a steamer to an unknown destination, and according to rumors these Jews, numbering over a thousand, were not thrown into the sea, but were forced to land on an empty and lonely small island where part of them died as a result of sickness and lack of food, and the remainder anticipated death.

This news was released by steamer personnel who took the Jews from Rhodes and who stated that their boat was sunk as a result of an air raid. It is also stated that the Jews from Leros and other islands were similarly taken to small and lonely islands, and in case search could be made in these islands the remaining Jews who may be alive could be saved. The residences of the Jews sent from Rhodes have been allotted to those whose houses had suffered as a result of bombardments, and the household effects of these people have been pillaged.

Dear Mr. Pehle:

The enclosed photographs were taken when one of the groups of Stara Zagora detainees arrived at the railroad station at Istanbul, and when these people departed from Istanbul, on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus. The photographs are not very good, but they are all that we have. I am sending them to you so that you will have some idea from photographs how these people pass through Istanbul.

EMBASSY OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Istanbul, January 23, 1945

Dear Mr. Pehle:

I refer to our interchange of telegrams regarding the establishment of quotas for various countries of entry certificates for Palestine. You will recall that at the time these quotas were promulgated the question arose as to whether or not the specific mention of quotas for only liberated, neutral or Allied countries meant that there were to be no restrictions upon the distribution of certificates to those Jewish refugees who succeeded in escaping from occupied countries. In this connection, I refer to the Department's telegram No. 1105, War Refugee Board No. 131.

You will be interested in the following situation which has arisen in Istanbul. During the past few days six Jewish refugees succeeded in escaping from the Island of Rhodes, which is still German occupied, and in landing at Marmaris, Turkey. Of these six refugees, three were of Italian nationality and three of Turkish. (They informed us that of the 3,000 Jews who formerly lived on Rhodes, only 20 remained, including these 6. All the others were deported, presumably to Poland. These 20 escaped deportation by virtue of their Turkish or Italian nationality). Request was made of the British Passport Control Office in Istanbul for Palestine visas, giving as a basis that the absence of mention of quotas for persons escaping from occupied territory might be construed as an absence of quota restrictions upon such persons. The Istanbul British Passport Control Office consulted the British Embassy in Ankara and was advised that these six people may receive Palestine entry visas only against existing established quotas. The matter, therefore, is being referred to Jerusalem.

This case is interesting only because it is the first which has come to our attention of people escaping directly from occupied territory. In view of the termination of the General Agreement, pursuant to which refugees previously have been admitted in transit through Turkey where Palestine visas were issued to them, it is impossible to state accurately whether these six people have been affected by the termination of the Agreement, or by general British policy cancelling earlier undertakings to issue Palestine visas to any Jewish refugee who succeeded in escaping from occupied territory. So far as this instance is concerned, there is no point in making an issue of the matter, as visas within the limitations of the unused certificates available under the White Paper most likely will be issued to them. In the meanwhile, if these people are not permitted to remain in Turkey pending the clarification of these technicalities, it is most probable that the British will send them to Syria where camps have been established for the shelter of the refugees from Greece.

Perhaps, in due course, other instances similar to these might come to your attention, at which time decision can be taken as to whether further steps with the British authorities in London are advisable.

The drying up, during the past several weeks, of the movement of emigrants to Palestine from Rumania and Bulgaria, via Turkey, has tended to cut off sources of information which heretofore have been available to us. A few items of general interest have come to our attention, which we shall pass along to you for your information.

1) During recent weeks the Bulgarian Government and non-official bodies in Bulgaria have been inviting Yugoslavian children to come to Bulgaria for care and shelter. Several such groups already have arrived in Bulgaria and are being distributed among the larger cities. Funds, clothing and other types of material assistance are being gathered in Bulgaria for aid to the Yugoslavian population;

2) Official Rumanian Commissions which, during the past few weeks, have travelled to Moldavia to investigate the food and health situation there and to make recommendations for assistance in that province, have made their reports in Bucharest. In my letter of November 8, 1944, I made mention of reports which have been received in Istanbul regarding the condition of the Jewish people in Bucovina. From meager information which has been received in Istanbul, it appears that the situation in Moldavia, as regards the health of the people there, likewise is very bad. We have been unable to secure any details, but in general we learn that the official report urgently recommends immediate and substantial aid of all kinds for Moldavia. The situation there is chaotic. Special efforts have been made to influence Doctors who left Moldavia to return to their posts. The absence of transport greatly hampers the amelioration of conditions in that province. The local Russian military authorities have apparently agreed to place available transport vehicles at the disposal of the province as a contribution toward the amelioration of the situation. This is all the information we have available at this time;

3) You may be interested in reading the enclosed translation of information secured in Istanbul from Rumanian broadcasts regarding the decrees which have been signed in Bucharest, defining the categories of persons who shall be placed on trial for alleged acts contrary to Rumanian national interests. These decrees seem to be very formidable on paper, but we have yet to learn in Istanbul that any serious action against persons who might be classified as war criminals has been undertaken. You will note that persons guilty of activities against political or religious minorities are to be included among those to be brought up for trial. These definitions of criminal acts might be of interest in the formulation of policy in other areas where similar trials are to be held;

4) As a matter of statistical interest, we learn that a Jewish refugee who recently came to Sofia from Albania reported that there are at present 350 Jews in Albania, mainly Yugoslaves, Greeks and Italians;

5) According to Jewish refugees who recently arrived in Bucharest from Transylvania, the Jews of Transylvania were deported not only to Auschwitz, but also to Oranienbaum and Wienerneustadt. The Jews of Solnoc and Miskolecz are confined mainly at Wienerneustadt. The absence of communications with these deportees makes it impossible to judge anything regarding their present situation. The only facts that are known are that the deportees are divided into three groups, (a) men between 15 and 50, (b) women between 15 and 50, and (c) children, old people, the physically disabled and mothers who refuse to be separated from their children. The first two groups, it is reported, were sent to labor camps, while the third group was gassed;

6) Recent regulations in Rumania provide that citizens of German ethnical origin -- men between the ages of 17 and 45 and women between the ages of 18 and 30 -- are to be incorporated into labor battalions for work in those areas where they are most needed. We do not know, however, whether these regulations apply to Jewish refugees of German ethnical origin who succeeded in escaping to Rumania. Perhaps you have had some information on this subject. We, ourselves, cannot get details until people again come to Turkey from Rumania.

The foregoing are but little pieces of information which have come to Istanbul. I am writing them, as they may fit in with other information which may have come to you through other channels.

You undoubtedly know that the Joint Distribution Committee is planning to send shoes, clothing and medical supplies to Bulgaria from Palestine. According to information we have received from Jerusalem, it is expected that the first part of these shipments will go forward shortly. The Jewish Agency similarly is sending shoes and soap from Jerusalem to Bulgaria.

With kind personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

Internal News:

During the past several days, certain measures have been taken and decrees have been signed for the carrying out of the armistice terms, which decrees will give the country a more democratic regime. Three decrees have been signed by the Council of Ministers and approved by the King, and in addition an agreement of an economic nature has been signed between the URSS and Rumania which sets the basis of the war damages to be paid to the URSS by Rumania in kind.

The three decrees are as follows:

- 1) For the punishment of those guilty of the war, and for the punishment of war profiteers;
- 2) For the punishment to be meted out to those responsible for the country's disaster;
- 3) For the organization of Trade Unions.

They are considered guilty of the war (war criminals),

- ✓ a) Those, in their quality as commanders, or in any other quality, who have subjected to inhuman treatment war prisoners, soldiers, or persons taking part in partisan groups;
- ✓ b) Those who have ordered or executed acts of cruelty or extermination against the populations of territories where war was in progress;
- ✓ c) Those who have ordered or have been the instigators of ghettos, internment camps, or deportations for adverse political or racial reasons;
- ✓ d) Those who have ordered the maltreatment of people either in groups or individually, and who have ordered the transport of persons with a view to exterminating them;
- ✓ e) Those, who in their quality of commanders, directors, supervisors, guards, etc., have maltreated persons in their custody;
- f) Those who, in their quality of police officers, judges of civil and military courts, or as investigators of cases, have subjected their prisoners to third degree measures;

000407

- g) Those who, having abandoned their country (Rumania), have placed themselves at the disposal of Germany, and have either by press or radio or by any other means carried out subversive activities against the Rumanian State;
- h) Those who have ignored the rules of international law concerning the conduct of the war.

They are considered war profiteers,

- a) Those who by reason of war conditions have made illegal gains;
- b) Those who, by abuses or violations of the measures of the State, have profited by Hitlerite, racial or legionary decrees and have made illegal fortunes.

They are considered responsible for the country's disaster,

- a) Those who established dictatorship in the country and jeopardized its security by allowing German troops to enter Rumania, and those who began the war against the URSS and the other Allied Powers;
- b) Those who, by their activity in the foreign policy of the country, consented to cede North Transylvania;
- c) Those who, by terrorist acts, imposed upon the country a fascist regime;
- d) Those who, having placed their services at the disposal of Hitlerite Germany, caused Rumania to side with Germany.

War criminals may be condemned to death.

War criminals may be condemned to hard labor for life, this punishment to be meted out also to those responsible for the war.

Culprits of any of the three categories outlined above may be condemned to 5 to 20 years hard labor, 10 to 15 years hard labor, or correctional imprisonment from 5 to 10 years.

The property of those found guilty, or of their heirs, may be confiscated.

All those found guilty will be deprived of their civil rights.

Law courts will be established for the trials of the culprits, such courts to be composed of:

000408

- a) Judges appointed by the Ministry of Justice, chosen by lot from the Court of Appeals of Bucharest;
- b) Judges to be chosen from members of political groups (of both sexes) as follows:

National Liberal Party	10	representatives
National Peasant Party	10	"
National Democratic Block	20	"

For the judgment of those accused of the disaster of the country, the courts will be composed of,

- a) Judges appointed by the Ministry of Justice, chosen by lot from the Court of Cassation (Supreme Court);
- b) Judges to be chosen from members of political groups (of both sexes). The proportion of representation is the same as above.

These special courts will function at Bucharest. The first court will be controlled by 11 members, 7 judges designated by the Ministry of Justice and 4 designated by political groups. The second court will be controlled by 11 members, 3 designated by the Ministry of Justice and 8 by political parties.

Special orders for the arrest of accused persons will be issued by the Council of Ministers. It is understood that the Council of Ministers has already issued mandates for the arrest of those accused.

Dear Mr. Pehle:

We are enclosing herein a statistical analysis of the rescue and migration work for the entire year 1944, which took place from the Balkans via Turkey to Palestine. You will note that the total number of persons who passed in transit through Turkey, including 25 Dutch exchangees, was 6809.

There is also enclosed a statistical analysis of the emigrants to Palestine who passed through Turkey during the month of December, 1944. You will note that they aggregate 1104 persons, of whom 192 came from Bulgaria, 380 from Hungary (these actually are refugees from Poland and Slovakia who escaped to Hungary and subsequently, together with Hungarian nationals, succeeded in coming to Rumania), and 556 Rumanian nationals. This last figure includes 380 children, mainly Transnistrian orphans.

EMBASSY OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Istanbul, December 12, 1944

Personal

Dear Mr. Penle:

Within the past few days, Mr. David Bengourion, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Jewish Agency of Palestine, made a trip to Bulgaria. Upon his return to Istanbul en route to Palestine, I had opportunity for speaking with him and with his assistant, who accompanied him to Bulgaria. You undoubtedly will be interested in knowing some of his first-hand observations, which I shall summarize below. Some of the matters have a direct bearing on problems in which the War Refugee Board has been interested, others, perhaps, are of more vital interest to other relief agencies, governmental and private.

1. The situation of the emigrants from Rumania who were detained at Stara Zagora--they are still there today--is as follows: At Stara Zagora there are 278 refugees. These people are for the most part Hungarians, or Slovaks and Poles from the area west of the Curzon line, who had succeeded in escaping to Hungary and subsequently made their way to Rumania. These people at Stara Zagora were especially selected in Rumania, as they came from areas which were not being claimed by the Russians, in order to avoid any difficulties which might arise from such claims. The emigrants at Kazalnik, just outside of Stara Zagora, numbering 320 persons, are for the most part real Hungarians. These likewise had been selected because of their origin in an area not subject to Russian claim.

The emigrants at Stara Zagora, with the exception of some women and children, are still living in the railroad cars in which they arrived in that city. A number of the women and children have been given shelter by the inhabitants of Stara Zagora. It should be noted that those people living in the railroad cars have been there now for almost a month.

Mr. Bengourion made inquiry in Sofia to learn what might be done in order to solve this situation. He was referred from one quarter to another, no one apparently being able to state exactly who the responsible person was to approach. Finally, however, Mr. Bengourion was told by a Russian general in charge, a General Pantscheff, that the matter can be solved only in Moscow. You might wish to consider what steps, if any, might be taken to have inquiry made in Moscow.

The retention of the emigrants at Stara Zagora has resulted in a stoppage of emigration by land from Rumania. Sofia has instructed the Bulgarian consulates in Rumania not to issue any transit visas to Rumanians, Poles, or Hungarians. If this is a result of the Stara Zagora incident, the action by Sofia can well be understood. I do not think that this instruction is something about which to become exercised at this moment, as long as the Stara Zagora group remains in Bulgaria. I think, though, that the Board may have some interest in assisting in the solution of this problem, as it affects emigration from Rumania, or at least that part of it which has to do with the movement of refugees from Hungary and Slovakia.

2. At the present time, restrictions have been placed upon emigration from Bulgaria. Until recently, although there were several sections where exit visas were not being issued, their issuance was being continued in others. Now the issuance of exit visas generally has been stopped, and those persons who are now arriving in Istanbul are those who already had had their exit permits issued or authorized. This stoppage of emigration may be only a passing phase. This sort of thing has happened before, and it is not unusual to find that regulations made one day are annulled the next.

You will recall that several months ago the Bulgarian Government stated that they will do everything in their power to facilitate the emigration of those people who desire to leave the country. One of the difficulties connected with emigration, pointed out to the Bulgarian Government at that time, was the multiplicity of documents which had to be secured before an exit permit would be granted. These documents numbered up to 13 or 15. Despite the assurance given by the Bulgarian Government, there have been no changes in the number of documents which must be secured and presented by a prospective emigrant. An absurd result of this procedure is that, for example, a six-year-old child for whom an exit permit is requested must present documents that it does not owe any money for mortgages which it has contracted, or that it owns no forest-lands in Bulgaria. At the moment, in view of the discontinuance of the issuance of exit visas, the question of documentation is perhaps somewhat academic. In due course, however, the question again will arise, and will have to be met in some way by the interested organizations.

Despite assurances which have been given and steps already taken to remove disabilities which heretofore attached to the Jewish people in Bulgaria, the desire by the Jewish people to leave the country continues. This can best be indicated by the fact that, when Mr. Bengourion held a meeting in Sofia to discuss Palestine and emigration to that country, 7000 Jews, or over one-third of the Jewish people now in Sofia, attended the public meeting he held. The Jewish people in Bulgaria, by and large, are not satisfied that their future in that country is assured, according to Mr. Bengourion.

3. In general, living conditions in Bulgaria are bad. There is no clothing to be purchased, no shoes, no wearing apparel of any kind. The obtention of these items is not dependent upon money. By way of illustration, one of the Bulgarian Ministers asked Mr. Bengourion to send him a pair of shoes from Palestine, not that this Minister was interested in having a pair of Palestinian shoes, but merely because he needed a pair and could not purchase any. Food, too, is scarce. The Germans have taken out of the country all cattle, fowl, sheep, anything that could be eaten. The stores in Sofia literally are without merchandise. Medicines are not to be obtained, even with money. Living conditions have become quite difficult.

Those persons most affected by the general hardship in Bulgaria are the Jews. These people for four years have been without income, have been away in forced-labor camps, were forced out of their homes, were deprived of their possessions, were unable to purchase any clothing, remained without adequate medical care.

Of the 25,000 Jews who had resided in Sofia four years ago, and who had been expelled to the provinces, between eighteen and twenty thousand have returned. When they returned to Sofia, they found that the dwellings which they had been compelled to give up were pillaged, even the windows and doors had been taken out of the houses. At the time of the bombardment of Sofia, non-Jews had moved to the Jewish quarter, to the houses taken away from the Jews, in the belief that the Jewish quarter, for some reason or other, would escape bombardment. When they left the Jewish quarter, to return to their own homes, they took with them everything that could be moved. In consequence, the Jews now returning can find none of their possessions.

Fifteen thousand of the Jews who returned to Sofia are living in the Jewish quarters of the city. They are crowded together, living two and three families in one room, the children with the old people, the well with the sick. Subject to deprivation over a long period of years, these Jews, undernourished, ill-clothed, many with no shoes or only what might have passed for shoes a year or two ago, have no resources. Though having the right to work, they have no employment. Most of the men have been called up for military service. Their families receive the regular allowance for those whose older winners are in the army, but this amounts to 500 leva per month. At unofficial rates of exchange, this represents about one and one-half Turkish lira. Some idea of the purchasing power represented by 500 leva can be secured when one considers this amount, for a family, with the minimum amount one person must have in order to secure food and shelter. I have been informed by individuals from Bulgaria that one must have a minimum of six to eight thousand leva per month per person in order to have a minimum existence. The Bulgarian authorities told Mr. Bengourion that they will raise the allocation to from eight to fifteen hundred leva per month.

The group among the Jews most hard hit are, of course, the children. There are upwards of 5,000 Jewish children in Bulgaria between the ages of six and fifteen. Most of these children are residing in the Jewish quarter of Sofia, undernourished and badly clothed. Many of them are without shoes. Although the Jewish children in Bulgaria now have the right to attend the Bulgarian schools, Mr. Bengourion stated that he saw many children who could not avail themselves of this opportunity, as they had no shoes or decent clothes to wear and therefore had to remain at home.

Despite restrictions which have been placed upon emigration to Palestine, heretofore reported to you, Mr. Bengourion proposes to recommend and to take steps to make efficacious the admission into Palestine of 5,000 children from Bulgaria. He proposes also to try to purchase in Palestine 10,000 pairs of shoes for export to Bulgaria, and also a quantity of medicines based upon the list which I transmitted to you in our letter of December 8. Medicines are urgently required because of the existence of typhus in the Jewish quarter, malaria, diptheria, and other illnesses. There is no soap to be obtained in Bulgaria. As a result, it is not possible for the people in the Jewish quarter to wash themselves, to clean their clothes, and to take the necessary steps to delouse their apparel or to take elementary measures of sanitation for the crowded quarters in which they live.

4. While in Bulgaria, Mr. Bengourion learned that there are 300 Jews of Macedonia who have come out of hiding in the mountains and are now in Skopie. At this time, these are all the Jews known to be in Macedonia after the deportations which took place a year or two ago. Perhaps there are others still in hiding, but they have not yet disclosed themselves. This group in Macedonia is another which requires assistance, but it cannot be reached from Bulgaria. Perhaps, in due course, some channel will be found through which these people can be aided.

5. From here in Istanbul, it would seem that the following inferences can be drawn regarding the Balkans. With the exception of Italy, whose political position is somewhat unique, Rumania and Bulgaria are the first two Axis countries which have been fully liberated. The Jews in these two countries have felt in full measure all the pressures and disabilities, the deportations and sufferings to which the Jewish people in Axis countries could have been subjected. In a limited sense, one might regard them as an example of what one might expect to find among the general population in other areas of Central and Eastern Europe which have been under Nazi control.

At the present time, the efforts of the Jewish people, or the Rumanian and Bulgarian Governments in their behalf, to reestablish themselves, must be regarded as an attempt to lift themselves by their own bootstraps. It cannot be done, and outside aid, in kind and in money, must be made available to aid them in their efforts.

Under the circumstances, it would seem that an early study of conditions in Rumania and Bulgaria, of problems which exist and which will arise, would be informative and profitable to some of the governmental agencies, such as the Intergovernmental Committee for Refugees, the UNRRA, and others which, in due course, might be called upon to aid refugees in liberated areas which formerly were Axis. If any of them expects to give assistance, generous and immediate aid, preferably in kind, should be sent if the assistance is to do any good.

With kind personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

Dear Mr. Pehle:

There is enclosed herein a full set of statistics which we have secured from Jewish Agency representatives in Istanbul, regarding emigration to Palestine which took place during the month of October via Istanbul. Other statistics are enclosed which recapitulate the entire emigration movement via Istanbul for the period January 1 through October 31, 1944. We are sure you will find these figures to be of interest.

We wish to call your attention to the fact that although, during the month of October, with the exception of three persons, all the emigration originated from Bulgaria and Rumania, the actual origins of the emigrants and refugees were:

Poland	60
Hungary	191
Rumania	469
Bulgaria	69
Total:	789

These statistics also show that during the month of October, 117 children arrived in Istanbul from Rumania en route to Palestine under the "children's scheme".

Istanbul, November 17, 1944

Dear Mr. Pehle:

In our telegram of November 13, Ankara's No. 185, we informed you of instructions which have been received in Istanbul relating to emigration to Palestine during the six months' period beginning October 1, 1944. Reference is also made to our recent letters in which we have informed you of the relative ease with which emigration is now taking place from Rumania and Bulgaria.

As a result of the increased emigration from Bulgaria and Rumania, and as a result of the various agreements and understandings which had been reached with the interested authorities, there has been renewed interest by some of the rescue agencies here in the chartering of vessels for the large-scale movement of emigrants. The new limitations may cause great difficulties and embarrassment if any of the organizations independently charter vessels which should suddenly appear in Istanbul carrying passengers in excess of the number which might be admitted to Palestine during any one month. The British Passport Control Offices undoubtedly will limit the entry into Palestine to the total of 1500 per month. The Jewish Agency will be bound to adhere to these instructions, and will advise its representatives in Bulgaria and Rumania accordingly.

There would remain, then, the independent organizations such as the Vaad Hahatzalah, represented by Mr. Griffel, and the Emergency Committee to Save the Jews of Europe, represented by Mr. Jabotinsky. You will recall that last July Mr. Hirschmann authorized Mr. Griffel to advise the latter's associates in Rumania that, in the event sea-transports from Constanza to Istanbul were arranged by them, the emigrants would be permitted to land in Istanbul in the same manner as were those who arrived on earlier ships. At that time, immigration into Palestine was unrestricted, and such an assurance could be given. In view of the new restrictions, however, the sudden arrival in Istanbul of a ship from Rumania might entirely disrupt the control which apparently now must be kept over immigration to Palestine. Therefore, it seemed advisable to advise Mr. Griffel that the assurances given him last July could no longer provide a basis for independently chartering vessels to carry refugees from Rumania to Istanbul. This was done in order to avoid possible embarrassment, either to the American Embassy, the War Refugee Board, or the British Passport Control Office, should a large number of refugees unexpectedly arrive here by sea. Accordingly, we wrote a letter to Mr. Griffel under date of November 17, explaining the position to him. We are enclosing a copy of the letter herein.

For the same reasons, we thought it advisable to write to Mr. Jabotinsky, so that he likewise does not take some kind of independent action on the expectation that he will be extricated from whatever position he might find himself in. A copy of this letter is likewise enclosed herein.

Before sending these letters, I cleared the matter with Ambassador Steinhardt, who agreed that the position of the Embassy and ourselves should be made clear.

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

Istanbul, November 17, 1944

Dear Mr. Jabotinsky:

We have been advised by the representatives of the Jewish Agency in Istanbul that a limitation has been placed upon emigration to Palestine from all countries to the number of 1,500 persons monthly, and that the admission to Palestine of emigrants from Rumania and Bulgaria is to be limited to 5,000 persons for the six months' period beginning October 1.

We have no information as to the plans you might be making for the chartering of vessels for the transportation to Istanbul, en route to Palestine, of emigrants from Bulgaria and Rumania. Nevertheless, where the above-mentioned restrictions are involved, in connection with emigration from the two countries mentioned, we wish to advise you not to assume that the American Embassy or the War Refugee Board will be able to make effective whatever projects you might undertake. Will you please be guided accordingly.

Istanbul, November 17, 1944

Dear Mr. Griffel:

In July of this year, Mr. Ira A. Hirschmann, representing the War Refugee Board, at your request authorized you to state to your associates in Bucharest that, in the event that transports sent by them were to arrive in Istanbul by sea from Constanza, such emigrants would be able to land in the same way as passengers on earlier ships.

Within the past few days, we have been informed by the Jewish Agency representatives in Istanbul that, in accordance with instructions received by them, emigration to Palestine from all countries is to be limited to 1,500 persons per month, and additionally, that a limitation of a total of 5,000 persons has been placed upon the number who will be admitted to Palestine, coming from Bulgaria and Rumania, during the six months beginning October 1.

We are sure you will agree that the limitations on emigration to Palestine which have been established substantially alter the situation as it existed last July, and that the unconditional assurance given you by Mr. Hirschmann cannot be regarded today as a basis for the chartering of vessels to carry emigrants destined to Palestine from Rumania to Istanbul.

We are writing this to you at this time so that you will be guided accordingly.

EMBASSY OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
Istanbul, November 15, 1944

Dear Mr. Pehle:

In several telegrams which we have recently transmitted to you, we have advised you of the substantial numbers of emigrants from Rumania and Bulgaria who, during recent weeks, have passed through Istanbul in transit, proceeding to Palestine. In our letters of October 30 and November 8, we informed you that this emigration movement was going smoothly, pursuant to the various agreements and understandings secured by Ambassador Steinhardt as the result of his relationships with the Turkish Foreign Office and others in the Government. You are already familiar with these agreements, as they have been reported to you in detail.

For your personal information, you will be interested to know that there seems to have been some desire recently on the part of the Turkish Foreign Office to suspend the so-called "children's scheme" for emigration of children from the Balkans to Palestine, and the agreement secured by Ambassador Steinhardt for the admission of all Jewish persons to Turkey in transit to Palestine, regardless of whether they were in possession of Turkish transit visas at the time they arrived at the border, or at Istanbul by sea.

On October 24, Mr. Earl Packer, First Secretary of the Embassy at Ankara, was invited to call upon Mr. Kemal Aziz Payman, Director General of Consular Department, Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Mr. Payman advised Mr. Packer that arrangements concerning the "children's scheme" had been suspended, because of recent events in Rumania and Bulgaria. He also gave as a reason that the children in the two countries were not emigrating, even up to the small number for which transit visas specifically had been authorized under the "children's scheme". Mr. Payman also stated that, should it be possible for the two Bulgarian vessels, the SS Pirin and Vita, to bring refugees from Constanza and Burgas to Istanbul, as was discussed at one time, he would be glad to make the necessary arrangements for the admission of the passengers in transit through Turkey. He said that it might now be possible to make use of small motorboats for the evacuation of refugees from Bulgaria and Rumania to Turkey, adding that there is little likelihood of any further sinkings, since presumably there were no more German submarines in the Black Sea. Referring to Hungary, Mr. Payman concluded that he could not see how Turkey could be of assistance in connection with the transportation of Jews in Hungary from that country to Palestine or elsewhere, because of the Hungarian military situation.

The points made by Mr. Payman were not in accordance with the facts as we know them. Children have been coming through quite regularly now from Bulgaria and Rumania under the "children's scheme". The Vita sank late last August, while en route from Saltchik to Burgas to embark passengers for Istanbul, and the Pirin, as a Bulgarian-registered vessel, presumably is no longer available for emigration work under the terms of the Bulgarian armistice agreement. We pointed these facts out to Mr. Packer, so that he might be able to pursue his conversations with Mr. Payman. We suggested the following:

1. The "children's scheme" is operating and should be continued. Additional blocks of transit visas should be authorized when children from Rumania and Bulgaria leave Turkey at the Syrian border;
2. The arrangement for admitting Jewish people who present themselves at the Turkish border for transit through Turkey en route to Palestine is functioning well and should not be disturbed;
3. The understanding which has led to the admission in transit through Turkey of refugees arriving in Istanbul by sea is likewise functioning well and should be continued;
4. Authorization by competent Turkish authorities for the use of Turkish motor vessels to travel between Rumania, Bulgaria and Turkey would be most helpful for the continuation of emigration operations. We referred specifically to the Bulbul and the Salehattin, which have already been re-built for carrying refugees and are available for such voyages. In this connection, as far as we know, Russian authorities have interposed no objections to emigration from Rumania and Bulgaria, nor do they in principle oppose emigration by sea if neutral vessels can be found.
5. We must agree at this moment that there is little Turkey can do to provide transportation to carry Jewish people from Hungary to Turkey.

Mr. Packer saw Mr. Payman again on November 10. In summary, Mr. Payman advised Mr. Packer as follows:

1. He did not yet know that the Vita had been sunk, or that the Pirin might not be available for transportation of refugees.
2. He had had no indication as yet that the Turkish maritime authorities had withdrawn restrictions upon voyages made by

Turkish boats in the Black Sea. [Recent newspaper items in Istanbul have stated that Turkish vessels will be permitted to travel to Burgas for purposes of carrying merchandise. HK/

3. The children who have been arriving from Rumania and Bulgaria were traveling on the basis of Turkish authorizations which had been issued some time ago. After some discussion, he agreed to propose to his superiors in the Ministry that authorization be granted for a total of 70 children and five adults to enter Turkey every ten days from Rumania, and the same number every ten days from Bulgaria. He thought this was preferable to any other arrangement, in view of present very uncertain means of communication.

4. Persons who were authorized individual visas would have to be counted in the total number of 75, whether or not they were children or adults. It would be impossible, because of difficulties in securing railway cars, for transit across Turkey, to authorize a larger number at the present time.

The foregoing points made by Mr. Payman, if carried out, would upset the arrangement under which people are now entering Turkey in transit upon the basis of Palestine certificate confirmations issued by the Jewish Agency. We discussed these possibilities with Jewish Agency representatives and those of other interested agencies in Istanbul, and we finally decided for the time being to take no further steps in the matter. The organizations will continue emigration as heretofore, and should there be a stoppage, the question can then be brought up anew. Too much discussion with the Foreign Office at this time might draw the issues too sharply, and result in cancellation of the agreements.

Ambassador Steinhardt threw additional light upon the whole proceeding. I am sure you will want to know about it for your personal information. Casual remarks made to him during the past week or ten days by officials of the Turkish government led him to believe that they were putting up trial balloons to see whether they could terminate the "children's scheme" and the general agreement the Foreign Office gave Ambassador Steinhardt for the transit through Turkey of Jewish refugees. Ambassador Steinhardt advised me that he indicated clearly each time that any attempt to disturb existing arrangements would prompt him to go to the Prime Minister for an explanation as to why the Turkish government desired no longer to participate in the humanitarian act of rescuing unfortunate people. Mr. Packer followed the same line in his talks with Mr. Payman. It is Ambassador Steinhardt's impression that his violent reaction has punctured these trial balloons, and that no further attempt will be made for the time being by the Turkish authorities to disturb existing arrangements. Accordingly, he is not seriously disturbed concerning the movement of refugees through Turkey.

Ambassador Steinhardt believes that the Foreign Office was prompted to extend feelers because of inconvenience which had been sustained by the Ministry of Communications resulting from some seven or eight hundred arrivals within the space of a relatively few days, and a growing anxiety that the Turkish government may be drawn into the Arab-Jewish controversy in Palestine by continuing the transit of large numbers of Jewish refugees. As against these two motives the desire to maintain friendly relations with the United States, not to arouse the American press, or to offend the American Ambassador, will doubtless prevail, in Ambassador Steinhardt's opinion.

Whether or not the Ministry of Communications is inconvenienced by the arrival of a substantial number of refugees in Istanbul within a short period of time, I do not know. I do know that a special train was made available when the Salehattin passengers arrived in Istanbul, and additional cars for the regular trains are provided when the smaller groups come through. This has been done quite promptly, in accordance with the agreement Ambassador Steinhardt obtained.

The foregoing is for your personal information. Should there be any further developments, I shall advise you.

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

Istanbul, November 9, 1944

Dear Mr. Pehle:

Under date of September 1, 1944, we sent you a memorandum concerning the organization in Turkey by Mr. Denenberg, of the International Rescue and Relief Committee, of a local committee here to aid political and intellectual refugees who require assistance in Turkey. This included those persons of alleged German nationality who, last August, were sent to residence assignee in Turkey in view of their refusal to return to Germany at the time of the break of diplomatic relations between Turkey and Germany.

In the foregoing connection, there is enclosed herein a translation of a memorandum dated October 28, 1944, which was received by the International Red Cross in Istanbul, and which was made available to us. You may find this useful for information and for your own records, in the event that applications are received for licenses to transmit additional funds to the IIRC Committee in Istanbul for the internees.

The International Red Cross has interested itself in these people and has attempted to obtain permission from the Turkish authorities to visit the camps and to assist the internees. I have been informed that they were not successful in this attempt, as the authorities regard internment of these persons as an internal Turkish matter. The International Red Cross has not permitted the matter to drop there, and I believe are considering pressing it on the grounds that the International Red Cross reciprocally is trying to obtain permission to visit the Turkish internees in Germany.

The $1,000 referred to on page 2 of the translation, described as a sum made available by Mr. Hirschmann of the War Refugee Board, was in fact provided by the Joint Distribution Committee through the International Red Cross at Mr. Hirschmann's intercession.

With kind regards,

Sincerely, ✓

COPY

Ankara, October 28, 1944

All the possessors of German passports have been sent into forced residence, except persons in the service of the Government, among whom a selection has been made. Among these latter, the greater part have been allowed to remain at their posts and seven families of this category, who have been sent to Anatolia, await their early return to their customary abode.

At Yozgat, there are	130	persons in forced residence
" Kirsehir "	"	160
" Corum "	"	150

The greatest number of needy persons are at Yozgat. There, according to a list set up four weeks ago, 52 persons are urgently in need of aid. Seven others will be in need within the next weeks. Seven other persons, still, hope to be able very soon to take up their normal occupations, without which they will be equally in miserable circumstances.

At Corum, the number of paupers reaches, according to the report of the local committee, thirty, and that is going to increase.

The internees of Yozgat and Corum are all inhabitants of Istanbul; those of Kirsehir come partly from Ankara. Ten are paupers, plus 5 who hope to be able to resume their occupations. As to the persons coming from Istanbul, we have no precise data, but we estimate them at about twenty.

We can then say that if there are no releases in the course of the coming months, the effective number of persons in need of help will be between 120 and 150.

Living is the cheapest at Corum. The local committee has at its disposition 45 pounds per person per month. At Yozgat and Kirsehir, 10 pounds more would be necessary. These sums allow one to suppose that the collective kitchens lately instituted have already caused the cost of living to be lowered. But the special requirements of winter are not counted in this amount. Indeed, in addition to the current expenses for fuel, one must add repairs to the houses, the purchase of bedding and the installation of stoves. Yozgat, where the winter is generally long and hard, is the least well organized (houses, clothes). Some thousand of pounds would certainly be necessary to take care of the diverse needs of this camp.

Up to now the needy have been assisted by the fact that:

1. The clergymen of the three camps receive their aid from their own organization;
2. The local committees have organized collections among the more fortunate residents.

No possibility exists of obtaining regular sums at Kirsehir. The people at the head of the committee of this village have succeeded in procuring a few funds from outside, from Istanbul.

Mr. Denenberg of the "International Rescue and Relief Committee" has organized a relief committee at Istanbul composed of Messrs. Rüstow, Bretholz, Reuter, Andreas Schwarz, and Philipp Schwarz. Of the 6,000 pounds that Mr. Denenberg had left in Istanbul at the disposition of this committee, 2,000 pounds have already been spent.

The German refugees remaining in Ankara continually collect among themselves funds to assist the people in forced residence who come from Ankara, whose number, moreover, is not great. In addition, Mr. Hirschmann, of the War Refugee Board, has left at the disposition of the Delegate of the Red Cross the sum of $1,000 to use in collaboration with Professor Bokstein. Seven hundred pounds will be shortly deducted from this sum for the first winter assistance.

The Austrians have subscribed some small sums for their compatriots.

Guarantees of aid for the future:

According to the letter of the Turkish Red Crescent addressed to the Delegate of the International Committee of the Red Cross, and from numerous oral confirmations, the Turkish Government has asserted its desire to come to the aid of the inhabitants of the three villages of Anatolia, as much for the feeding as for the clothing of them and in general for all their needs. However, this assistance has not yet begun . . . The representative of the Ankara committee has questioned the Dr. of the Security, who told him that the necessary sums would be set up and that afterward the decisions would be made and then applied.

Our first and important ^{request} question is to procure by every means, and by informing all persons who may be interested in this problem, the acceleration by the Turkish Government of its numerous formalities, that it may come of the aid of these people.

Let it be understood, if the Government does not quickly intervene, the private funds, such as those of the Americans, will be quickly exhausted.

Among the internees are a certain number of Czechoslovakians. We request that the representation of the Czechoslovakian Government be asked to take in hand the protection of its nationals.

Distribution of Assistance.

In making an abstract of the case of the refugees from Ankara, who are under the charge of the committee founded in Ankara, the distribution of money and other assistance is made collectively and through the medium of the presidents of the local committees. The committees of Corum and Yozgat give every satisfaction as to their composition and their work, and possess the full confidence of the internees.

At the head of the committee of Yozgat is Dr. Wilbrant who is a trustworthy man and a personal friend of Mr. Donenberg, and is moreover an excellent organizer. The committee of Corum is composed of Mr. Blümel, manager of a printing house in Istanbul, Dr. Reimann and Mr. Janoschek.

The situation at Kirsehir is not ^{so} satisfactory on this point. The distribution of aid is made through the committee of the camp, at the head of which is Mr. von Aulock, former manager of the Deutsche Orient Bank of Istanbul. Mr. von Aulock was chosen by us and not by the internees. So far as we are able to know, he fulfills this function reluctantly. With him works Dr. Beade who, for personal and political reasons, does not enjoy everyone's sympathy. Because of this fact, the practical work of the distribution of assistance is made by the son-in-law of Mr. Beade, Mr. Laqueur, whose impartiality and accuracy have our complete confidence.

If the two aforesaid heads do not enjoy the complete liking of the camp, it is necessary, nevertheless, to note that they have gotten together considerable sums, either from the residents who are richer or from Istanbul.

In each camp there are aged persons who were accustomed to the climate of Istanbul or Ankara, and for whom the living conditions in the camps and the climate of these mountainous regions are painful and even dangerous. It is to be feared that there may be deaths during the winter. There are not less than 35 persons at Yozgat alone who are over 60 years of age. These persons have presented petitions to the Vali of this village, requesting to be sent back to their civil domiciles. We believe that these petitions should be supported with all the energy possible, and if it is not possible to have these persons returned to Istanbul or Ankara, to have them placed in regions where their health is not in danger.

EMBASSY OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Istanbul, November 8, 1944

Dear Mr. Pehle:

On October 30, we wrote to you giving you some information regarding the group of 160 refugees who passed through Istanbul from Rumania en route to Palestine. Since then, we have sent you telegrams informing you of the arrival here of the 547 passengers coming from Rumania on the Salahattin, the group of 80 persons who arrived from Bulgaria, and the additional group of 43 Polish refugees who came here by railroad from Rumania. All these groups, with the exception of the last one of 43, have already left for Palestine, and it is expected that the 43 will leave within the next few days. At this time, we should like to give you a little more information about these groups and to pass along to you some of the reports regarding conditions in liberated areas which have been received from the refugees in transit.

As we pointed out in our October 30 letter, emigration from Rumania and Bulgaria is moving quite smoothly. Within less than two weeks, 830 persons comprising four groups have come to Istanbul. We are awaiting additional groups from Rumania and Bulgaria shortly. Although this emigration movement may not now, strictly speaking, come within the framework of the War Refugee Board directives, as the areas from which it is taking place have been liberated, its success is a result of the efforts of the Embassy in Ankara and the War Refugee Board in Istanbul. The admission in transit into Turkey of refugees arriving by sea was accomplished through the efforts of Ambassador Steinhardt and the War Refugee Board. If the interested cooperation of the Turkish authorities had not been secured, there would have been no emigration by sea. The despatch with which special trains are made available for these large groups of refugees arriving by sea likewise is attributable to the efforts of Ambassador Steinhardt and the Embassy. The arrangement which was made for the admission into Turkish territory of refugees in transit for Palestine, coming from Rumania and Bulgaria by railroad, likewise is a direct result of the Embassy's and the War Refugee Board's efforts. These points might well be kept in mind in whatever discussions might arise in the future concerning the American contribution to emigration from the Balkans, and in discussions with our Zionist friends.

The vessel Salahattin, as you may know, was the last of the four Turkish boats, the others being the Morina, Bulbul, and Mefkura, which had been held in Constanza harbor for the transportation of refugees from Rumania to Istanbul. Under the terms of the Rumanian and Bulgarian armistice agreements, it is not expected here at this time that additional boats of Rumanian or Bulgarian registry will be secured for additional transports. There is some possibility that the Bulgarian-registered vessel Milca, which in the past brought two groups from Constanza to Istanbul, may secure permission for another voyage, but the organizations here are not counting on it until the boat actually arrives in Istanbul. For further emigration by sea, then, emphasis will have to be laid upon Turkish-registered vessels or those of other neutral countries. According to recent newspaper accounts, freight traffic between Istanbul and Burgas, Bulgaria, by Turkish vessels is to be resumed shortly, and perhaps this will provide fresh opportunities for the interested organizations to secure boats for refugee emigration.

The Salahattin group was very well selected in terms of distribution among the Palestine organizations. Some eight or nine Palestine parties were represented with almost equal numbers of passengers: the Misrahi and Agudath Israel organizations with 78 and 56 persons respectively, and the Revisionists with 64, among others.

For your information, Mr. Griffel, who in Istanbul is representing the Vaad Hahatzalah and the Agudath Israel organizations in New York, has been in to see us several times recently concerning the emigration of orthodox Jews from Rumania. You will remember that we had some correspondence with you on this subject last July, and Mr. Hirschmann is entirely familiar with the situation. Mr. Griffel states that according to his information there are some 10,000 orthodox Jews in Rumania who wish to emigrate to Palestine, and he is repeatedly bringing up the question of the chartering of special ships for them. He, indeed, has requested us to endorse this project and to recommend it in New York, presumably for purposes of fund-raising for his organization. I believe the Vaad Hahatzalah in New York also requested him to secure the endorsement of their program by Ambassador Steinhardt. Naturally, neither Ambassador Steinhardt nor we gave him any such endorsement. I suggested that, if he wants to raise money or secure licenses, he would have to discuss this question in the United States, that there is nothing we can do from here to assist him. It is my personal opinion that there is no particular need for special action on behalf of the persons whom Mr. Griffel is trying to aid. The Salahattin brought more than a proportionate share of orthodox Jews, and there is no reason in my mind why, if this proportion can be continued, he should not be satisfied.

Furthermore, as there is now opportunity for people in Rumania to travel by railroad, his proteges can likewise make use of this facility.

We advised you that a group of some 25 of the Hungarian Jews which had been released from the Bor mines in Jugoslavia were included among the Salahattin passengers, and that an additional 24 arrived by railroad from Sofia in one of the Bulgarian groups. After speaking with some of them, I secured some information which is at variance with what we cabled to you in our telegram No. 168, October 20. We now learn that there were in all 8000 Hungarian Jews who had been mobilized in Budapest in April or May of this year, for the Bor mines. Of this number, 2000 died, and of the remainder, according to one version 2000, according to another 4000 of the miners had been evacuated by the Germans in the direction of Belgrade. The balance was freed to go where the men chose. Some made their way to Bulgaria, but most of them to Rumania as a start in the direction of their return to their homes. It was just during the last few days that we learned that the 7000 Jews from Jugoslavia, for whom admission into Rumania was granted by the Rumanian Government, as reported in our telegram No. 166, was intended for these Bor miners.

Naturally, we had opportunity for seeing the Bor group which arrived in Istanbul by railroad. They arrived here just as they left the mines, that is, in old, torn clothing and shoes, with no possessions. They had large yellow six-pointed stars stenciled on the backs of their coats, and on the left side of their coats in front. They presented a miserable picture, and will require much sympathetic treatment before they can be readjusted. Some of them told me that they had been in and out of camps and labor battalions for the past five years, in Poland, in Russia, in Subcarpathia, in Hungary and in Jugoslavia. They were provided with new clothing in Istanbul when they arrived here, and the only thing one could do with their old clothing was to throw it away and burn it. I think this group was typical of what might be expected of the several thousand which undoubtedly will find their way into Rumania, and probably the state of the Transnistrian deportees and the Jews who formerly were in the Rumanian labor battalions. Help will be needed for them, and from what I can judge here on the basis of reports, there will be difficulty in providing the necessary aid in Rumania, because of the shortage of funds and material assistance there. Again, the speed with which these Bor miners could be emigrated is a result of the groundwork originally laid by the War Refugee Board.

In our October 30 letter, we advised you that according to reports, Transnistrian children who have been repatriated to Rumania will not be permitted to emigrate, and that in due course, as alleged Russian nationals, they will be brought back to Russia. There is enclosed herein a translation of an item which appeared in a Rumanian newspaper, which just came into our possession, confirming this report.

Refugees passing through Istanbul have told us about the needs of the Jewish people in Rumania. In a cable which we sent you on November 7, we summarized a report which we received from Dr. Wilhelm Filderman of the Jewish Committee in Bucharest. From this, it appears to be quite urgent that an examination be made at the earliest possible moment of the situation of the Jews in Rumania, in order to help organize relief there and to provide aid. I judge that, because of internal conditions, such organization can best be achieved by having an outsider come into the country to lend direction and authority. I am sure that the presence of an American organization, or even an individual, would greatly bolster the morale of the Rumanian Jews and would provide contact with the outside world, which has been lacking for the past several years. I believe, also, that investigation in Rumania will reveal that the aid necessary will probably be of a kind and in scope beyond that which private organizations can provide. I do not know from here how assistance in Rumania fits within the general scheme of international relief on an inter-governmental basis, but should provision for such aid have been made, I believe that it must be urgently pursued, especially in view of the winter months which are now upon us. Although in Rumania there is no scarcity of food which, however, is expensive, I think that assistance by way of clothing and medicines must be in kind, as the former, though of bad quality, is very expensive and the latter unobtainable.

There has been some discussion about an investigation of needs and requirements in Russian-occupied territory which is to be made by the UNRRA. From here, it would seem that only in this manner will it be possible to make an adequate survey of the need. Few people are passing through Istanbul who come from these regions. I did speak with one who had recently been in Bucovina, which is now Russian-occupied territory. In summary, what he told me is that, of the former Jewish population of 72,000, most of whom resided in Czernowitz, 60,000 were deported to Transnistria by the Rumanians and 2000, who had some resources, succeeded in entering Rumania itself during recent months. Ten to twelve thousand of the Transnistrian deportees have now returned to Bucovina, so that there are now altogether approximately 21,000 Jews there. This community, I am informed, is in dire straits. The 10,000 Jews who originally remained there were those who had no resources--otherwise they would have left for Rumania-- and I am advised that they are unable to take care of their own needs, not to mention those of the Transnistrian deportees who are returning in dreadful condition, physically and psychologically.

I am informed that among the Jews in Bucovina are about 300 Polish Jews who managed to come over the Polish border, and 500 Hungarian Jews who had been mobilized for German labor battalions but who managed to escape upon the retreat of the Germans before the Russian army. The Hungarian Jews were still there up until a few weeks ago, but my informant had no knowledge as to whether they are still there. He was unable to state definitely because last July when the Russians appeared in Bucovina some 80 German and Austrian Jews, whom one normally would not identify with Nazi sympathies, were sent to Siberia because of their German or Austrian nationality. Perhaps it would be possible, if it has not already been done, to request the Russians to give consideration to the antecedents of the "enemy" nationals in dealing with them. Jews in Bucovina, I am advised, are now permitted to work, but their earnings, when they do work, are eight or ten roubles per day. It is necessary only to compare this with the price of meat--15 roubles per kilo, for example--to determine how far their incomes go.

While this information we have about Bucovina is the report of only one man, there would seem to be some basis for early investigation and assistance in that area.

Another problem which has been brought to my attention is that of Polish Jewish refugees now in Rumania. I am informed that there are between 1500 and 2000 there. Some of them arrived in Rumania during the end of 1939 and 1940, the early stages of the war. Others arrived during later periods, especially via Hungary. Some of the refugees were in possession of Polish documents, such as passports, birth certificates, military books, etc. The greater number, however, arrived without any documents of any kind, or perhaps with documents which they secured for purposes of their flight. I am advised that, previously, the Chilean representative in Bucharest was in charge of Polish interests but, subsequent to Chile's breaking of diplomatic relations with the Axis, the Swiss took over Polish interests. The Chileans, I am advised, issued Polish documents upon presentation of such proof as could be secured that the individual concerned was a Polish national. This sometimes took the form of a statement of two recognized Polish nationals. The Swiss, however, I am informed, originally provided Polish papers only if an individual was in possession of a Polish passport, which the Swiss extended, or some other document issued in Poland which on its face indicated Polish nationality. Obviously, a large proportion of the refugees had no Polish documents which could satisfy this requirement. In due course, this was somewhat relaxed, in consequence of which the Swiss issued a sort of certificate of identity, which identified the possessor as a Polish national only for Rumania. Others are still without documents.

The question of Polish documents becomes acute in those instances where the refugee desires to emigrate. The possessor of a Polish passport, of course, has no problem. Some of the people who had Swiss identity cards secured an endorsement thereon stating that it was valid for emigration to Palestine, one trip. The entire arrangement for the Polish refugees in Rumania is not satisfactory at the present time, and emigration to Palestine for which most are now ready, is being delayed through the absence of adequate travel documents, according to this informant.

I am bringing the foregoing to your attention just as the information was received by me, since this might be a matter in which the Intergovernmental Committee might be interested and helpful. If these people are ready to go to Palestine, this would be some contribution toward the solution of the problems of displaced persons.

I have written to you at some length to summarize little pieces of information which we pick up here and there in Istanbul, and I think you might be interested in knowing about them. Whether or not any of the matters touched upon can be solved, I, in Istanbul, do not know, as I have little information here regarding the activities of the various intergovernmental agencies. Undoubtedly you will know what, if anything, can be done.

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

. . . As it is known, out of the orphans that have been brought over from Transnistria at the cost of such tremendous sacrifices, only a few hundred have been able to leave, whereas 1350 are still here.

The Soviet Command has taken these children under its protection, considering that they all are Soviet citizens by birth. Consequently, the Command has ordered that these children be transferred from the homes where they have been sheltered up to now to new premises, which had hitherto been serving as homes to certain educational institutions controlled by the Ministry of Labor.

On this occasion, the Committee of Assistance that had hitherto been taking care of the children, received the following letter from the Prime Minister:

"Residency of the Cabinet

"Council of Social Welfare

"Municipal Committee of Bucarest

"September 23, 1944, No. 6774

"To the Committee of Assistance, Bucarest,

"78, Calea Moșilor.

"We have the honor to inform you that, subsequent to the demand made by the Russian Military Command, the Jewish children originating from Transnistria, Bessarabia, and northern Bucovina are to be repatriated. Pending the final arrangements for their repatriation, those children will be housed by the Council of Public Welfare in conformity with the instructions issued by the General Commanding the Russian Forces and by the Chief Mayor of Bucarest.

000442

"With the purpose of carrying out these instructions, I have delegated four officials who will undertake a census of all those children, in cooperation with your representatives, in the way we fixed it up today in the conversation we had with your President, Lawyer Schwefelberg.

"We would like to ask you to be good enough to instruct your respective organs to carry out this census in the most urgent way.

Dear Mr. Pehle:

We have heretofore advised you of the arrival in Istanbul by railroad from Rumania of a group of some 160 adults and children en route to Palestine. Mr. Hirschmann, in his reports to you, has included information regarding the earlier steps which had been taken and agreements obtained for the issuance of the necessary transit visas for emigration from Rumania. Quite likely, he has likewise advised you personally, since his return, of other details. However, the War Refugee Board, as a matter of interest, might wish to know how this scheme is developing.

In accordance with arrangements which have been made with the Bulgarian authorities, Sofia has advised the Bulgarian Consulate in Rumania that it is in order to issue Bulgarian transit visas to any persons in Rumania who are in possession of confirmations, issued by representatives of the Jewish Agency, that immigration certificates for Palestine have been authorized for them. This arrangement depended, of course, upon the two earlier agreements which had been secured, namely (agreement with the British Passport Control Office) that any Jewish refugee arriving on Turkish territory would be admitted to Palestine, and (agreement with the Turkish Foreign Office) that the Turkish authorities would issue transit visas to any persons who are in possession of one of four identifying documents, as enumerated in the special agreement between the American and British Embassies in Ankara and the Turkish Foreign Office, regarding which you have already been advised. With few exceptions, the persons included in the group of 160 mentioned above were in possession of Rumanian passports and exit visas. Turkish transit visas were issued either in Rumania or at Svingrad, at the Bulgarian-Turkish frontier. For your confidential information, the group included four children who simply attached themselves to the larger group of children in Rumania, and one child who did the same in Bulgaria. The four Rumanian children received Bulgarian transit visas, and all five received Turkish transit visas at Svingrad, with nothing more in their pockets than confirmations of the Jewish Agency that Palestine certificates would be issued to them.

During recent days, a total of perhaps 50 Jewish people from Bulgaria have presented themselves at Svilinograd with Bulgarian passports and other documents, and were admitted into Turkey without any difficulty on the basis of their Jewish Agency confirmations. This procedure is now working quite automatically. The Turkish transit visas are issued at Svilinograd, the Palestine certificates and other necessary transit visas from Turkey to Palestine are issued in Istanbul, and the journeys can be continued.

There is some confusion as to the categories of persons who may emigrate from Rumania. We are advised that children repatriated from Transnistria are not being permitted to emigrate, as the Russians, regarding these children as Russian nationals, wish to return them to Russia. This same attitude seems to apply to adults repatriated or otherwise returned to Rumania from Transnistria. We are advised, likewise, that there may be some difficulty for Polish nationals to emigrate from Rumania, as they, too, seem to be considered as persons to be returned to their countries of origin. Although this apparently is the general attitude, nevertheless 20 Polish nationals were among the 160 persons referred to above. Then there is question as to whether young men of military age will be permitted to emigrate from Rumania. In principle, all men of military age, including Jews, have been required to register for military service. However, Rumanian Jewish young men in small numbers are receiving passports and other necessary documents, and are emigrating. As you can see--and it has always been thus in Balkan countries--regulations have been made and then exceptions turn up one after the other, so that a clear picture cannot be secured.

In Bulgaria, likewise, Jewish men of military age have been registered for service. Theoretically, therefore, they should not be able to emigrate. Practically, however, some have been passing through Turkey, so that here again one cannot say definitely what the future will hold for emigration of young people, of whom there are thousands in Bulgaria ready to emigrate to Palestine.

The foregoing is for your information. In accordance with your various cables, we are now refraining from interfering in these emigration matters which, since the defection of Rumania and Bulgaria to the cause of the United Nations, may be regarded as "normal" emigration and not as emigration with which the War Refugee Board must concern itself. Nevertheless, because these procedures were initiated by Ambassador Steinhardt and Mr. Hirschmann while he was still here, we thought you would be interested in knowing how they developed. We would appreciate your informing Mr. Hirschmann.

With personal greetings,

Sincerely yours,

Herbert Katzki

Istanbul, October 20, 1944

Dear Mr. Fehle:

I am enclosing herein an extract from a confidential report which was given to me by a Delegate of the International Red Cross who recently arrived in Istanbul from Bucharest. Some of the information obviously has become "dated" as a result of recent events in the Balkan countries. However, some of the information is of continuing interest, and I am therefore transmitting the extract to you.

The proposals made therein fall outside of the present terms of reference of the War Refugee Board, as you have indicated in recent telegrams to us. I think, however, that some of the private organizations, such as the Joint Distribution Committee, may be interested in them.

I am sure that Mr. Firschmann will be interested in seeing the report, as it provides some links which were missing from the general background of emigration from Rumania which we were trying to discover while he was still in Istanbul.

Sincerely yours,

"According to Dr. Ernert Marton, former deputy of the city of Gluj, presently President of the Committee for Relief of the Jewish Refugees in Hungary, the situation in Europe is set up as follows: In Poland there were before the war three and a half million Jews. There still exist 500,000 persons, of whom one portion lives in camps, while the other, the weaker, hides itself.

"In Czechoslovakia, the number of Jews may be evaluated at 50,000, of whom the greater number are in Thereseinstadt, and the remainder dispersed more or less throughout Slovakia.

"In Hungary, before the war, there were 750,000 Jews. At present there remain 250,000; 200,000 in Budapest, 35,000 employed at various labors, and 15,000 hidden.

"In Germany there may be counted at this time 550,000 Jews deported from occupied countries by the Germans and employed, it appears, in war industries or upon road construction.

"In the other countries, Holland, Belgium and France, about 40,000 Jews can be counted.

"Concerning the preparations for the emigration of a large number of Hungarian Jews to Rumania, I have learned this: On August 17, 1944, the Budapest Delegation was about to send out a first convoy of 2,000 Jews whose destination was Constantza. The Budapest Office of Emigration had succeeded in chartering the Rumanian boat "Alba Julia" capable of carrying around 4,000 refugees, and this boat was available between the 20th and the 25th of August, on the condition that half of the places were reserved for Hungarian Jews.

"On the same date, the Bucharest Delegation informed the International Committee of the Red Cross that the Jewish institutions were carrying on transactions to charter the Rumanian steamships "Ardeal" and "Cituz" able to carry 3,000 passengers. These two boats were to effect the transport from Constantza to Istanbul where trans-shipping was provided for. It was a question of buying the two Rumanian boats, "Bessarabia" and "Transylvania", anchored at Istanbul since the war, to take the emigrees to Haifa. The Jewish institutions of Bucharest were undertaking to provide for the maintenance of the emigrants on the Rumanian journey and were ready to meet all expenses to Istanbul, including the expense of transport on the boat "Alba Julia."

"But the insurance premium in Swiss Francs was to be paid by interested persons abroad.

"The trip of the Hungarian Jews seemed to be momentarily assured, by the official declaration of the Vice President of the Rumanian Council of Ministers.

"On the 7th of August, the situation was as follows regarding the three small boats named "Bilbul", "Mekura" and "Marina", which had been some weeks in Constantza and which at last were able to leave for Istanbul, carrying 1040 Jewish refugees on board; 260 Hungarian Jews, 225 orphans from Transnistria, 80 Polish Jewish refugees, and the remainder Rumanian Jews, largely from the "Halutim" young people.

"According to current information that Mr. Zissu, President of the Office of Emigration, gave to our Delegation at Bucharest, the greater portion of the 1100 Hungarian Jews who were then in Rumania were to be taken on board of the ship "Smirny" and the remainder on the boat "Salaeddin". By these latter boats were to be transported the remainder of the orphans from Transnistria, the Hungarian and Polish refugees, and equally a certain number of Jews of Rumanian origin.

"Concerning the Rumanian Jews, I learned on the 16th of last September that 40,000 Rumanian Jews had just been released from obligatory civilian duty and lacked everything. These urgent needs require the opening of new credits before the Jewish charitable institutions can help and equip these people. Assistance to the Jews of the presently liberated countries or those which will soon be liberated, that is to say those of Transylvania which became Hungarian through the arbitration of Vienna, requires large sums. The amounts placed at the disposal of the Jewish institutions by the Delegation of the International Committee of the Red Cross in Bucharest are not sufficient. In fact, the change of regime has not removed the needs of the victims of war. On the contrary, the return of the 40,000 released persons has further increased these needs. It would evidently take considerable time for all these war victims to return to their former homes and take up again their occupations.

"On the 20th of September, 1944, 318 Hungarian Jewish refugees arrived in Rumania, all in excellent health. The representatives of the Jewish institutions of Bucharest presented to me, on the 16th of September, 1944 at the Delegation of the International Committee of the Red Cross in that city, a proposition for the creation, under the protection of the International Red Cross, of an organization for the assistance of the victims of war in the liberated zones or those occupied by the Allied armies.

"This organization would be entrusted to follow close behind the armies for the purpose of seeking out and bringing together the war victims, to bring them initial help in food, clothing, medicines, etc., and to oversee their repatriation, reconstruct their homes, and finally to find them work.

"The initiators propose an immediate intervention of the International Committee of the Red Cross with the Allied Nations for the purpose of obtaining permission and protection for the organization in question, and to request of them the greatest cooperation in the creation of relief detachments who would be composed of doctors and of volunteers particularly instructed in running special trains and automobiles equipped according to their needs. Each detachment would be under the direction of a person selected or approved by the International Committee of the Red Cross, and the rolling stock as well as the personnel to carry, if possible, the insigna of the Red Cross. For the Jewish protection of this organization, the Jewish institutions undertake to effect all the necessary liaison work with all the charitable organizations, and would undertake the expenses of the organization itself, as well as those arising from aid to the victims.

"It is estimated that the number of Jews in Europe in need of help amounts to two millions.

"It does not appear possible, at present at least, to obtain transit visas across Switzerland and France in order to transport a large number of Jewish emigrants from Hungary to Palestine. In fact there can be no question of organizing a road or railway transport across the zones which, if they are not fighting at this moment, may be from one day to another.

"The Rumanian anti-Jewish laws have been abolished, according to Article 6 of the Armistice Convention signed at Bucharest on the 12th of September, 1944, between the Rumanian Government on one hand and the Allied Command on the other. It is evident that the Jewish relief organization presently under the direction of Mr. Zissu will be able to continue its work with the representatives of the International Committee of the Red Cross, so far as the latter may be authorized to conduct their mission of welfare in Rumania.

"The International Committee of the Red Cross cannot authorize the carrying of its insigna except upon boats enjoying the authorization of all the belligerents.

"As I have already indicated to you in the beginning of my letter, it is not possible for me - at least for the moment - to answer all the question put, because many of them no longer have reality and the others will be modified by the situation which may change from one day to another."
