Gardiner Coit Means, son of Frederick Howard and Helen Chandler (Coit) Means, was born in Windham, Connecticut on June 8, 1896. Educated at Harvard University, he received his A.B. degree in 1918, his A.M. degree in 1927, and his Ph.D. in 1933. After serving in the infantry and Signal Corps during World War I, he joined the staff of Near East Relief, Turkey in Asia. Between 1920 and 1922, he was a student at Lowell Textile School and was engaged in textile manufacturing from 1922 until 1928. He was on the economic research staff at Columbia Law School, 1927 to 1933, and an associate in law, 1933 to 1935.

Dr. Means began his federal government service in 1933 as economic advisor on finance to the Secretary of Agriculture and a member of the Consumers Advisory Board, National Recovery Administration. In 1935 he became Director, Industrial Section, National Resources Committee and served in this position until 1939, when he was appointed Economic Advisor, National Resources Planning Board. He was fiscal analyst for the Bureau of the Budget between 1940 and 1941. In 1943 he joined the Committee for Economic Development and served as Research Associate Director (1943-49), Economic Consultant (1949-58), and member of the Advisory Board (1949-54).

After leaving government service, Dr. Means was an economic consultant for the Fund for the Republic and for several companies involved in anti-trust suits. He also operated two small businesses, the Lawn Grass Development Company and the Bucks Harbor Skiff Company, and served on the Maine Planning Council. Dr. Means died on February 17, 1968.

Dr. Means wrote extensively, and a bibliography of his published writings through March of 1972 is included as Appendix A.
