Dear Mr. Congressional Library -

I am enclosing a fragment of pure Missy Button Swinnett Le Hardiana.

You can tell it is genuine because it is unfinished, unsent and unsigned.

If you know your Button Swinnetts you will realize that this is a characteristic of the whole class.

Perhaps another specimen may never be seen in this generation - I, therefore, believe the nation should preserve it carefully in a place of honor.

The decorations are especially appropriate because, no doubt, you will see cherubins and a couple of seraphims before another specimen is given to posterity.

Respectfully,
Pecilia Cummings.

Missy, Dear -

The attached is NOT for thee - as you will see when the brown wrapping is taken off.

It is for the President - a refill of his very necessary medicine.
You can see for yourself how well he is looking since taking it.

Give it to him with my love - He said the * other night at the Cabinet dinner he had been hearing things about me. I didn't dare ask him what - there were too many around - one must retain his amateur standing as Cabinet Wife at any cost.

The party in the White House (née Coolidge) suite was a great success. Paula and her young man were properly lauded and ought to float along very well from now on.

Take good care of your dear boy and you know we wish you all joy and happiness.

Cecilia.

Dear Missy,

Cecilia wished to remember a number of her friends by some personal token of her affection, and it is in her name that I send you this pin and ring, which she brought back from Buda-Pesth. I hope you may have some of her pleasure in wearing it.

Sincerely,

Homer Cummings
